Under the new school law, school districts will draw $5 extra for every teacher employed who has attended a county institute for at least sixteen hours during the year.

R. B. Gilbreth & Son have rented the grounds and purchased the buildings of the Rowe lumber yard on Second street and will move their stock of lumber thence from the corner of Third and Federal streets.

Next Wednesday night will begin the Jewish feast of the Passover, the first and greatest of the three annual festivals of the Hebrew race, instituted by Moses in commemoration of the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage.

Hereafter fishermen will need to carry with them a five-inch rule. Under the new law it is unlawful to catch or kill trout or salmon less than five inches long. It will be unlawful to catch over 125 of the legal length in a day, and those caught cannot be sold at any price.

The men who raise and feed hogs are enjoying their full share of the prevailing prosperity, says the Kansas City Star. Prices of hogs have been steadily advancing for some time past and are now twenty per cent higher than they were a year ago and nearly double the prices that prevailed when the depression in agriculture was at its lowest point. Hogs were never before worth as much per head when there were as many in the country, as at the present time, and the values that prevail now make hog-raising the most profitable industry of the western farmer.

The best talent of our city is to appear in the promenade concert to be held at the Baldwin, Monday, April 8th. Mr. Percy Levin will give, in conjunction with our best dramatists, a short play of his own composing which sparkles with bright things from beginning to end.

Goldendale will elect a mayor, five councilmen and a marshal next Monday. Two tickets are in the field, one anti-license and the other high license. The anti-license candidates are: For mayor, E. W. Pike; for councilmen, A. C. Chapman, J. E. Chappell, W. A. McKenzie, H. B. Carratt, Wm. Enderby; for marshal, Wm. VanVactor. The high-license candidates are: For mayor, C. C. Alvord; for councilmen, T. B. Montgomery, W. P. Ranch, A. J. Ahola, J. T. Crooks and Oscar Vanhoy; for marshal, T. A. Baker.

The subject at the Christian church last evening was "Three States of Man, or Man in Time and Eternity." Mr. Harding using a diagram on the blackboard to show the different states a man is in, in time and eternity, beginning at infancy and going to the age of responsibility. Some at this point ascend the steps, which were represented by hearing, believing, repenting, confessing, and then baptized into Christ, who is the door of the church, and after leading a consistent Christian life here on earth arriving at last in heaven—the eternal home. Subject for tonight, "The Two Doors."

The sisters of St. Mary's Academy, of this city, were favored yesterday at the noon hour with a visit from little Paloma and Karla Schramm, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Schramm and Mr. Otis Patterson. The Misses Schramm rendered several very difficult numbers on the piano to the very great pleasure of the sisters, who pronounced their gifts in a musical line as most wonderful. Sister Catherine, who is the director of the musical department of the academy, stated that such ability in children was most rare indeed. The sisters desire to express their heartfelt thanks for the very pleasant visit and hour's entertainment.

Last night the members of Fern Lodge No. 25, Degree of Honor, marched in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephens and tendered them a farewell surprise. The guests had carefully planned the affair, and their arrangements were happily carried out. After a time spent in social conversation, interspersed with music, dainty refreshments were served. Then Mrs. H. L. Jones invited Mr. and Mrs. Stephens to "come forward," when Hon. J. F. Moore, in an eloquent speech, on behalf of the lodge, presented them with a beautiful cut-glass vase. The recipients were deeply touched, but accepted the gift with their heart-felt thanks. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will leave Sunday for their future home in Portland.

Judge Gates, Attorney Fred Wilson and Constable J. H. Jackson yesterday formed a joint stock company and purchased Jim Harper's old buggy and superannated set of single harness at a cost of some seven dollars and a half, or possibly a little more, for the boys are rather reticent about the price. They are working on Paul Paulsen for the loan of an old horse that he has no use for and cannot sell. The alleged vehicle will be used during the summer—provided it holds together and the Paulsen horse loan is a go—on fishing trips, and in the intervals of such sports as a sort of patrol wagon for Constable Jackson.

Another very interesting service was held in the Congregational church last night. The largest congregation of the week was in attendance at this service. Mr. Clapp's subject, "The Wedding of a Prince," was lucidly presented and was delivered with an earnestness which carried conviction in every word. In a simple way he told his Bible story and made applications of the parable to the present times. The best of interest prevailed throughout the evening. One publicly identified himself with the Kingdom of God. The male quartet rendered "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning" and "Why Not Tonight," both of which were thoroughly enjoyed by the congregation. Mr. Poling sang, by request, "Redeemed." Tonight Mr. Clapp will give an address to young people. Mr. Poling will sing a solo at the close of the sermon. Service to begin as usual at 7:30 o'clock.

The Skamania County Pioneer thus describes James Green, the slayer of E. Benjamin: "James G. Green is a man of great physical strength. He is six feet high, broad shouldered, weighs about 200 pounds, without any needless flesh and is as supple as a cat. He was thoroughly acquainted with every bridle path and cow trail in that whole country, and the wonder is that he was captured so easily. He was a queer mixture of generosity, jealousy and general cussedness. He would give his last dollar to a friend in need one day and threaten his life for a fancied wrong the next. He once, no doubt, had many good qualities, but he has allowed the bad ones to predominate and this has given his countenance a hang-dog appearance, which is repulsive when in repose, though when in animated conversation his face is not unpleasant."

Francis Wilson, the comic opera comedian, tells the following new story of Eugene Field: Field was acting as a reporter on a St. Louis paper, when, years ago, Carl Schurz was campaigning through Missouri, and Field was detailed to accompany him, and report his meetings. One night they came to a little place where Mr. Schurz was to speak. The hall was packed with an expectant crowd, but the man who was to have introduced Mr. Schurz did not appear, and finally the speaker suggested quietly to Field that he should fill in the part. Field acquiesced readily enough, and, advancing to the front of the platform, his hand placed to his throat, he said with a splendid German dialect: "Ladies and Gentlemen: I haf contracted such a very severe cold that it is impossible for me to speak tonight, but I haf induced the great journalist, Eugene Field, to take my place. I am sure you will be blessed and benefited by the change." Mr. Schurz nearly had a stroke of apoplexy, and it took him some time to explain the situation.
