

Asthma's Clutch

The sufferer from Asthma is constantly wheezing, gasping, hacking and clearing the throat. When a storm approaches, when there is a cloud of dust, when a room is being swept, or when there is a bad odor, breathing becomes most difficult. Often it seems as though someone was clutching the sufferer by the throat with a terrible grasp. The choking sensation is almost unbearable. The trouble sometimes hangs on for many days. There is only one safe thing to do, and that is take Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. Just what this medicine accomplishes is shown by the following letter from Mr. N. H. Andrews, a prominent resident of Springfield, Ohio, who writes—

"W. H. Hooker & Co., New York: Gentlemen.—It affords me a great pleasure to assure you that I have received both immediate and permanent relief from throat, bronchial and asthmatic troubles by using Acker's English Remedy, taken strictly according to directions. It is a blessing to humanity."

Sold at 50c. per bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d. per bottle. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back. We authorize the above guarantee.

W. H. HOOKER & CO., Proprietors, New York. For sale at Blakeley's Pharmacy.

Our Oriental Flour Trade

It has long been the opinion of many shrewd business men that the Oriental flour trade of the Pacific coast has boundless possibilities. This opinion is strongly confirmed by a recent statement of Harry B. Miller, an Oregon man and American consul at Chung King, China. In view of what is taking place, it is no extravagant prediction that the day is not far distant when every pound of surplus wheat raised on this coast will find a market on the other side the Pacific ocean. Mr. Miller says:

"The increase of the imports of flour into China is one of the marvels in oriental trade. The value of the flour imported was $809,193 in 1897, and $2,054,862 in 1899, an increase of 254 per cent in the two years, and there was a further gain in 1900, for which figures are not at hand, notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions that have existed since the outbreak of the boxer riots. The most encouraging feature is not alone in the enormous increase of total import, but in the fact of the very large increase at each and every port. It is a most significant and gratifying characteristic of the trade that wherever flour has been introduced there has been each rapid increase in the demand and in the consumption as to give an assurance of a continued and growing market therefor in all sections of China where the cost of transportation does not bar its use."

Washington Irving's Crushing Sorrow

"When a young man, rising to fame as an author, Washington Irving fell in love with Mathilda Hoffman," writes William Ferrine in the April Ladies' Home Journal. "To his eye she was such an image of delicacy and purity that his love for her grew into an idolatry. In the midst of his dreams of future happiness there came an overwhelming blow from which he never fully recovered. Mathilda was taken sick with a cold; it rapidly turned into consumption, and it was his agony to behold her fade away in a single winter, but in his sight beautiful and more beautiful to the last. During the three days and nights of her final sufferings he did not leave her house and scarcely slept. He was at her bedside when she died; his was the last face that she looked upon, and when the grave closed upon her the world became blank to him in his distraction. In the nights of his first anguish after Mathilda's death he would carry to his bed her Bible and prayer book, and place them tenderly under his pillow. Even afterward he kept them with him in all of his wanderings and travels. When he died at Sunnyside he had reached his three-score-and-ten, and his celiacy was still unbroken. There was then found a little repository of which he had always kept the key. It was opened, and there lay a faded memorandum which told the story of his sorrow, a miniature, a braid of fair hair, and a slip of paper on which he had written 'Mathilda Hoffman.'"
