Victoria's Favorite Hit of Verse.

The following quaint verses appeared anonymously in an obscure Scotch paper, and it is said that of all the panegyrics and tributes in prose or verse ever written of the queen these lines pleased her most:

SHE NODDIT TO ME.
I'm but an auld body
Livin' up in Deeside
In a two-roomed bit hoostie
Wi' a toofa' beside:
Wi' my coo-an' my grumphy
I'm as happy's a bee,
But I'm far prouder noo
Since she noddit to me!

I'm nae sae far past w'it—
I'm gey trieg-an' hale,
Can plant two three tatties,
An' look after my kale:
An' when our Queen passes
I rin out to see,
Gin by luck she might notice
An' nod out to me!

But I've been unlucky,
An' the blinds were aye down,
Till last week the time
O' her veesit cam' roun':
I waded my bit apron
As brisk's I could doo,
An' the Queen lauched fu' kindly,
An' noddit to me!

My son sleeps in Egypt—
It's nae case to fret—
An' yet when I think o't
I'm sair like to greet:
She may feel for my sorrow,
She's a mither, ye see;
An' may be she kent o't
When she noddit to me!

A Bold Attempt at Robbery.

A bold attempt was made this morning by two men, strangers in this city, to get away with three bales of wool belonging to the Wasco Warehouse, probably worth in the neighborhood of $100. At about 5:30 o'clock two strangers, of no very attractive appearance, applied at Ward & Robertson's stable for a team and hack, claiming that they wanted to make a trip of four miles into the country. The same men had applied twice for a team the day before to Mr. Robertson and were refused. Mr. Robertson did not like their looks. This time they secured the team from one of the men.

About 9 o'clock the men drove up to Moody's warehouse with two bales of wool on the hack, which they offered to sell. Will Moody, suspecting the wool was stolen, telephoned to the Wasco Warehouse and Mr. Gihlhouse came over. Meanwhile the wool had been unloaded and the men, evidently believing that they were about to be caught in a trap, started the team on a gallop to Judge Bradshaw's corner, where they wound the lines around the brake, jumped out of the hack and disappeared, leaving the team standing at the corner. The wool had been taken out of the Wasco Warehouse, but when or in what manner can only be guessed. It is supposed one of the men, at least, must have secreted himself in the warehouse and allowed himself to be locked in, then during the cover of night a door was opened from the inside and the wool rolled out and conveyed in some way to beyond the oil house, where the third bale was found after the men had disappeared.

As soon as the sheriff was notified the officers of the law searched in every direction for the men, but without success. It is suspected that they concealed themselves somewhere in the city waiting the chance to escape under cover of night.

Card From Mr. Corbett.

TO THE STEALWART 28 REPUBLICANS:
My heartfelt thanks are due and are hereby tendered to the united 28 who remained true to their pledge and to each other in the trying contest for United States senator that has just closed; while four of their friends equally and solemnly pledged to stand firmly by the twenty-eight and each other until the end, unless the opposition republicans should meet in caucus and select a candidate. If the four had stood firm with their friends the result would evidently have been different. The result is now known. The republican party of the state has been sold by Mr. Mitchell to the democrats of Portland for a few offices to be delivered under contract to the faithful for their votes for senator. How far the contract can be executed and fulfilled is yet to be demonstrated. It speaks not well for the party when one man can sell and deliver his party and its principles for his personal benefit and ends. Has the republican party descended so low that itself and principles may be bartered, sold and delivered to gratify the ambitions of a nondescript partisan?

It matters little to me personally, but to our party much. We have fought forty years for the principles of the party and its integrity. When they can be trafficked away to so base a purpose, well may we inquire "On what meat doth this, our Caesar feed, that he has grown so great in the republican party?"
H. W. CORBETT.

Anti-Nickel-in-the-Slot Law.

As no official copy of the new nickel-in-the-slot law has yet reached the officers of the law at this place, we publish the bill as it was signed by the governor and as it will stand on the statute books of the state.

