PEASE & MAYS.

Delightful Birthday Party

Thirty-four young ladies between the ages of sweet 16 and 20 met last night at the home of Miss Pearl Joles to celebrate that young lady's 19th birthday. It is hardly necessary to remark that it was a noisy, merry, happy crowd that thronged the Joles mansion when the fun opened with a guessing game entitled "A Floral Tale," in which each young lady was presented with a card containing fourteen questions—all relating to love, courtship or marriage, of course—and each to be answered, by the name of a flower. The contest created lots of fun, and the prize, a magnificent bunch of carnations, was captured by Miss Bernie Schooling, and the booby, a tiny nursing bottle, was awarded to Miss Rosie Buchler.

Next followed a musical guessing game, in which Miss Prudence Patterson played two bars each of twelve different familiar tunes and the young ladies guessed the names of the pieces. In this game the first prize, a piece of music, was won by Miss Loto Kelsay, and the booby, a little whistle, by Miss Wasco Morris.

Following the games ice cream and cake were served. An extra monster cake was passed around, which contained four gold nuggets, the cake being sliced into thirty-four pieces. The lucky finders of the nuggets were Misses Lilly Kelly, Pearl Estes, Prudence Patterson and Helen Hudson.

The rest of the evening till midnight was devoted to song and music.

The hostess was the recipient of a large number of very handsome and valuable presents.

When the parting came the young ladies voted that they had spent one of the most delightful evenings of their lives.

The guests were: Misses Helen Hudson, Emily Crossen, Margaret Kinersly, Pearl Grimes, Prudence Patterson, Bernie Schooling, Rosemary Baldwin, Ella McCoy, Wasco Morris, Lilly Kelly, Blanche Emerson, Della Young, Lilly Seufert, Rosie Buchler, Mamie Buchler, Hattie Glenn, May Jackson, Irene Urquhart, Lulu Bakkeny, Ortha Watkins, Bessie Eddon, Florence Hampson, Loto Kelsay, Bessie Snipes, Mary Timms, Pearl Vanbiber, Pearl Estes, Bettie Steers, Tillie Liebe, Minnie Bartell, Nina Guthrie, Mary McInerney.

Social and Historical.

Those who were fortunate enough to be included among the guests at Mrs. J. T. Peters' yesterday afternoon, will always remember the occasion as one of the memorial stones along life's pathway, commemorating an interval of half a century, since the guest of honor, Mrs. E. M. Wilson, mother of the hostess, first arrived in Oregon April 30, 1851; one of a band of five teachers for far-off Oregon, which state then touched the Rockies on the east, California on the south and the British line on the north. Although Mrs. Wilson did not spend many years in the school room, yet her influence has been of inestimable value through all the years in the growth of educational matters throughout the state.

After a few minutes spent in conversation, the guests were entertained by a very pleasant program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and one recitation. Every number was more than usually well rendered. We shall only make special mention of the first, as it was little Miss Helen Peters in a piano duet with her mother.

One feature, entirely unexpected to one of the party present, was the presentation of a silver dish to Mrs. E. M. Wilson, the gift of the ladies present. After a few words of response, Mrs. Wilson, by request, gave a very interesting account of some things in those early days, and how they differed from now. The talk was enjoyed by those present who had been partakers with Mrs. Wilson in the events narrated, bringing before them scenes of by-gone years, and to those of later years it was as a chapter from an old Chronicle.

It is needless to say Mrs. Peters, who always entertains so beautifully, did not forget the more commonplace matters of decorations, refreshments, etc. The beautiful dogwood blossoms spoke for the first, and the toothsome viands for the second.

Just before leaving, each guest was given a souvenir card on which was a picture of the first school house in which Mrs. Wilson began her labors. The pictures were the work of Mrs. Peters.

The teachers and pupils of the High school building wish to express their appreciation of the twenty-dollar gift from Mrs. N. Harris, and the ladies of The Dalles, for the school library.

There was a flurry in the wheat market at Pendleton last Saturday and 125,000 bushels changed hands at 50 cents from outside buyers, and 51 1/2 to 52 cents from the local flouring mill.

