

Asthma's Clutch

The sufferer from Asthma is constantly wheezing, gasping, hacking and clearing the throat. When a storm approaches, when there is a cloud of dust, when a room is being swept, or when there is a bad odor, breathing becomes most difficult. Often it seems as though someone was clutching the sufferer by the throat with a terrible grasp. The choking sensation is almost unbearable. The trouble sometimes lasts only a few minutes and again hangs on for many days. There is only one safe thing to do, and that is take Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. Just what this medicine accomplishes is shown by the following letter from Mr. N. H. Andrews, a prominent resident of Springfield, Ohio, who writes:—

"W. H. Hooker & Co., New York:—
Gentlemen.—It affords me a great pleasure to assure you that I have received both immediate and permanent relief from throat, bronchial and asthmatic troubles by using Acker's English Remedy, taken strictly according to directions. It is a blessing to humanity."

LEGISLATIVE MATTERS.

Uphold of Senatorial Contest Impossible to Determine—Demands of State Institutions Increasing.

[Special Correspondence.]
SALEM, Or., Feb. 18, 1901.
The public mind is very much unsettled today relative to the senatorial situation, so much so in fact that assertions made either in one direction or another are watched with suspicious eyes by lobbyists from all sides. This shows that none of the candidates for such honors are assured of any belief of ultimate victory. The only hopes now of an election seems to rest upon the fact that Oregon must have representation in congress, and at the very last moment it is expected a break will be made in the ranks, but to whom is not known. Corbett bases his hopes on this, yet it is hardly probable that men who were elected in direct opposition to Corbett's candidacy will so far forget the wishes of their constituents as to cast their ballot in his favor.

It has today been stated that Senator Smith of Multnomah, a republican elected on the citizens' ticket in that county last June, can control a number of republican votes, some of whom, even, have been supporting Corbett. The facts in the case hardly warrant such an assertion, yet this is one of the possibilities. Mr. Smith is a gentleman of education and ranks well among his fellow men, and should he receive the honors mentioned, would represent the state of Oregon with credit in the upper house of congress. This gentleman, however, is not a candidate for the place, and should he be elected it will be by his friends who recognize in him true worth and merit.

In drawing up the bill for the protection of fish in the waters of Oregon, Mr. Hume omitted to include the Columbia river, hence the fishermen are represented in Salem by a committee which is endeavoring to have the Columbia also mentioned. They say, "If a fish-wheel or fish-trap is a bad thing in the Willamette, the Rogue river, or any other stream in Oregon, it is also a bad thing in the Columbia." Mr. Hume, on the contrary, claims that "the men who own fish-wheels, fish-traps and other fishing gear on the Columbia, hold these rights from the state; first, through the tide land act, and second, by right of limitation, customary usage thus making the law."

The fishermen sent up to each of the members of the house, on Monday, a beautiful bouquet to which this card was attached:
"Natural Flowers and Natural Propagation are Superior to the Artificial. Vote to protect the natural spawning grounds. Compliments of the men who risk their lives to catch the fish."
The senators will receive like favors on Wednesday.

The present legislature promises to be one of the most expensive in the history of the state. It is not to be understood by this that the members are prodigal to their trusts, or unmindful of the interests of their constituents, but rather that the demands of our institutions and matters of state are daily increasing, enlarging and growing so the expenses become greater and greater each year, until today they naturally are larger than ever before.

The state's general expense account, the state hospital, penitentiary, agricultural college, university, normal schools, war veterans, reform schools, deaf-mute school, Eastern Oregon experiment station, soldiers' home, the several commissions, and a dozen other propositions are awaiting with ever open hands to receive funds from the treasury of Oregon. Besides there are numerous claims of various kinds which are biennially made by those who are unworthy as well as worthy, and all taken together it is not surprising that the amounts regularly appropriated are not much larger than they are. Still the large sum which has been appropriated during this session looks to the average taxpayer to be an enormous expenditure for so small a state, in so short a time, and some of the legislators will be asked to "explain" when they return to their constituents. Very little has been saved on account of the clerkship evil, although only about one-third of the number of clerks usually employed are now drawing state pay.

The old saying that "a new broom sweeps clean" does not apply to a state legislature composed of new members, unless it means that they sweep the treasury vault clean. In that case it generally remains a true adage.
The voters and taxpayers of Multnomah county certainly knew their business when they refused to elect the republican candidates for the legislature last June. In their efforts to secure great reductions in their county expenses, by means of the passage of a bill which provides for the consolidation of the offices of county clerk, clerk of the circuit court and county recorder, the citizen members were with the taxpayers while the republican portion of the Multnomah delegation was against the adoption of such measures.

Brutally Beats His Own Sister.

WALLA WALLA, Feb. 18.—Thursday night Mrs. Sarah Smith, of this city, was brutally assaulted and beaten about the head by her brother, Clem Masterson. The assault occurred at the home of their mother, Mrs. Sarah Masterson, on First street.
Clem Masterson had been drinking during the afternoon and evening. His mother finally got him to promise that he would go to a ranch they have about six miles out of town. He took a horse from the barn, and she supposed he had started. Later she learned he had gone back down town and was drinking again. John, a younger brother, and Mrs. Smith, his widowed sister, then went down, found the horse and took it home. When Clem found this out he started home after them. He caught them at the gate, when John ran away. After abusing his sister a short time, Clem knocked her down, and cruelly beat her about the head. The family are somewhat reticent about the matter and refuse to talk much, but it is learned upon reliable authority that Mrs. Smith is in a very precarious condition. Clem Masterson has left the city and his whereabouts are unknown.

Tongue vs Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Representatives Tongue, of Oregon, and Wilson, of Idaho, indulged in rather spirited exchanges today in the house committee on arid lands, over the report of the Newlands arid land bill. Mr. Wilson had moved to report the bill, and when the chairman, Mr. Tongue, declined to entertain the motion, the Idaho member commented in a personal manner on the chairman's course. The matter was amicably adjusted, and Mr. Reeder, of Kansas, was authorized to make the report. The bill sets aside receipts of public lands in the arid land states for purposes of storing waters and reclaiming the arid sections.
