County Treasurer.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The river at The Dalles rose eight-tenths of a foot in the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning.

Tomorrow evening Prof. Sandvig will give the last dance of the season at the Baldwin. All lovers of the art should be sure and attend.

Sheriff Kelly today turned over to County Treasurer Hampshire the sum of $4,175.93, being the amount of taxes collected during the past fifteen days.

Two great bargains in fancy ribbons will be on sale at Pease & Mays' Saturday. A regular 25-cent value will be sold for 11 cents. The goods are all new. See window.

We regret to hear that B. A. Gifford, the photographer, has concluded to leave The Dalles and make his home in Portland. Mr. Gifford expects to leave here next Monday.

It is rumored, says the Antelope Republican, that Max Luedemann has sold all his business, including the Antelope Herald and Ashwood Prospector, to some party from Fossil; name not mentioned.

Mr. Davidson, of Victor, had in the Company's stock yards this morning 19 head of 10-months-old hogs that averaged in weight 245 pounds. They were sold to Mr. Grimes for the Union Meat Company and brought 5 1/4 cents a pound.

The bids for the construction of the Wasco Warehouse Company's flouring mill building were opened yesterday and the contract awarded to Hansen & Thomsen, of this city. There were four bids in all, three from this city and one from Portland. That of Hansen & Thomsen was the lowest, but the amount has not been given out.

The state conventions of the Modern Woodmen society, which convened in each state of that society's jurisdiction last February, cost the Woodmen general fund $50,965.03. The main purpose of these state meetings was to select delegates to the society's national convention, which is called to meet in St. Paul, Minn., next June. A movement is under way to change the present expensive system of electing delegates to national conventions, and, also, to change the basis of representation, reducing the number of state and national delegates. The Woodmen society pays all delegates to its state and national conventions liberal mileage and per diem.

There is no doubt of the success of brome grass for fodder in this section. Dick Kingsley, of the West Side, has experimented with this grass, and after a year's trial is well satisfied with the result, says the Lakeview Examiner. The grass grew all winter on dry sage brush land, and a sample left at this office is tall and ripe enough for cutting. Kingsley is preparing to grow brome extensively next season.

Both the Oregonian and the Telegram of yesterday published dispatches announcing that Fireman James Saunders, of The Dalles, had been instantly killed in a rear-end railroad collision that occurred Tuesday night at Yuba Pass, four miles east of Emigrant Gap, California. Inquiries among the oldest railway men in The Dalles failed to find one who had ever known any railway employe of this name. Saunders never belonged here.

Those who enjoy a good entertainment should not fail to hear Dr. H. W. Kellog, at the Methodist church on Friday evening. The Warren Daily Tribune has the following: "Dr. Kellog tells in his own pleasing manner of his travels through Europe. Dr. Kellog has a rare faculty for telling a thing and with his fine sense of humor is always entertaining. He had a most appreciative audience last evening and firmly anchored himself in the hearts of all who heard him as a lecturer." Admission, adults, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

J. B. Havelly brought to town this morning five head of 13-month-old hogs, four of which averaged 312 1/2 pounds each, and one weighed 330 pounds. They are a cross between the Poland China, Chester White and Yorkshire, the Chester White predominating. They followed stall-fed cattle during the winter without extra feed and were topped off with thirty days on chopped barley and about half a sack of raw potatoes daily. They were sold to Roe Grimes for the Union Meat Company, and brought Mr. Havelly $22.95.

Johnny Walseo and William Miller, two Warm Springs Indians, tried this morning to dispose of a lady's gold watch that they claimed at first to have found in The Dalles. The watch was offered to J. E. Adcox & Co., and Theodore Liebe, of that firm, discovering by private marks that it had at one time undergone repairs in his shop as the property of a lady of the Henry Hudson family of the Boyd neighborhood, bought the watch for $2.50 and forthwith reported the matter to Sheriff Kelly. When the Indians were confronted by the sheriff they admitted they had found the watch on the county road near Dufur, and that beside where it was found they saw fresh tracks of a lady's shoes. The Indians were allowed to keep the $2.50 as it was thought that the restoration of the watch to its owner was well worth that sum. The watch is worth $25 to $30.

The Antelope fair association, at a meeting held Saturday, decided to hold a base ball tournament on June 6th, 7th and 8th, three days, for a purse of $250.

J. Brown, who lives on Tenth street, was arrested this morning by Marshal Driver on complaint of John Moore, a neighbor, charging Brown with "willfully, wrongfully and maliciously depositing on the walk, the gate and wood pile of John Moore, a quantity of human excrement without burying the same, said walk, gate and wood pile being within half a mile of the dwelling house of the said Moore." Brown is in the city jail and will be arraigned this evening. There has been bad blood between Brown and Moore for a long time and the present culmination is no surprise to their neighbors.

