PEASE & MAYS.

begad! Hurrah for Mac! He is the stuff! We'll give him just a daisy puff, for he and Teddy are a pair that can't be beaten anywhere."

Dr. Siddall, while in Portland the other day, was booked by one of the Portland papers for immediate passage to Cape Nome. The doctor is going to Cape Nome, but not just yet. He has some claims there that cost him money, and he will go back if for no other purpose than to get even. The doctor will probably take passage on the Senator, which is booked to sail from Seattle on the 30th proximo. He is going to make the trip when the weather clerk up north is on his best behavior. But you won't catch him spending the winter there, not even if gold nuggets were thicker than the leaves in Alhambra. One who has hibernated on the Cariboo when the thermometer stood for weeks at a time at nearly sixty below zero, thinks he knows better than to winter at Cape Nome.

A. P. Ferguson, of this city, has an old hen that has just made a new record in the egg-producing business by laying three perfectly natural, full-sized, hard-shelled eggs within the space of forty minutes of time. This happened one day last week when "Old Rheumatiz," as the Ferguson children call her, had been shut off for a week or more in a lot by herself because she had been sick. When "Old Rheumatiz" was heard to cackle the children knew something had happened, and going to a box in the inclosure, out of which "Old Rheumatiz" has just emerged, they found a fresh, warm egg. In a minute or two "Old Rheumatiz" was back on the nest, and in due time she announced the arrival of a second egg, to be followed by a third, all arriving well within the time mentioned. The hen belongs to a flock formerly owned by Bill Robinson of Nansene, in which was one hen that every few days, during the laying season, used to lay two eggs a day for two or three days in succession. All this is vouched for by the Fergusons, who vow that every word of it is true.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Hugh Chrisman, of Rufus, is in the city visiting friends.

G. T. Parr returned yesterday from a trip over the lands of Eastern Oregon Land Company as far as Canyon City.

E. P. Ash, of the firm of Black & Ash, of Cascade Locks, spent last night in the city, the guest of the Umatilla House.

Miss Virginia Marden returned yesterday noon from Hood River, where she has been visiting with Miss Ann Smith.

The stage settings at the production of "The Henrietta" will be some of the prettiest ever put up at the Vogt. The second act especially will be very elaborate, representing the drawing room in Van Alstyne's residence.

Mr. Lenardo, of Centerville, while in town today, informed THE CHRONICLE that his band of 800 ewes have yielded an increase of over 100 per cent. That is to say, from a band of 800, including the barren ewes, he has had an increase of over 800 lambs.

A public temperance meeting will be held by the W. C. T. U. in the M. E. church Friday night, at which, among other features, ten-minute speeches will be made by Revs. W. B. Clifton, D. V. Poling and U. F. Hawk, and the male quartet will sing.

Seventy-three of the leading fraternal benefit societies of the United States have disbursed to the close of the year 1900 a grand total of $466,194,585.63 in payments of death claims of members. The figures have been gathered by the Fraternal Monitor, of Rochester, N. Y.

An Oklahoma country postmaster recently sent the following notice to the postoffice department: "Sir I wish to notify you that on next Wednesday this office will be shut as I am gone deer hunt. You kin fire me if you see fit, but I'll give you a pointer, I'm the only man in the neighborhood that kin rede and rite."

Deputy Assessor E. B. Wood, who is taking the assessment in the Mosier district, has had a great time of it rounding up the Jap laborers on the railroad for the dollar poll tax. Mr. Wood will be through with the Mosier district this week, and he expects to have collected about $500 in polls in that district alone.

At a special meeting of the board of water commissioners held last night, the contract for new water pipes was changed so that iron pipe will be used on the extension of the main east on Second street and wooden pipe for all the other extensions. Seven new fire plugs were ordered to be placed on the new mains.

The local lodge of Odd Fellows will hold a celebration in their hall tomorrow night in honor of the anniversary of the order, in which they will be joined by the Rebekahs. A literary and musical program has been arranged for the occasion, to be followed by a banquet. Local and visiting Odd Fellows and their wives and local and visiting Rebekahs are cordially invited to be present.

As is always the case at this time of year, complaints reach us from different quarters to the effect that the cherry and peach blossoms have been hit hard by the recent frosts. In one case five Royal Ann trees in a Mill creek cherry orchard were examined and not a living bud was found. From other quarters we are told that while the cherry and peach crops may be light, the probabilities are that the trees will still have all the fruit that it is good for them to bear. The crop of all kinds of hardier fruits promises to be enormous.

Died—At 5:30 o'clock this morning, April 24th, at the residence of Dr. Eshelman, of this city, Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Egbert, of Deschutes precinct, aged 4 years. The cause of death was appendicitis, complicated with an acute attack of peritonitis. Dr. Eshelman was in attendance, and he and Dr. Geisendorfer performed an operation on the little sufferer yesterday afternoon, but only as a desiderat, as, with the complications, the chance of saving her was not one in a hundred. The funeral will take place tomorrow and the interment will be in the Dufur cemetery.

There is money in sheep and hogs, says the Corvallis Gazette, and the farmer who has a number of these animals, and who always manages his business as systematically and economically as the average merchant does, is making money. Cal Yates has sold 20 shoats, which have been running on fall wheat and cost him practically nothing, for 5 cents a pound. As they averaged 100 pounds, he got $100 for the lot. He has 30 Cotswold-Merino wethers which sheared twelve pounds of wool apiece. At 12½ cents per pound for wool, the fleece of each sheep is worth $1.50. The sheep averaged 120 pounds in weight. With mutton selling at 3¼ cents, each sheep will bring $3.90; or $5.40, including the value of its wool.

Little Ned Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fowler, had an exciting experience Saturday forenoon about 10 o'clock, says the Pendleton East Oregonian. He was playing on the porch steps at home, just north of the court-house, when a large rat came out from under the sidewalk fifteen feet away and, after sizing up the situation, made a dash for Ned. The little fellow was frightened and scrambled up the steps on to the porch, but not until the rat had run up against his feet as though to attack him. The rat then ran back across the front yard, out the gate and started across the street, when it was killed by Ed Hayes. D. B. Waffle, in the meantime, had taken care of Ned and saw to it that the rat or nothing else hurt him.

An Oregon editor, through whose town the president will pass, breaks out in poetic eloquence as follows: "McKinley's coming to our town; we've got our bib and tucker down; we've creased our pants and blacked our shoes since we have learned the joyful news. Our whiskers we have trimmed with care, and we propose to cut our hair and wash our feet and scrub our face, before McKinley strikes the place. We'll give the glad and happy hand, and celebrate to beat the band with all the high-toned people who expect to come here on review. We'll tog right up, and we may add we'll swear we'll not get drunk."
