WHO ARE THE RICH PEOPLE?

"We have no doubt that many would consider the elderly and middle-aged millionaires who ride behind their mutilated horses, up and down the streets of Newport in summer, to be the rich people of America," says George T. Angell in Our Dumb Animals.

"We went down to Newport one hot day many years ago, and at the hours of fashionable drive sat out in the band stand in front of the Ocean House and studied the faces of all who passed, and among all the elderly and middle-aged people who were driven past us thought we did not see one happy face. It seemed to us simply a cold and heartless show. We went into the great parlors of the Ocean House (then the center of fashion) that evening and studied the faces there, and at the close of the evening concluded that among the elderly and middle-aged people there we had not seen one really happy face.

"We do not believe that the men who rule our stock exchanges or the women whose ambition it is to be numbered among the fashionable four hundred are any happier than their fellow countrymen and countrywomen who never ride behind mutilated horses or figure at what the newspapers call fashionable entertainments.

"We saw a few days since that a New York millionaire, who had worn out his eyes in the accumulation of money, offered a million of dollars to anyone who would restore his lost sight.

"Our impression is that there are on the average no richer men or women in America than those who have good character, good health, good sleep, good ears to hear and good eyes to see all the beautiful things in this world of ours, which are given every day to the (so called) poorest among us without money and without price."

The people of Pendleton appreciate the value of a local hospital to such an extent that many of them are disposed to accept the offer of the Franciscan Sisters, who propose to build a hospital if the citizens of Pendleton will contribute $4000 to $5000, or half of the cost. Here unaided private enterprise has done for The Dalles what Pendleton would pay a good round price to obtain. The East Oregonians favor the contribution and says: "An institution of this character is of great value to a town from a business standpoint, and it is of inestimable value to the unfortunate and afflicted."

They are finding so many things in the soil of Texas and Louisiana, says the Mobile Register, that when a man of the last named state, a man of Rapides parish, found a black fluid in his well he immediately began to bottle the stuff and call it natural ink. No man out there has as yet struck a cheese sandwich mine, but the thing is considered possible.

Oregon might profit by the example of our sister state of Washington in imposing an annual license fee of a dollar for the privilege of hunting game and in using the fund so raised for the protection of game from illegal hunting.

Bradstreets is credited as saying that eighty per cent of the failures of the country are of business concerns that do not advertise.

NOLAN'S Profit-Sharing Association.

The first monthly dividend has been distributed to the profitable satisfaction of thirteen of my customers. The only regret is that I was not able to give a valuable present to each of my customers. I think they all deserve one.

On Saturday, July 6th, I will give away two music boxes—one worth $27.50, playing eight tunes, and one worth $7.50; a sack of sugar and a barrel of flour. I will give a cash rebate of $5.00 to customer paying the most money by that date, and $2.00 to the one paying in the second largest amount. On each Saturday, commencing on the 15th of June and including July 6th, I will, in addition to the two presents given each week, give a $1.00 rebate to the customer paying the largest amount during the week.

Purchasers of goods in my line will do well to keep in mind that I sell goods as low as the lowest, as well as share the profit with my customers.

M. T. NOLAN.