Harry Williams was arrested this morning by Marshal Driver on a warrant issued out of the recorder's court charging him with the larceny of a tooth-setter belonging to S. J. Brown, the complaining witness, valued at $2.50. The stolen tool was found on Williams' person and he is now in the city jail awaiting trial, which may take place this afternoon or probably not till tomorrow. The prisoner is one of three tramps who, this morning, tore the boards from a house in the East End, belonging to a Mrs. Jones, and set them on fire. The other two are under arrest and a complaint will probably be filed against them this evening when Mrs. Jones, who is in another part of the city, returns home.

The same nerve that tingled on that memorable 1st of May, when Dewey's shot rang around the globe, will have an opportunity to vibrate again at the Vogt Saturday night when Clyde Fitch's stirring play of the Revolutionary days, "Nathan Hale," with all the massive scenery and elaborate costumes seen during its long New York production at the Knickerbocker theater. "Nathan Hale" is essentially an American play, written by one of our foremost American authors, it deals with a purely American subject. It is full of historical personages, and the atmosphere of those dark days of the early struggles of the patriots is faithfully preserved. Mr. Howard Kyle, who plays the title role, has attained the reputation of one of our foremost leading men. He is a great metropolitan favorite and is physically and intellectually admirably suited to embody Nathan Hale.

George Thompson, alias John Doe, the crazy man who attempted suicide by jumping into the Columbia river near Celilo Tuesday afternoon, attempted to hang himself last night in his cell in the county jail. Unhooking his hammock from the rings that held it suspended between the walls of the cell, Thompson tore a woolen blanket into strips and tying the strips together fastened one end to a hammock hook with a loop round his neck, and thus throwing the most of his weight on the improvised rope, tried to choke himself to death. Notwithstanding that the hook was less than five feet from the ground, and not nearly the full weight of the man's body was resting on it, the rope broke and Thompson fell heavily to the floor of the cell. The noise made by the fall was heard by Jailor Fitzgerald, who rushed to the cell and, discovering the cause, telephoned for the sheriff. Thompson would give no reason for his attempted suicide, or even talk about it, further than to say that his bunk had fallen down, and it wasn't his fault because he was ten pounds too heavy. At 3:30 this morning the poor fellow was put on the cars and taken by Deputies Sexton and Wood to the insane asylum.

Report on Poisonous Plants.

Representative M. A. Moody has secured several thousand copies of the Montana Report on Poisonous Plants, by V. R. Chestnut and E. V. Wilcox, which he will mail, a copy each as far as they will go, to every stockman in this congressional district. In a private letter to Mr. Moody Mr Chestnut calls special attention to the plates in the report illustrating two varieties of larkspur and death camas, the text corresponding with them, together with that treating of water hemlock and that relative to the use of per-manganate of potash as an antidote. The two larkspurs, Mr. Chestnut says, are very similar, but not quite identical, with those found in Oregon. The death camas is the same, and the water hemlock, although having a different kind of a root system, has the same toxic action as the Oregon species.

It may be added that Mr. Chestnut, on a recent hasty trip through parts of Wasco, Sherman and Gilliam counties, discovered the poisonous plants above mentioned. He is now making some investigations as to poisonous plants in the western part of the state, but will return to Montana in a short time to complete his researches in that state. Next season he expects to be ordered by the agricultural department to make an exhaustive investigation of the poisonous plants of Oregon.

Mrs. Peters' Afternoon.

A most delightful party from start to finish was the one given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Joseph T. Peters to a large number of her lady friends. Mrs. Peters is an adept in the pleasant art of entertaining, and under the spell of her genial and lavish hospitality the guests spent an afternoon that will long be remembered.

The rooms were very much admired, there being large branches of dogwood everywhere; roses and carnations were also in evidence.

There was much merriment for nearly two hours over a game of hearts, when Mrs. John Marden claimed the head prize, a bunch of red carnations, in an exquisite Dresden vase, and Mrs. W. E. Garretson, of Pendleton, the consolation, a beautiful bound copy of "A Window in Thrums."

A delicious lunch was served in the bright, cheerful dining-room, which was discussed for nearly an hour, when the guests entered the parlors again for a "brief" chat, which, however continued unabatedly until the ladies bade each other good-bye at the various places of parting, where they invariably stopped for a moment to expatiate on the delightful hours they had spent.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and muffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
