HANNA NOT A PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY.

The Pendleton East Oregonian says: "If the democratic papers will only keep at it they may worry Mark Hanna into taking the republican presidential nomination, just out of desperation and a desire to prove that he is really the dictator of that organization."

It might be remarked that republican presidential candidates do not "take" the nomination in the manner hinted at by our contemporary. They have to fight for it, and not infrequently to fight hard. But let that pass. Whatever Mark Hanna may be he is nobody's fool, and we have a much higher opinion of his intelligence than to imagine for a moment that he considers his nomination or election within the realm of things possible. And it is not because we believe him to be lacking in any of the moral or intellectual qualities that are necessary to the fulfillment of the duties of the presidential office with distinction and honor, but for the sole reason that in the fierce light of two successful presidential campaigns the inevitable has occurred and the envenomed shafts of the enemy have been hurled at him so furiously and persistently that the real Mark Hanna has been shot to death and his place filled with a caricature of all that is vile and devilish in party politics and political bossism.

Mark Hanna may not be deserving of enrollment in the canon of saints, but infinitely less is he deserving of the place assigned him by democratic malice as the leader of every kind and quality of political devilry the democratic mind is capable of conceiving or inventing.

That the real Mark Hanna is not the Mark Hanna of democratic newspaper caricature let his remarkable speeches during the last national campaign testify, when the enemy drove him to bay and he met their lying charges against himself with a manly defiance that left them no recourse but to gnash their teeth in helpless fury. Homer Davenport's burlesque pictures of Hanna, clad in garments covered with dollar marks from head to heels, were less true as indicative of Hanna's real character than they would have been of almost any other wealthy man in American politics; but they had their effect, on the principle that if you keep throwing mud some of it is bound to stick. And just for this reason Mark Hanna can never become a presidential possibility.

NEW MOVE OF ASTORIA HOG.

A dispatch from Astoria says: "Secretary Lornsen, of the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective Union, is preparing a petition for circulation in every county in the state that will arouse a contest that may be far-reaching in its effects. Under the new fish law, the fish commission of the state has full power to close fishing in the Columbia river, or its tributaries, when in its judgment fishing in such waters is directly detrimental to the industry. The petition will request that fishing be closed in the waters of the Upper Columbia, which is expressly pointed at the stopping of the operations of the fish wheels. It is expected that the petition will receive many thousand names, and when presented to the fish commission for consideration it will be accompanied by a carefully selected and verified statement of facts in its support. The present intention is to submit this petition at the next meeting of the commission at Salem."

Thus, what the Astorians could not accomplish in the legislature, namely, the destruction of the fishing industry above tide water on the Columbia, they hope to effect through pressure on the state board of fish commissioners.

Complaint is justly made by property owners who abhor untidy and unkept surroundings, of the unsightly appearance of the telephone poles on the principal streets below the bluff, covered as they usually are half way up with rusty tin signs and tattered fragments of old posters. When one has painted and slickered up his store front or residence till it looks as pretty as a maiden in her teens, it isn't any wonder that he growls because an ugly tatterdemalion of a telephone pole, over which he has no jurisdiction, is permitted by the authorities to pollute the sight. Some day the city dads will pass an ordinance that will transform these ugly poles into, if not things of beauty, something less repulsive to tidiness and good taste.

It is said that Davis, the defaulting clerk of the state land office, loaned the money he stole from the state to W. T. Radir to buy timber lands, and that Radir was unable to make sale and repay the money. Radir is now dead, and since his death the lands have been sold and the widow received the proceeds from them.

Don't.

- Don't expect a "cheap" enameled utensil to last long. It doesn't.
- Don't think such a one can be kept clean. It can't.
- Don't believe the "cheap" enamel isn't steadily crumbling away. It is.
- Don't imagine in using such you're not eating the enamel. You are.
- Don't figure you are saving money buying the cheapest. You're not.
- Don't forget the "cheap" has but one coating of enamel. Just one.
- Don't fail to recollect that imported Stransky steel-ware lasts for years.
- Don't buy that kind if health and economy are of no consequence.
- Don't try to get the genuine elsewhere, for it's sold exclusively by m16 11

FOR about thirteen years I have devoted more time to politics than to business. The result is that my business has suffered. For a time, at least, I propose to devote more time to business and less to politics, provided the other fellows will let me.

During these years some features have come into practice among business men that were not considered proper or necessary at that time. Among them is the scheme of profit-sharing or giving to some lucky customers a valuable present. I propose to do something in this line myself.

For each fifty cents paid to me for goods furnished I will give the customer a numbered coupon. On each Saturday at 9 p. m. I will give away two presents—one, a year's subscription to any $1 periodical desired, and the other, one copy of some of the famous pictures neatly framed, the customer can also make a choice of these as there are a number to be given away before supply is exhausted. In addition, every month I will give several valuable presents. On June 5th the presents will be a fine Bible, a Webster's International Dictionary, one year's subscription to a $1 periodical and one Boys' Baseball Set. The presents to be given away on July 6th will be announced later.

I hope to confine myself in these presents to articles in my own line so that I will not interfere with sale of goods in other lines. In addition I will give a dividend each month to the person who has purchased the most goods from me. On June 5th this will be $5.00. You do not have to purchase fifty cents worth at one time to get a dividend check, as I issue certificates of sale for less amounts which can be exchanged for dividend check when they amount to fifty cents. If clerk does not give you checks or certificates when you make a purchase, ask for them.
