

Spring Opening

OF

High-Class Novelties and Wash Fabrics

On Tuesday, March 19th

We will have on exhibition one of the finest collections of novelties for Spring and Summer wear ever got together. As every wearer of educated taste quickly discards all that is passe and common-place, the progressive merchant strives to secure only that which is original, exclusive and of the latest mode. The ability to command the selection of whatever is distinctively meritorious, justified us in assuming the exclusive ownership of all the novelties in our offering for the approaching season, a manifest advantage to our customers, which they fully appreciate.

J. W. Hon, of the Ochoco valley, is the owner of a strong, healthy calf that was born without eyes.

W. H. Harding, of Boston, will occupy the pulpit of the First Christian church tomorrow, both morning and evening. Everybody invited.

In the circuit court yesterday Emma Cress was granted a decree of divorce from her husband, John A. Cress, on the ground of desertion. N. H. Gates was the attorney for the plaintiff.

La Grande is said to have a Law and Order League, whose mission it will be to see that under the new mayor the ordinance against gambling and all games of chance shall be strictly enforced.

J. E. Adcox & Co. will tonight, at 7:30 o'clock, count the stones in the glass jar that has been exhibited in their show window for weeks and award a watch to the person who has come nearest guessing the number of stones in the jar.

General Harrison's wealth is variously estimated. Those best informed say he was worth about $250,000 or $300,000. His fee in the Venezuela boundary dispute, in which he represented the South American republic, was $100,000.

Mrs. Mary Vanderpool, widow of the late Dr. Vanderpool, of Dufur, and a pioneer of 1852, died at Dufur on the 8th instant, aged 69 years. She leaves two sons, Wm. T. and Willard L. Vanderpool, and one daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, of this city.

The catching of any kind of trout, salmon or other, in any stream or lake in this state between the 1st of April in each year and the 1st of November, is made illegal by the new game law.

provided, however, that salmon trout may be caught in the tide water of streams that border on the ocean.

The Rt. Rev. B. Wistar Morris will hold services at St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Call at A. M. Williams & Co.'s this evening, at any time before 8 o'clock, and get a shamrock for tomorrow's wear, with their compliments.

It would be to the credit of Dalles people were the Vogt crowded tonight when Anton Schott and his splendid assistants appear in our city for the first time. Those who have heard him before will not fail to attend, and others should by no means miss it.

Mrs. S. A. Hutton, who has been a resident of Hood River valley for twenty-five years, last week sold her farm of ninety-six acres to G. D. Woodworth at $50 an acre. The place is on Indian creek, about a mile and a half from Hood River town. It is considered a good bargain at the price.

A reporter on the Salem Statesman has it on the authority of a well-known physician of that city that there is an aged Grand Army man in Salem who actually lives and supports his wife on his pension of $4 a month. He has no rent to pay, but this $4 is the only income. The physician promises to have the old soldier tell how he does it.

The Colorado Sun prints the following "last love letter" from Mary O'Brien to Patrick McGinty: "This is my last love letter to you, Paddy McGinty. You've jilted me. You think I'm goin' to cry the eyes out av me head. I'm not doin' that. There's lots of good fish in the say forby lobsters, and you're a lobster. The policeman on this bate has been after me for a month to go skatin' wld him, an' I'm goin' to-morrow. You tear me fotygrap up. Yours is in the ash barrel. May the devil fly away wid you. Yours widout respect."

The Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, which publishes the Ladies Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post, sends the Spokane police information that without authority a man giving the name of C. E. Morris is working through Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana as a solicitor for their publications, thereby victimizing many people. Morris is described as six feet high, brown hair, complexion dark. A distinguishing mark is a disfigured eye. The company announces that Morris was arrested in Great Falls, Mont., in February and that he claims to be a Knight of Pythias.

Bound Over to the Grand Jury.

In Justice Brownhill's court this morning Al Ganger was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500. Ganger's examination took place yesterday afternoon and the justice reserved his decision till this morning. Ganger, it will be remembered, is accused of having "received and concealed" the brass castings alleged to have been stolen from the O. R. & N. Co. by Ganger's brother-in-law, Ike Moore.

In giving his decision Justice Brownhill held that the following facts had been proven: First, the stolen goods were found on Ganger's premises. Second, Moore brought them there. Third, Ganger warned Moore that he (Moore) must take the goods away, else they would get Ganger and Moore into trouble, leaving the inevitable inference that Ganger knew or believed the goods were stolen. Fourth, there was a plain effort at concealment. The brass was transferred to sacks, which were put into covered boxes, which, in turn, were concealed from public view behind closed doors. Fifth, when Mathieu went to the Ganger ranch to buy the brass Ganger quit his plowing in the field, went to the shed where the brass was concealed, helped to weigh it out and kept account of the weights; all of which tends to show that he had an interest in the sale and disposal of the property. There is no evidence that Ganger gave the least intimation to Mathieu that he (Mathieu) was buying property concerning whose ownership there was any doubt or question. And lastly, when Ganger was accosted by Marshal Driver and Detective Riley he affirmed that the place on which the stolen brass was found was his and that he had warned Moore to take the brass away or it would get them into trouble.

