WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The ladies of the Lutheran church will have a sale of pies and cakes for Easter at the I. C. Nickelsen store.

The fund being raised in Salem for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building exceeds $7000 and the other $3000 will probably be forthcoming.

The meetings at the Congregational church for tonight and Saturday evening have been withdrawn. Special services will begin, however, on Sunday.

The Oregon division of the League of American Sportsmen have about $50 in their treasury to be used in the interest of fish and game protection and propagation.

Grand opening of new spring millinery at Mrs. M. Periano's millinery parlors Monday afternoon and evening, March 25th, to which the ladies are cordially invited. m21-td

Menefee & Parkins yesterday shipped to the Warm Springs agency a magnificent Grand Kimball piano, in fancy rosewood case, for the use of the Indian schools at that place.

A Denver girl who discovered a burglar in her apartments recently sat on the intruder and jabbed him with a hat pin whenever he moved, and thus held him until the police arrived.

From 10 o'clock on during the day tomorrow (Saturday) the ladies of the Good Intent will have on sale at J. H. Cross' store, cakes and all kind of pastry. Call and get something good for Sunday.

The ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal guild will hold their sixth annual sale of work at the Baldwin opera house on Monday, April 8th. An attractive program has been arranged for a promenade concert.

Some mischievous person substituted an Irish flag for the stars and stripes over a Spokane school house on St. Patrick's day, and the school authorities are indignant and are endeavoring to locate the perpetrator.

The social evening which was to have been given the ladies of the Good Intent and their friends by Mrs. Smith French and Mrs. H. W. Wells at the home of the former this evening, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. French.

The 10th of April has been finally fixed upon as the date for the rendition of the popular drama, "The Henrietta," which will be given under the auspices of the local football team and under the management of Mr. Percy Levin.

A Salem paper claims that a Grand Army man of that town supports himself and wife on a pension of $4 a month, and the Hood River Glacier remarks that part of the story is spoiled by the fact that Uncle Sam pays no less a pension that $6 to old soldiers.

The Astoria News says it is rumored that the steamer Bailey Gatzert, now undergoing extensive repairs at Astoria, will be put on the Dalles run to compete with the D. P. & A. N. Co. Her owners, however, give out no information as to what they are going to do with her.

For sale, on easy terms, a fine fruit, hay and truck farm of about 200 acres, ten miles from The Dalles. Fine improvements; about sixty acres bottom; creek through the place; an ideal home and income property. For further particulars see Gibbons & Marden, The Dalles, Oregon. m22wtf

A Connecticut man recently addressed an audience brought together to discuss plans for booming the village. He recommended matrimony as the solution of the existing stagnation and suggested that a monument be erected to Eve. The idea was received seriously and much enthusiasm was manifested.

W. H. Ward, the Goldendale harness-maker, is now, by right of free gift, the undisputed owner of Louis Comini's goat. There is strong presumptive evidence that very few tears will be shed in The Dalles over this announcement. The appetite of that goat was altogether too vigorous for the vegetation of this part of the world.

A correspondent of the Albany Democrat, who signs her communications "Little Rose Bud," writes to her paper from Moro, where she was subpoenaed as a witness in the Hicinbotham case, that Judge Bradshaw and Prosecuting Attorney Menefee are "real nice men." Now wouldn't that j—; we mean wasn't that very nice of her.

The flags of the city are at half mast. President Lytle has ordered Chief of Construction Jack Sellers and a large crew (one man) who have been clearing right-of-way on the proposed railroad between Goldendale and Lyle for the last two years, to cease operations and ship their large supply of tools and construction equipments to Shaniko. Hic sepultus. Hinc ille lacrimae.—Goldendale Sentinel.

Wheat touched 50 cents yesterday, for the first time in many weeks, and as a result a large quantity, probably over 100,000 bushels, that had lain in the warehouses subject to sale, when 50 cents was reached, changed hands. Today Alexander Strachan, of Dufur, sold at the same price to the Wasco Warehouse Company, his two years' crops, amounting to over 9000 bushels.

The subject last night at the Christian church was "The Two Builders," Matt. 7:24. Hearing alone made a poor building on a poor foundation. We must do if we would have a good building on a good foundation. Every man's work is to be tried. We must respect the authority of Christ; He has all power. Therefore let us not only hear but do those sayings of His. Then our house will stand in the day of storm and flood. Preaching again this evening at 8 o'clock.

