PRESS ON MITCHELL'S ELECTION.

John H. Mitchell, United States senator-elect from Oregon, occupies a position in American politics not reached by any other man. Mr. Mitchell, always a republican, has twice been elected by aid of votes of the opposite party. Twice has he snatched victory from his opponents, not in the eleventh hour, but even after the twelfth hour had elapsed, and twice has he wrested from Henry Corbett, at periods 28 years apart, the legislative plum that seems to be coveted by nearly all Americans of wealth and influence.—Spokesman-Review. (Ind.)

Whether agreeing with Senator Mitchell's past or present views on the leading political questions, there can be no dissent from the fact that he is a man of great standing and ability and at the same time a courageous worker for the general interests of the state. His previous record in the United States senate is one which brought distinction and credit to the state of Oregon, and when he drops back into his old place he will be in a position to take up the work practically where he left off in 1897, when his defeat was accomplished by a discreditable and revolutionary method in holding up the legislature.—La Grande Chronicle. (Dem.)

Senator John H. Mitchell has been elected United States senator for Oregon. He is a man of long experience in national legislation, an able man and a friend to the state he represents. He will distinguish himself in the future, as he has done in the past, by attending closely to great national questions and matters pertaining to the best interests of Oregon.—Baker City Republican.

Ex-Senator Corbett is a good fighter and an able man, but he is not lucky and he is not a winner. He maintained too many people who had no other avocation but pulling his leg. There are any number of his "followers" who today find their occupations gone. For the last two or three years Mr. Corbett's desire to down those who opposed him has been capitalized by as merry a gang of rascals as ever scuttled a ship or patted a rich man on the back in order that he might be encouraged to "dig up." Mr. Corbett simply dropped to the level of those whom he held communication with for purposes which he knew were not lawful or even respectable. For instance the Dresser incident reflected more upon Mr. Corbett than it did on its victim Dresser. Mr. Corbett was unfortunate in the selection of the "flies" whom he caught with his "sugar" and whom he entrusted with the distribution of it.—East Oregonian. (Dem.)

The belief is common that Mr. Mitchell can do more for the whole state than any other candidate except perhaps Hermann, and many place him ahead of Hermann in this respect. He is a very accommodating senator, always appreciating the fact that he represents the people of the state regardless of politics, and that a man doesn't have to be a republican to receive a favor. Senator Mitchell stands well in Washington and will have an influence there no one else at this time could command.—Albany Democrat.

Remember that you don't have to be bald; you can keep your hair by using Coconut Cream Hair Tonic. To be had at Frazer's barber shop.

A MOST IGNOBLE WHINE.

Mr. Corbett retires most ungracefully into the political obscurity that befits a man who has been so often rejected by the people. His card published in another column, addressed to "The Twenty-eight Stalwart Republicans," who stood by him to the last, is more like the whimpering of a whipped school-boy than the language of the grave and sagacious statesman his friends would have us believe him to be. He went into the fight and got licked. It is the fortune of war. Now let him take his medicine like a man and not ignobly fume and fret and whine over his defeat like a spoiled child.

"If the four had stood firm with their friends the result would evidently been different," blubbers out this disappointed politician. Most certainly it would; but it would have inevitably resulted in a deadlock, an alternative that, as every act of this selfish and unpatriotic old man proves, would have been preferable to him, no matter what the result might have been to the state, than the election of another man.

THE CHRONICLE is not raking the ashes of the dead. Let the old man maintain the dignity befitting a political corpse, and the maxim that enjoins us to speak reverently of the dead will never be violated. There were kings before Agamemnon and there will be republicans long after Mr. Corbett shall have been gathered to his fathers. The world is not coming to an end because Mr. Corbett has been defeated. The earth still turns as steadily on its axis, the sun shines as bright and the stars twinkle as merrily as they did before the midnight hour of February 23d when a patriotic majority of the Oregon legislature crushed into impalpable dust the ambition of a man who has been a troubler in Israel for lo these many years.

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and la grippe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thos. Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia." For sale by Blakeley, the druggist.