Card of Thanks.

I desire through The Chronicle to express my deep gratitude and thanks to my friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness manifested toward myself and family during the sickness and death of my beloved wife.

Mrs. Moody's "Hearts."

The progressive hearts party given by Mrs. William Moody yesterday afternoon to twenty-eight of the lady friends of Mrs. Roger Sinnott was a most brilliant affair. The rooms were very beautifully arranged for the occasion. Tall vases of pink carnations, strewn with a lavish hand, were beautiful against the gray tone of the walls of the parlors. The dining room was yellow with jonquils.

The always entrancing game of hearts was enjoyed for two hours, when the lucky contestants proved to be Mrs. Joseph Bonn and Mrs. J. A. Geisendorfer. Cards then gave way to something far more tempting in the way of a most delicious lunch beautifully served. A deliciously cool and refreshing punch was served at intervals during the afternoon.

Mrs. Moody was very ably assisted by Mrs. H. S. Wilson, Misses Marden and Patterson.

After an impromptu musicale, which was very enjoyable, the ladies took a late leave, thanking Mrs. Moody for one of the most charming afternoons in the social history of The Dalles.

Besides the hostess and Mrs. Sinnott, the ladies present were the Misses Lang, Bessie Lang, Lay, Davis, C. Lord, Dorothy Fredden, Patterson, Michell, Rose Michell, Marden, Harriet Marden, Schmidt, Annette Michell, Myrtle Michell, Georgia Sampson, Mesdames George Blakley, Fred Houghton, J. C. Hostettler, Alfred Bennett, I. N. Jones, Ed Williams, Judd S. Fish, Ernest Lueddemann, T. J. Seufert, Hugh Logan, Joseph Bonn, M. Z. Donnell, J. A. Geisendorfer, H. S. Wilson, J. T. Peters, E. O. McCoy, Edward French, A. J. Tolmie, J. N. Fordyce.

An Entertaining Firm.

Spring is here and gardening will be in order and your lawn will need mowing and sprinkling and your fruit trees will need spraying, while, in the intervals of labor about the ranch and home, you will want to steal away quietly to the shady brook or glassy lake or rough mountain top and engage in sports that vigorous, healthy manhood has enjoyed since the days of Nimrod. Now let us give you a pointer: When you want anything to fit you for these seasonal labors or recreations call on Maier & Benton. These gentlemen have now on hand the largest and finest stock of the newest and best goods that the market affords, and they guarantee that in prices they will meet any and all honorable competition. In addition to an unusual large display of hardware, stoves, tinware, granite ware cutlery, and other staple goods of this class, they are agents for the Stearns' ball-bearing lawn mower, the best lawn mower ever invented; they are sole agents for the Maltese Cross rubber garden hose, the same brand the city has been using for fire purposes for twenty years; they are sole agents for the Cleveland bicycle, which has no superior, and over a score of which are in use in the city; they are sole agents for the Garland stoves and steel ranges, whose name alone is a guarantee of their quality; they carry a good line of Winchester and Marlin rifles, and Smith and Weston revolvers, a complete line of ammunition, and last, but not least, they have the most complete line in the city of splendid bamboo fishing rods and tackle, comprising flies, hooks, reels, baskets and every ordinary fisherman's requisite.

The firm is prepared to do bicycle repairing and all kinds of plumbing and tinning work.

Growth of Shaniko.

As soon as the weather permits building will begin here in earnest. The warehouse company will build an addition to their warehouse of 150 feet, as well as make improvements in the old portion. When completed the building will be 100x450 feet and two stories in height, making it the largest warehouse this side of Portland. A wool-baler of the latest and most approved pattern will be placed in position so as to handle this season's clip of wool. Messrs. Pease & Mays and F. L. Houghton will erect store buildings in every way superior to those destroyed by fire last fall. F. T. Hurlburt has plans drawn up for a handsome residence, which will be pushed forward to an early completion. W. Lord, of The Dalles, will immediately begin the erection of three dwelling houses, and several other parties will do likewise. Taking everything into consideration, a very bright prospect is in store for Shaniko, and where now are vacant lots buildings will spring up as if by magic.—Leader.