At the last annual meeting of the League of American Sportsmen it was resolved to memorialize the secretary of the interior to issue instructions to all forest rangers to prohibit all hunting on the forest reserves at all times.

Henry Davis, of Mosier precinct, has sold his ranch to James Burlingame, of Wamic, who will move there in the near future. Mr. Davis will come back to The Dalles and will build a home on his property in the Fort Dalles Military Addition.

County Commissioner N. C. Evans, who arrived here on the noon train from Hood River, says that the fruit and berry prospect in the Hood River valley was never better than it is at this moment. The frosts have done little injury beyond delaying the strawberry crop about two weeks.

Clyde Fitch's powerful play, "Nathan Hale," will be the attraction at the Vogt next Saturday night, May 4th. It has been repeatedly said of this remarkable play that no more brilliant example of a truly representative American work exists in the literature of the American stage. The production will be made with all the splendor of accoutrements that characterized its successful career during its long run at the Knickerbocker theater, New York. The title role of the spy hero, who sacrificed his life at the age of 21 for his country, and whose famous dying words, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country" have gone down in history as a noteworthy utterance of a sublime hero, will be in the hands of an eminent young American actor, Howard Kyle. He is well known through his long association with Shakespearean and other legitimate drama.

The dog poisoner seems to be at work in the neighborhood of Kelly avenue and Alford street and some son of Belial recently poisoned a harmless little spaniel belonging to Deputy County Clerk Bolton. Happily Mr. Bolton was not far off and by prompt administration of antidotes the little creature's life was saved.

A Salem dispatch says that while Ex-Governor Moody was driving in a carriage last night and leading a colt behind, the colt was scared by a bicycle and overturned the carriage. Mr. Moody was thrown heavily to the ground and sustained a severe cut over the right eye, from which the blood flowed profusely. The horse was caught in time to prevent the serious consequences of a runaway.

Water Commissioners Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of water commissioners convened last night at the recorder's office with a full attendance.

The president and secretary were authorized to purchase the Ned Wicks place on Mill creek to be used as a reservoir eight at such time as the commissioners may determine to extend the supply pipe line from Meepie's to the Wicks place. The place has been offered for $1,500.

The treasurer's report for the month of April was as follows:

Apr 1—Bal cash on hand.....$1,529 25
Interest on notes..... 50 00
Apr 30—Receipts water rents..... 1,141 85

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Crazy Man Stabs Himself and Then Jumps Into the Columbia.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Frank Seufert telephoned to Sheriff Kelly that an unknown man had jumped into the Columbia river at a point between one and two miles below Celilo. The stranger had entered the kitchen of the Seufert mess-house near that place and, grasping an ax and butcher knife, had threatened the cook's life and driven that functionary from the building. Then with the knife the man had cut a gash in his right wrist as if to sever an artery, following this by cutting another gash in his right arm and stabbing himself in the left breast in the region of the heart. Thus bleeding as if to death, and stripped of everything but his trousers and shoes he made a dash for the river and jumped into the seething rapids thirty to forty feet below.

It was at first supposed that the man was inevitably lost, but after some search further down the river Mr. Seufert and his men were agreeably surprised to find that the stranger had survived the plunge and had clambered onto a ledge of rock that jutted a little way into the river at the foot of an almost perpendicular rocky bluff. When Deputy Sheriff Sexton and Woods arrived at the place in less than an hour later they found the man still on the ledge of rock and fast asleep. Crawling down with difficulty to where the man was they waked him and persuaded him to accompany them back to the top of the bluff, where he suddenly became violent and tried to break away towards the river. He was with difficulty handcuffed and leg-ironed, when he was wrapped in a blanket and brought to own in spite of persistent attempts to jump out of the wagon. This morning he was examined by Dr. Logan and pronounced insane. He will be taken to Salem tomorrow morning by Messrs. Sexton and Woods.

The man at first gave his name as George Anderson, but afterwards refused to say if this was his name. He appears to be about 35 years of age and claims that he was discharged a month ago from the army at the Presidio. He was well dressed, wore an Elgin gold watch and had $3.85 in his pockets. He claims to be a native of Idaho and to have been on his way there. His controlling hallucination is that people are trying to kill him.
