OREGON LEGISLATURE.

Corbett Gains Two Votes—House Will Adjourn at Midnight Saturday.

Special to THE CHRONICLE]

SALEM, Feb. 20, 1901.

The house this morning passed Roberts' bill repealing the law preventing the driving of cattle on the public highway.

Also Kirk's bill amending the law relating to the construction of telegraph and telephone lines.

Also Rice's bill providing for the times and places for holding circuit court.

The house refused to pass Matton's bill for collecting three dollars as road poll tax.

Also Pierce's bill making the streets and alleys of unincorporated towns public highways.

Both houses are kept busy on routine work, listening to committee reports and the reading of bills.

The senate passed Kuykendall's bill providing for the filing of reports by the several state officers.

Also Heitkemper's bill protecting trade marks.

Also Nottingham's bill for the consolidation of certain offices in Multnomah county.

Also Story's for the relief of Indian and Mexican war veterans.

Also Harris' bill making it a crime to destroy mining claim location stakes.

Also Poorman's military bill.

Also McCracken's bill appropriating $5,000 for the use of the Oregon Historical Society.

Also McCracken's bill for the protection of plays and dramas.

Also Brownell's bill fixing the termini of railway corporations.

Also Merrin's bill fixing the salaries of certain county treasurers.

Also Brownell's bill amending the assessment law.

Also Grace's bill regulating the salary of the county judge of Baker county.

Also Grace's bill to regulate the salary of the judge of Malheur county.

Brownell headed in a report of a joint committee reporting that the state land board was found to be short in the sum of $30,000. Napoleon B. Davis, the land clerk under Governor Penneyer is claimed to be the culprit. It appears that the investigation of the committee instead of being complete at this finding has only begun its work.

A joint resolution was passed by both houses providing for final adjournment at midnight Saturday.

The senatorial vote was as follows: Corbett, 34; Hermann, 27; Inman, 26; Bennett, 1; Williams, 2. The only important change was that of Heminway and McQueen going over to Corbett. This has been expected all the time, and it is said Corbett has two more votes that are yet numbered with the opposition.

SALMAGUNDI.

Kansas is certainly a queer place. Look at its list of "recent" citizens: Simpson, Pfeffer, Sheldon, Mrs. Lease and Mrs. Nation. Can any other state match them?

Ohio comes to the front with a man of 83 who ran away with a naughty little widow of 67 and married her. Later they went home and were forgiven by their children.

A gentleman who has attained his 119th year says he has supported himself for twenty-five years on egg-nogs. Mrs. Nation should break him up with a hatchet. Evidently death has forgotten him.

The jury in a recent trial in Wales comprised one man named Hughes and eleven named Jones. Seven of the latter bore the Christian name of John. The prisoner's name was the same as that of the juror—John Jones.

Tommy Atkins had taken a Boer prisoner, and the two, getting friendly, talked about the prospects of the war. "You may as well give it up; you will never win," said the Boer. "Cos why?" asked Tommy. "Because we've the Lord on our side," said the Boer. "Garn!" said Tommy, with great contempt, "why, we've three lords on our side, and one of 'em's made a bloomin' haas of 'imself."

Louis Kossuth introduced the soft hat into America. He came here in exile wearing one with a black ostrich feather trimmed jauntily on the side, and we immediately adopted it, minus the plume. It became the fashionable head covering and has remained so ever since in the Southern and Western states. The army campaign hat and the Rough Rider hat had their origin in a Tyrolean hat that was brought here by some American traveler. The Alpine hat comes, as its name suggests, from the country of the Alps, and is purely Tyrolean.

Friday Harry Hackett, at La Grande, says the Chronicle, unboxed a bunch of bananas, and opened up a prize he had not bargained for, being a two-inch scorpion. This little "holy terror," which was promptly caged in a glass bottle by Druggist F. R. Robertson at Thompson's pharmacy, while small, is plenty ugly and vicious looking enough, if turned loose, to make almost any one of the gentle sex gather up her skirts and with much agility and grace take a flying leap into the air. Scorpions have a flattened body, and a long, slender post-abdomen formed of six segments, the last of which terminates in a curved venomous sting. The venom causes great pain. It is seldom, if ever, destructive of life.

John Turner, the well-known humorist, who presides over the ticket office of the C. & E. railroad at Albany, set the people at the depot agog the other day by showing them an embryo oil well on the vacant ground east of the station. Early in the morning he had procured part of a barrel of old oil, and digging a hole in a small ditch some 100 yards distant, poured it in and covered it up. The result was that by noon the oil was running out below in a fine stream, and when he pointed out these "sure indications of an oil well, several who had been in California oil regions pronounced it the genuine article. It is said that Conductor McErlane and Brother Nutting, of the Democrat, each tried to secure an option on enough ground to dig a well, and it was only when late in the day and the true facts leaked out that they reluctantly abandoned the idea of boring for oil.—Herald.

