LATE NEWS FROM NOME

Miners Stake Claims on the Ice of Behring Sea—Operations on Many Creeks.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 14.—Nome papers as late as December 5th have been received in this city.

A number of fearless and enterprising Nome miners risked their lives to stake claims on Behring Sea. They went out on the ice and drove stakes by which they intend to hold the claims during the coming summer. The ground where this took place is off the mouth of the Snake river, where the soil is supposed to be very rich with the precious metal. Some of those who went out dug through the ice and got good prospects from the bottom of the water. They intend to hold the land until summer and then work it by means of dredgers. William Armstrong, G. W. Slater and William Sutton are the owners of these unique claims.

Work is being done on many of the creeks around Nome, according to the Gold Digger. Many cabins have been erected upon the benches of Grass Gulch and Newton Gulch. Messrs. James and Benbroke, owners of the Daisy claim, have five men at work. They have drifted into the pay streak about 50 feet, and have found dirt worth as high as from $2 to $25 per pan.

On Alder Gulch, near Toller City, there is a report that a very valuable bench claim has been located, where gold runs as high as $25 to the pan. The headwaters of Quartz Creek was the late scene of a rich strike. A party of Lappers made a find, and there was a stampede at once. At Norton Bay the miners were not taking any chances on their claims, and as a result, there was considerable assessing going on.

A man named O'Reilly made the richest strike of the winter—he discovered a coal mine, and one at that which could be worked during the coldest of the winter weather, and as a consequence he made a vast fortune. It was near the place where the barge Skookum met her fate, and the man named it Skookum Bar. A rush was made to the recorder's office, but at the last accounts the owner was holding his property. Dog-stealing seems to have been the worst form of vice at Nome this year. Frequently in new rushes, it is said, many of these animals are stolen, and their owners never find them.

Schooner Lady George was wrecked in Norton Sound the first week in December. Captain Banks, of Nome, was arrested on complaint of his wife, who accused him of assault with a deadly weapon, and he was placed under $1000 bonds.

Man Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

TILLAMOOK, Or., March 14.—G. O. Nolan had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday. He was working on a boom of logs in Hoquarton Slough, when he fell overboard. He had on rubber boots and heavy clothes, which made swimming nigh impossible. He had gone down twice when rescued by a laborer in the sawmill close by.

Richard Herin, of Biglow.

WASCO, Or., March 14.—Richard Herin, of Biglow, a highly honored resident of Sherman county for the past nine years, died this morning, aged 72 years. He was a native of Ohio, and had lived for many years in Iowa.

Wm Garwood, Washington Pioneer.

STEVENSON, Wash., March 14.—Wm Garwood, a pioneer of Skamania county, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday. He left a wife and nine children.

IN MOURNING FOR GENERAL HARRISON

President Directs That Flags on Public Buildings Be Placed at Half-Staff Funeral Services Sunday.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The National Capital is in mourning today for former President Harrison. Flags are at half-mast upon all public buildings, the hotels, stores and many of the private residences. The act of 1893 prohibits the draping of public buildings in black, as was the custom formerly upon the death of a former president. President McKinley directed that the doors of the executive mansion be closed to visitors, and denied himself to callers except those who had business of urgent importance. He will attend the funeral. Mrs. McKinley probably will accompany him as far as Canton, where he may stop over one day.

At 10:30 this morning, President McKinley issued the following proclamation:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., March 14, 1901.—To the people of the United States: Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States from 1889 to 1893, died yesterday at 4:45 p. m., at his home in Indianapolis. In his death the country has been deprived of one of its dearest citizens. A brilliant soldier in his young manhood, he gained fame and rapid advancement by his energy and valor. As a lawyer, he rose to be a leader of the bar. In the senate he at once took and retained his rank as an orator and legislator, and in the high office of president he displayed extraordinary gifts as administrator and statesman. In public and private life he set a shining example for his countrymen. In testimony of the respect in which his memory is held by the government and the people of the United States, I do hereby direct that the flags on the executive mansion and the several departmental buildings be displayed at half-mast for a period of 30 days; and suitable military and naval honors, under the orders of the secretaries of war and of the navy, be rendered on the day of the funeral."

In pursuance of this proclamation, the flags on every public building in the United States; at every army post in the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, and on every American warship in whatever quarter of the globe will fly at half-mast for 30 days.

Will Ask Sultan to "Settle."

NEW YORK, March 14.—A special to the World from Washington says: The cruiser New York will stop at Tangier on the way to Manila and take on board Consul-General Gummere, who will be conveyed to the nearest port to the Moroccan capital. The consul-general is to demand that the sultan settle the claims of American citizens against his government. The New York will await the return of the consul-general.

The sultan recently liquidated one claim against his government, but there are a number of other claims still pending which he has shown no disposition to settle. The consul-general could make the trip from Tangier on merchant vessels plying in those waters, but it has been the policy of the administration to impress the sultan by a naval demonstration in Moroccan waters.

Most of the claims grew out of interference by Moroccan government officials with commercial agents of American business concerns. The amount involved is not large, but a principle is at stake.
