The steamer Iralda, that is due here at 10 a. m., met with some kind of an accident on the way and is anchored on the river bank opposite Mosier. No word has been directly received from her but it is presumed that something has gone wrong with her machinery.

Among other numbers on the program at the Character concert, to be given at the Baldwin next Tuesday evening, will be the closing exercises of the old "deestrick skule," presided over by Skule Master Lucas. A one-act sketch, entitled "Per Telephone," will also fill a prominent place on the program.

It pays to advertise in THE CHRONICLE. This morning Superintendent J. B. Crossen called at this office to notify THE CHRONICLE that he had lost a pocket folder, containing several bank checks and city warrants and a number of papers relating to his business of collector of water taxes. In less than ten minutes afterward he found the folder in the cellar of the Clarendon restaurant, where he had dropped it out of his pocket yesterday evening.

The state normal school at Monmouth reports that the demand for its graduates during the past year has been much beyond the supply. Graduation from the school practically assure a place worth from $40 to $75 per month. The students take the state examinations during the regular course, and are easily able to pass on all subjects required for state papers before graduation. The school has a well equipped training department, consisting of a nine-grade town school and of a typical country school.

The train men of the last Sunday excursion trains report that they had a rough time of it on the home trip with the drunken young hoodlums that were so much in evidence while they were in The Dalles. Last night's Telegram puts it very mildly when it says: "Some boys of a low element had unfortunately gained admittance to the cars on the home trip, and attempted to assume charge of things, but were quickly and unceremoniously ushered into a state where they could do no harm. 'Hoodlums of this class,' a passenger remarked, 'should be shipped to some desolate desert, for the sight of water itself gives them softening of the brain and then they are dangerous.'"

THE CHRONICLE has it on excellent authority that Rev. O. D. Taylor, of this city, some time ago bought for a mere song a large interest in a quartz mine in Southern Oregon that has since been developed to an extent that, according to our informant, is certain to make Mr. Taylor a millionaire. Our informant is a gentleman who was offered, by the discoverer of the mine, the same proposition that was afterwards accepted by Mr. Taylor and who now regrets that he didn't know a good thing when he saw it. While Mr. Taylor has undoubtedly some bitter enemies he has many friends who will be glad to be assured of his good fortune. In any event O. D. Taylor is a man that nothing less than death itself can down.

The Medical Age is responsible for the following: "One of the Italian journals has recently recorded an extraordinary case of fecundity of which it guarantees the authenticity. Flavia Granata, who, it appears, is well known at Rome, has recently given birth to her sixty-second child. This woman is now 59 years old. She was married at 28 years of age, and has successively given birth to a daughter, then six sons, then five sons, then four daughters, and then a long series of twins annually, and ended recently by having four sons. It is much to be regretted that this interesting woman did not marry earlier, as she thus lost ten precious years of her life, and so missed the distinction she might have enjoyed of being the mother of a hundred children."

From the Oregonian it is learned that a company has been organized in Portland for the purpose of developing the coal prospects in the Antelope country. A mining engineer has just made a thorough inspection of these prospects and reported that the measures are valuable and the coal of excellent quality. This is not surprising to any one familiar with that country. It is many years since the editor of this paper used to see Johnny Clarno, fun his little amateur blacksmith shop with a very good quality of coal that he picked from a seam cropping out of the ground on the breaks of the John Day, not many miles from Antelope. The wonder is that in that practically treeless country somebody did not develop the coal prospects years ago.

The city marshal put a couple of men to work yesterday to take the planks and timbers from the bridge across China creek, so that they might not be carried off by high water. The men had a quantity of booze with them, which they partook of freely till about the time the work was finished, when they were both more than "half seas over." When the whole structure was removed one of them found that he had left his vest on the other side of the creek, which is about ten feet deep at this time. Noticing a piece of board lying on the water and extending part way across the stream, the man stepped on it, the board upset and he was plunged overhead into the creek. After struggling for a little while for his life his companion had the sense to throw him another piece of board by which he was able to keep his head above water till he had paddled to the bank.

Yesterday Coroner Dad Butts received an urgent telephone message from the East End announcing the finding of a "stiff" in a trench in a vacant lot east of Gilbreth & Son's lumber yard, and asking him to hurry thither with all possible haste. Tom Ward accidentally (?) happened to be present when the message was received and he was easily persuaded to accompany Dad as a witness, and in order that no time might be lost on the way Perry Burham's express wagon was hired to get there on a dead gallop. Ned Gates and his typewriter would have been added to the party but Ned couldn't be found and Dad couldn't afford to wait. Arriving at the vacant lot a small crowd of the "boys" was found gathered around a little hollow place, gazing solemnly and intently on the corpse of a dead monkey that belonged to the Edison circus but had given up the ghost while the show was in town. Dad saw the joke and immediately headed a procession to the nearest liquid refreshment institution, where the boys laughingly took something at Dad's expense.

BORN.

At Hood River, this morning, May 14th, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarke, a daughter.

New Kind of Globe-Trotter.

Valdemar Christensen, a new variety of globe-trotter, arrived here today on his way East, and may, possibly, remain two or three days. As the Oregonian said of him when he struck Portland, Christensen is not riding a bicycle, nor advertising patent medicines, nor trying to win a wager, nor carrying his country's flag, nor sponging off his countrymen, nor delivering lectures, now taking snap shots. He is just working his way. Christensen is a native of Denmark, and apparently on the sunny side of 40. He was formerly a station agent at Buenos Ayres and carries a certificate to that effect. He left Buenos Ayres June 3, 1900, with the intention of traveling around the earth in one year, earning enough on the journey to pay his way. His start was on an animal transport for East London, South Africa, where he landed with three pounds sterling, having worked aboard ship taking care of horses. From thence he shipped on another transport to Cape Town, thence to St. Helena, St. Vincent, London and Copenhagen, his native city. Here he sold articles to the Folkets Avis, a newspaper of wide circulation, and then shipped as sailor and deck hand to Antwerp, Port Said, Singapore, Vladivostok, Moje, Kobe and Yokohama, where he remained a month. He then shipped as common sailor on board the German ship Alsherschwan, which arrived in Portland, Oregon, on the 5th of this month.

From here Mr. Christensen will try by some sort of honest toil to reach New York City by rail. Should he succeed within the next twenty days, he will have journeyed around the earth in one year. He would very much like to get a job on a sheep or cattle train that was bound for Chicago, or, preferably, some point further East. Besides his native tongue, he speaks English, Spanish and German. He is well educated and when he returns to his native city of Copenhagen he intends to write a book on his travels.