SECTION 1.—Any person or persons who shall conduct, maintain or operate, either as owner or owners, proprietor or proprietors, lessee or lessees, employee or employees, agent or agents, or who shall play or use any nickel-in-the-slot machine, or other device of like character, wherein there enters any element of chance, whether the same be played for money, checks, credits, or any other thing or representative of value, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, and in default of payment of the fine imposed, shall be imprisoned in the county jail one day for each $2 thereof.

SEC. 2.—In all prosecutions under this act for conducting, maintaining or operating any such machine or device, proof of the possession of such machine or device, or of permitting the same to be or remain in any public place owned or controlled by the person so prosecuted convenient for use, shall be prima facie evidence against such person for violation of this act.

SEC. 3.—One-half of the fine imposed in any conviction under this act shall be paid into the county treasury of the county wherein such conviction was secured for the benefit of the school fund.

SEC. 4.—Justices of the peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in all offences arising under this act.

SEC. 5.—All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Miss Lola Creighton, daughter of Mr. David Creighton, of Three Mile, who has been seriously ill with blood poisoning, was somewhat better at last accounts.
Six hundred nights at the Lyceum theater, New York. The unprecedented run of "The Wife," the play that will be staged for the football team benefit March 12th.
Protracted meeting is still in progress at the Calvary Baptist church, with fair attendance and interest. The ordinance of baptism will be performed at the close of tonight's service.
Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Smith, of the Obar Hotel, have purchased the Tom Denton place on Mill creek, one of the most desirable places along the creek, and hope at some future time to fit it up and make their home there.
The football boys will take it as a favor if the business men, in whose respective windows appear cards announcing the minstrel show, (that was to be) will remove them. In the place of the minstrel performance a drama, with specialties between acts, will be given on March 12th. Don't forget the date.

D. Heroux, the carpenter, while working this afternoon on the curbing of one of the Seufert fish-wheels, fell to the rocks beneath, a distance of over twenty feet, and sustained injuries that will probably prove fatal. Dr. Logan went out to the wounded man on a special engine and caboose, and he was brought to the Columbia Hotel, where he now lies. Three hours or so after the accident Mr. Heroux was still unconscious. The most serious injuries are in the head.

Had any of the spectators at Salem during the forty days of the legislative session been told that Mr. Corbett would have been so foolish as to invite further reference to the methods by which he endeavored to get elected to the office of United States senator, they would have received the statement with incredulity. It is no secret that Corbett, through his managers, endeavored to buy his way into the senate, and documentary evidence of the fact is in existence today. It may well be said that there is no fool like an old fool.—Astoria News.

There is a sheep herder out in Thompson's addition at this writing that could give Mrs. Nation pointers for a temperance crusade. He is of Spanish nationality and has been herding on the other side of the Deschutes. He came to town today before yesterday, bringing with him a five hundred dollar check which he proceeded to cash and then proceeded to spend. So successful was he in getting quit of his hard earnings that after waking this morning from a beastly "drunk" he found himself without a cent and was, this afternoon, indebted to the charity of an acquaintance for a bite to eat.

One of the liveliest and best farce comedies of the season is Chas. Boyle's aggregation of fun makers presenting the latest laugh producer entitled "The Star Boarder," which comes to the Vogt opera house Wednesday, March 6th. In the ordinary skit which goes under the appellation of farce comedy it isn't so much a matter of consecutive plot as of good specialty people, who are first class entertainers. "The Star Boarder" has both plot and good people, besides there are several good comedians, Mr. Boyle being himself the particular star among them. As Chauncey Depot, the star boarder, he is a whole show in himself. There are so many pleasing features that it would be tedious to enumerate them, but Boyle's Souss, the March King and his singing and imitations are decided hits.

Of the product of this well-known brewery the United States Health Reports for June 28, 1900, says: "A more superior brew never entered the laboratory of the United States Health reports. It is absolutely devoid of the slightest trace of adulteration, but on the other hand is composed of the best of malt and choicest of hops. Its tonic qualities are of the highest and it can be used with the greatest benefit and satisfaction by old and young. Its use can conscientiously be prescribed by the physicians with the certainty that a better, purer or more wholesome beverage could not possibly be found."
