KIND WORDS FOR THE TRUSTS.

The campaign of abuse against the trusts goes on, but so does the trust. The old cry of wolf no longer frightens the people. The wolf is announced, but there is no wolf, and the appeal to superstition and ignorance now stirs nobody, says the Philadelphia Times.

The populist or the socialist may continue to rant against "trusts," which is simply another name for capital, but sane men ought to leave him a monopoly of the privilege. The trust today is nothing at all but a great company which manages its business more or less like great companies in other countries. It is a tremendous business, or oftentimes several smaller businesses which have been consolidated. It employs thousands of hands, and it issues capital stock to the value of millions and hundreds of millions of dollars. The more extensive our industrial interests the larger these companies are likely to become. No one but a socialist or an anarchist will abuse a man (or a company) simply because he is rich and successful. It is time that this was generally understood. Men need to clean out their brains and separate what is sound and healthy from what is merely the stock in trade of dangerous agitators.

Where are these trusts that are such a menace to the liberties of the people? The most powerful is the Standard Oil Company. How has it robbed the people? They paid 30 cents a gallon for refined petroleum in 1870. It is now worth about 5 cents (wholesale). We used to read every morning in the newspapers of explosions of lamps which destroyed life and property; now such accidents seldom occur. The tracks of the railroads used to be standing full of tank cars, which caught fire, illuminating the heavens at night and burning other classes of freight in the neighborhood. Now oil flows to the seaboard silently and in safety through underground pipes. What has brought about this change? A great company with capital enough to manage the business economically and well, to build costly pipe lines, to hire chemists and experts to test the product and to take out of the practically crude oil which families used to burn a hundred different by-products of great value to the human race.

Another iniquitous trust is the sugar trust, a great company for importing raw sugars and refining them. What is its crime? In 1870 the people of the United States were paying from 12 to 15 cents a pound for white sugar. It is now quoted in the market at a trifle over five. The poor of America, within the memory of men who are still young, used brown sugar that was soggy with molasses. The modern processes which were introduced by a large company in command of ample capital have taken about two-thirds off the price and improved the quality many times over. Sweets have largely superseded alcoholic drinks in the diet of the poor. Americans show a greater per capita consumption of sugar today than any other people except Englishmen.

Steel is cheaper than iron and we have to thank capital for that blessing also. Great companies opened new ore bodies and found the means of transporting the new materials economically, and working them up by improved processes into all kinds of products at a price which now enables us to compete with the rest of the world.

Ignorant and silly abuse of the trust should stop. The large company must obey and respect the laws like the small company and every individual, but a business that disposes of a great capital is as legitimate an undertaking as any other. Of course some little oil refiners and sugar refiners are crowded out if they cannot meet competition. The man who cannot compete in any branch of trade goes to the wall. When labor saving machinery is introduced it is inevitable that some persons must change their pursuits. Few men are now needed to mow grass with a scythe or thresh grain with a flail. The fittest survive under the economical as well as the natural law and the unfit are shaken out because they cannot produce as cheaply as other men.

The American people are at the high tide of their prosperity. Wages are higher and living is better and cheaper than ever before. Capital, wisely directed, has been one of the leading factors to bring us into better times. Let us take pride in our achievements and successes. The man who hurls indiscriminate abuse at large companies is a firebrand. He must be shown to the rear. There is no place for croakers and cranks in this triumphant country whose industrial superiority is now the theme of the civilized world and whose exports, thanks to improved methods and increased skill, will reach, this year, about $1,500,000,000 against $694,133,804 in 1899.

In his speech before the Republican State Convention, of Ohio, held at Columbus last Monday, Senator Foraker, capping a flight of burning eloquence, inquired: "What has the democratic party done that entitles it to a new hearing in the people's court? Has it turned a new leaf? Has it abjured free trade? Has it forsaken free silver? Has it cast out populism? Has it followed Agulnaldo's advice and taken the oath of allegiance?"

NOLAN'S Profit-Sharing Association.

The first monthly dividend has been distributed to the profitable satisfaction of thirteen of my customers. The only regret is that I was not able to give a valuable present to each of my customers. I think they all deserve one.

On Saturday, July 6th, I will give away two music boxes—one worth $27.50, playing eight tunes, and one worth $7.50; a sack of sugar and a barrel of flour. I will give a cash rebate of $3.00 to customer paying the most money by that date, and $2.00 to the one paying in the second largest amount. On each Saturday, commencing on the 15th of June and including July 6th, I will, in addition to the two presents given each week, give a $1.00 rebate to the customer paying the largest amount during the week.

Purchasers of goods in my line will do well to keep in mind that I sell goods as low as the lowest, as well as share the profit with my customers.

M. T. NOLAN.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness. Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Drug-gists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 50 Warren Street, New York.