The party that went out Tuesday to make a reconnaissance of White river falls and the falls of the Deschutes at Sherar's Bridge, with the view of bringing electric power from thence to drive The Dalles electric light plant and new flouring mill, returned to the city last night. No final decision on the subject of their visit will be arrived at for probably a week or more. It is only certain that the desired power will be brought here from somewhere, and when a decision has been arrived at the work will be pushed as vigorously as money can do it.

The jury at Moro yesterday, in the case of the state against George P. Hicinbotham for assault with a deadly weapon, returned a verdict of not guilty. Judge Bennett and H. S. Wilson, of this city, appeared for the defendant. The case grew out of the diversion of wheat for the rent of a farm, of which Hicinbotham was the owner and David Junkin the renter. In the quarrel Junkin picked up a fork and made towards Hicinbotham, who drew a revolver and shot Junkin in the abdomen, inflicting a wound that for a time it was feared would prove fatal.

The Goldendale Sentinel says: "If the boat company or The Dalles had sufficient push in them, they would immediately commence the construction of an electric line between the two burghs. Brother Gourlay, if you will write and talk as hard for this proposition as you did for the election of Mitchell, you might do some good. If you succeed, we'll hang your photo above the angel's case and label it, 'Hon. Hugh Gourlay, formerly editor of the great and only Goldendale Sentinel, and the savior of the mud-besieged patriots of Klickitat.'"

A Walla Walla court is trying to straighten out a domestic tangle. A few years ago Emma Clark, a widow with a grown daughter, married William L.

Brown. After two children were born the couple separated, and Brown married his step-daughter, Susan Kotz. As the relations now stand, Mrs. Brown is the present stepmother to her own half-brother and half-sister, and the wife of her own stepfather. The children are in doubt whether they are sister and brother of their half-sister. The husband is father-in-law of his ex-wife. He is not sure but that he will prove to be his own father before the courts get through with him.

The Astorian says: The salute fired in honor of the late ex-President Harrison from Fort Stevens Sunday is hardly the proper occurrence upon which to hang an amusing story, but the following has the merit of being true, and for that reason, perhaps, the apparent incongruity of the situation will be forgiven: A citizen of Uniontown, who was better posted on the date of the celebration in honor of Ireland's patron saint than on current news, heard the salute and grew visibly excited. He listened as the guns boomed out the measured salute. Finally one of the crowd of bystanders inquired: "What's it all about?" "About!" yelled the citizen, "About! The Irish run this country, that's what it is. Washington's birthday don't get a firecracker exploded but St. Patrick's gets a salute for fair. It's pull that does it, boys, and the Irish have got the pull," and he turned away with indignation and disgust mingled on his ruffled countenance.

The artist, a pretty little doll-like girl, in shrimp-pink and lace, looking rather 7 or 8 than 9 years of age, played her numbers in an easy natural manner—played for more than an hour and a half, with only two or three respites of not more than five minutes each. Imagine a little tot filling the entire program of fifteen numbers! Why it would puzzle an old stager to do it acceptably, and yet she played as she would have made mud pies, or sewed doll clothes—heartily, unaffectedly and with her whole soul—played as if the spirit of song stood beside her and guided her tiny hands over the key-board, bringing in the notes to make one think of crystals, diamonds, dew drops; rendered Chopin, Beethoven, Bach and her own compositions without a note of written music before her; took a motif, sent up from the audience, placed it before her and improvised, all in a manner that held the audience spell-bound, and for an hour and a half at that.—Herald, San Jose, Cal. At the Vogt Wednesday, March 27th.

Married.

A very pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wenner, of Hempstead, N. Y., on March 3, 1901, when their daughter, Miss May, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Miller, of Brooklyn, New York.

Miss Wenner will be well remembered as having visited for two years here with the family of her uncle, Theodore Seufert, several years ago. She was of a sweet disposition, possessing those beautiful traits of womanhood which endeared her to all who knew her and gained for her a host of friends in The Dalles, all of whom wish her a long and happy married life.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Grant Mays left this afternoon for Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Huntington were passengers on the noon train for Moro. Wilbur Bolton, the Antelope merchant, arrived here today on the delayed No. 3 passenger train.

E. P. Brennan and S. M. Hutchinson, capitalists of Rhineland, Wisconsin, have made the Umattilla House their headquarters for the past three or four days while looking over the city and its surroundings with a view to investment.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected parts is superior to any plaster.
