THINKS CUBA WILL ACCEPT

Platt Amendment Is In Her Interest
—Views of Senator Spooner on the Situation.

NEW YORK, April 12.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "Congress has defined the relations which shall exist between the United States and Cuba, and in my judgment it will not agree to any modification," said Senator Spooner, member of the senate committee on relations with Cuba, after a conference in the war department with Secretary Root.

"The terms offered Cuba," Senator Spooner continued, "are more in the interest of the island than in that of the United States. I am confident that the mass of the people of the island appreciate the unselfish attitude of this government, and if they had an opportunity to declare their views, they would unhesitatingly approve the relations as defined by congress."

The attention of the senator was called to the suggestion that General Wood should dissolve the convention and issue a call for another, the people at the time of the election of delegates to vote upon the question of the acceptance of the Platt amendment.

"I have seen that report," he said. "I know nothing about it. I believe, however, that the convention, after further consideration of the matter, will come to the conclusion that the wise course to pursue is to incorporate in the institution the terms offered them."

We wish to extend many thanks to the public at large for their kind patronage in our periodical department. That chance on a beautiful cigar-ribbon sofa pillow is given with each periodical purchased is no doubt the cause of the liberal patronage in this department. GREEN WAS FOUND GUILTY

Murder in First Degree is the Verdict —Assassin Made a Clean Breast —Took the Stand and For a Third Time Told of His Crime—Broke Down and Wept While Doing So.

STEVENSON, Wash., April 12.—After deliberations lasting three-quarters of an hour, the jury returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree" against James G. Green, for killing E. V. Benjamin, of Hood River, on the morning of March 24th. Startling developments in the case after the adjournment of court last evening brought the case to an early termination and changed the fight of the attorneys for the defense for an acquittal into a futile effort to secure a verdict of murder in the second degree. Murderer Green lost his nerve completely, summoned his attorney, W. W. McCredie and E. M. Rands, and Superior Judge Miller, and declared he desired to change his plea to guilty.

GREEN MADE A CLEAN BREAST OF CRIME.

"I done the murder," said he, "and ought to be punished for it. I want to plead guilty, and be hanged right here in Stevenson."
Pressed with questions as to his sudden change in demeanor, he said:
"I can't stand seeing Mrs. Benjamin taking on so in the courtroom. Benjamin is dead, and let it go. I'll hang for it."
The testimony of his former betrothed, Mrs. Nellie Brown, against him was a source of distress to him. To her last night he sent his small pocket Bible and enclosed a note in an illegible scrawl telling her, "Always believe in the Bible, and put your trust in the Lord."

Long Search; Sad Ending.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., April 12.—For a quarter of a century Mrs. Ellen McGregor has been searching for her lost son, only to learn that he is dead. Mrs. McGregor is 70 years old, and her early life was one of hardship. Twenty-six years ago she was living in Cleveland. Her husband was a thrifty workman, and they had a son 2 years old. Then the husband died, leaving the family without means. Mrs. McGregor was obliged to place the boy in an orphan's home in Cleveland, in the Fall of 1876, receiving a promise that the boy should be kept for a few months, when she hoped to be able to take him back.

At the expiration of the time she called at the institution for the child, and was told it had been sent away. Where, she says she could not learn. Heartbroken, she began her long search. Every cent she earned was devoted to this purpose, and several friends interested themselves, but no trace of the missing lad was found. Recently she heard that Captain Campbell, of the American volunteers, had come from Cleveland, and she applied to him. He wrote to the Cleveland Humane Society, and finally learned the boy had been adopted by Charles R. Robert, of Salem, Or. Inquiry in Salem resulted in the receipt by Mrs. McGregor of a photograph of her son and the information that he had died from hip disease. The sorrowful ending of the pathetic search which the devoted mother had made her life work resulted in a severe shock, which it is feared will terminate seriously.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles. "Boeche's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world, and sold by Clarke & Falk. Get Green's prize almanac. 2

Stock in Cascade Reserve.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The secretary of the interior has issued an order limiting the number of horses and cattle to be grazed in the Cascade for the coming summer. Inasmuch as Superintendent Ormsby reports that horses and cattle do not injure Ore. on forests, and that but 2800 cattle and 350 horses last year grazed in the reserve, the secretary fixes his figure at 3800 cattle and 550 horses, it being believed that this limit will not be reached. The department fixes the limit only to prevent over-grazing and the destruction of the ranges.
