IMPORTANT PRESAGES.

The establishment of a 500-barrel flouring mill in this city and the bringing here of electric power to run it, with a surplus of cheap power for disposal for other or kindred uses, mean a great deal not only to The Dalles but to the country tribu tary to it.

has been chiefly due to her situation so? as a shipping point. But while the city has steadily, if slowly, grown in wealth and population, new lines of transportation into the interior have brought us to a point where further material progress must depend to a large extent on the enterprise of the citizens. The utilization of a portion of the vast water power that has long been going to waste is the most important event in the history of The Dalles.

We have already, thanks to the competition of an open river, unsurpassed shipping facilities. Add to these, and the climatic and other advantages that always remain with fee and tea. us, an abundance of the cheapest power in the world and it is no stretch of the imagination to say that in less than half a dozen years The Dalles will become one of the most important manufacturing and business centers in Oregon. Nor is this all. Goldendale has long desired railroad connection with this city. cup. The Dutur district is equally anxious and ought to have it. But the expense of constructing standard roads to either place has hitherto barred all effective movements in these directions as, with the cost of operation, being possibly more than the present traffic to and from either place would bear. These objections would not lie against electric roads. They are grades but they can be constructed and operated so cheaply that in both cases they are entirely feasible as a business proposition and investment, of these communities, possibly for all time to come.

With abundance of money everywhere seeking investment, there is Witt's. Clarke & Falk's P. O.