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and la grippe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thus, Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia." For sale by Blakeley, the druggist.

Remember that you don't have to be bald; you can keep your hair by using Coccoanut Cream Hair Tonic. To be had at Frazer's barber shop.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature,—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. Get a sample bottle free from Clarke & Falk. Regular size, 75 cents. Get Green's prize almanac.

Your Face

Shows the state of your feelings and the state of your health as well. Impure blood makes itself apparent in a pale and sallow complexion, Pimples and Skin Eruptions. If you are feeling weak and worn out and do not have a healthy appearance, you should try Acker's Blood Elixir. It cures all blood diseases where cheap Sarsaparilla and so called purifiers fail; knowing this we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. Blakeley, the druggist.

Don't miss seeing "Eva's Golden Chariot," a "glittering gem" costing over $3,000, to be seen in the grand free street parade given by the Ed. F. Davis Uncle Tom's Cabin company tomorrow.

It is said to be likely that the legislature will last forty-one days, or until Saturday night. Friday completes the forty days, but that Washington's birthday, a legal holiday, and so it is probable that the members will give an extra day to the state's service, for which they will receive no pay.

Grand annual military ball, given by Co. D. First Sep. Batt'l, O. N. G., on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, 1901, at the army. Music by Birgfeld's orchestra. The company will give an exhibition drill before the dance. Drill at 8:45 p. m. Tickets, gentlemen 75 cents; ladies free. The hall will be decorated

The Oregonian very correctly says: "If the legislature is going to destroy fixed fishing gear, it should appropriate no money for the salmon industry. If it sinks the question to an espousal of one side in this discreditable fight between rival private concerns, it should at once abandon the pretense of conserving the public good."

Little Tracey Reese, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Reese whose heirs recently sued the county for damages for her death, through an alleged defective road, was taken today from the European House, where she has been since the trial, and committed by Judge Blakeley to the care and keeping of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aldrich, of Goldendale. The girl is an unusually bright and entertaining little body and she will find a good home with Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich. Judge Blakeley this morning fitted her out with some extra clothing and a little grip and sent her happy as a lark to Grants, where Mr. Aldrich will meet her and take her to her new home.

When will the time come when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will lose its charm to the rising generation? Judging by its present freshness, its alluring powers will be perennial. There is something in the skillful combination of the pathetic and the humorous that never fails to fascinate, and the story that it tells of the suffering of the poor appeals directly to the finest sensibilities of the human soul. Such plays are better than sermons. They point a moral and adorn a tale. They teach us lessons in thoughtfulness and charity. They impress on our minds the precepts of the golden rule. Mrs. Stowe's book is one of the greatest books of literature, because it deals with questions of immeasurable human import, and the play itself is one of those simple master-pieces that can never die. If it does no more than to keep alive the memory of the rise and fall of one of the greatest iniquities that history deals with, it was not written in vain. The Ed. F. Davis colossal Uncle Tom's Cabin company will appear at the Baldwin tomorrow night. Reserved seats at Blakeley's drug store.

Missionary's Thrilling Story.

It is to be regretted that the state of the walking kept at home a large audience, which might have filled the Calvary Baptist church to the threshold. It would have been a matter of pride to all who are in any way now, or have ever been, connected with our public school, or have any interest in it, to have been there and have seen and heard Rev. George W. Hill, a returned missionary from Japan, recently, but who originally went to China. Mr. Hill was a Dalles public school boy, and as such is indeed one to be proud of. Many of whom bright hopes were cherished have stepped aside from the paths of rectitude and honor; but Mr. Hill's career proves what may be done by the boy who is determined to make the most and the best of himself. A former teacher bears this testimony: "George was not only studious, but most gentlemanly and well behaved. He never gave his teachers one anxiety, but was in all respects exactly what he should have been." It is not strange that such a boy should develop into such a man. I hesitated about using the word perfect; or second thought I shall use it. A boy who always performs a judiciously allotted task to the best of his ability is a perfect scholar.

Mr. Hill's address was mostly upon the work in Japan, but gave at the close an account of the flight down the Yangtze river from the dangers of the rioters. It was most modestly told, as impersonal as possible, but thrilling in the extreme.

JOHNSTON HURLS DEFIANCE.

Says He Never Pledged Himself Against Corbett.

SALEM, Feb. 20, 1901.

THE DALLES CHRONICLE: Say for me that any statement of THE CHRONICLE that I solemnly or otherwise pledged myself against Mr. Corbett is a lie. Mr. Corbett was not my first choice. I voted for him because he was the only candidate that favored caucus. I defy any man to disprove my assertion. T. H. JOHNSTON.
