Addition to the Cascade Reserve.

The president, Tuesday, signed a proclamation adding to the Cascade forest reserve, of Oregon, a tract of 142,080 acres, and eliminating a small tract of 46,080 acres, making the total area of the reserve 4,588,800 acres. The lands added are as follows:

The south half of township one, south; townships two, three and four, south, range eleven, east; township five, south, ranges nine and ten east, and so much of township six, south, ranges nine and ten east, as lies north of the Warm Springs Indian reservation.

The tract eliminated consists of townships 22 and 23, south, range nine, east. All of these changes were originally recommended by Forest Superintendent Ormsby.

The lands eliminated were found, upon examination, to be more valuable for agricultural purposes than for their timber. An effort had been made to have four adjoining townships excluded from the reserve at the same time, but an examination developed the fact that these lands were valuable timber lands and were anxiously sought for their timber. In like manner, an attempt was made to add to the reserve a much larger area than is provided for in the president's proclamation. These lands were found to be largely covered by homestead entry, railroad and state grants, and for this reason it was deemed inexpedient to include them in the reserve. There was ample evidence that the settlers on these lands were not permanent residents, but had gone in for purely speculative purposes.

Under the terms of the proclamation, issued today, persons who may have settled upon lands that are within the limits of the added area at some past date, and have completed or hereafter duly complete their entry, will be protected in their rights, but after Tuesday no person will be allowed to acquire any of these lands whatsoever.

Forces of Gravity Not Always Same.

It has been found that the force of gravity at sea level is not constant at all points on the earth's surface—that is a pound is not literally a pound everywhere. In some recent observations with delicate instruments C. A. Almonetti has found that in 11 towns of Italy the earth's attractive force varied by one part in 10,000. This means that a standard pendulum (39.09 inches in length), which beats seconds, would lose 26 minutes each year by reason of this apparently slight difference in the force of gravity in these towns of Italy. A ton of gold, if weighed on a spring balance, would differ in value by the loss of weight theoretically by $50 at localities where the gravity was a minimum. The explanation given of these variations of gravity is the uneven massing of the material of the earth's crust.—Little Chronicle.

Detectives on Wheels.

While Queen Victoria was in Ireland, whenever she went out driving her carriage was followed by six detectives on bicycles. It is said that their business was to look out for dynamiters.—Little Chronicle.

Hawks an Australian Pest.

Eagle hawks are very destructive in Australia, particularly in the west, and a reward of two shillings is offered by the government for every one destroyed, the claimant having to produce to a justice of the peace the head and talons, which are then to be entirely destroyed in his presence.—Chicago Chronicle.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Clearance sale at Miss Haven's millinery store.

A marriage license was issued this morning by County Clerk Lake to J. M. Ingram and Fidelia R. Rains.

The Dalles won the baseball game from Hood River yesterday by a score of 14 to 14. The game was for a purse of $25.

One of the features of the celebration yesterday at Lyle was a pie-eating contest, in which D. E. Witt came off with immortal honors.

A marriage license was issued today to Mr. Max Putz, of Wheeler county, Oregon, and Miss Ellen Norton, of Police Edward Island.

The Eastern Oregon Banking Company is doing a good business. The deposits now reach the hundred thousand dollar mark.—Shaniko Leader.

Millinery clearance sale at The Leader commencing tomorrow. Every hat in the store at one-half or below original value. Miss Haven proprietor.

Judge Doherty performed his first marriage ceremony today as recorder at Dalles City. The contracting parties were I. N. Ingram and Fidelia R. Rains, both of this county.

Thirteen carloads of horses were shipped from Shaniko Thursday by Coast Mays. Mr. Mays will take them to Kansas City, where a big horse sale is held to take place the 10th.

Edward Welter was arrested Wednesday by Constable Jackson for selling liquor to Indians. He was examined by before Commissioner Hudson and turned over to the United States grand jury in the sum of $200.

Miss Belinda Alvord, wife of Charles Alvord, of Goldendale, died at her home at city Monday afternoon after undergoing an operation for appendicitis. Alvord was a daughter of the late D. W. Pierce, of Goldendale, and was born in Vermont in 1865.

Judge A. S. Bennett, the well-known lawyer of The Dalles, is in the city. He is representing the plaintiff in the case of Mrs. Scott vs. the A. & C. R. R. Mrs. Scott sues to recover damages for the death of her husband, who was killed in the slide last winter.—Astorian.

There were shipped from Shaniko by rail during the month of July, 1,188,055 pounds of wool, as follows: 1761 sacks to Moody at The Dalles, containing 599,223 pounds; 109 sacks to Wasco warehouse at The Dalles, weighing 33,460 pounds; 39 sacks to the scouring mill at The Dalles, weighing 2,535 pounds; 1039 bales to Boston, weight, 652,836 pounds.—Leader.

Mr. S. L. Brooks had a letter from George H. Himes this morning announcing that he and Dave McLaughlin, the only living son of Dr. McLaughlin, one of the most prominent figures in the early history of this state, will arrive here this afternoon on the Bailey Gatzert. Mr. Laughlin, who is over 80 years of age, is on his way from a visit to the Willamette valley to his home in Idaho.

The Dalles was as quiet as a grave yard yesterday. All the means of travel were used to their utmost capacity to take the people out of town. A big boat load left at seven in the morning principally for Hood River, and others followed by boat and train at later hours. Scores of people who had not taken the precaution to secure tickets on The Dalles City before her quota of passengers was made up were left behind.

Word comes from New York that at a meeting of the faculty of law of the Columbia University, held June 12th, Homer D. Angell, of this city, was granted a scholarship in the law department. This not only will be a great aid to Mr. Angell in pursuing his studies in New York's great law school, but since it is one of right—scholarship granted upon the basis of class standing—it speaks well for that young gentleman's work in the university.

Alex McLeod, of this city, received a telegram from Port Huron, Michigan, this morning, announcing the death of Edward Herbert, the only son of his step-daughter, Mrs. S. E. Herbert, who has been here for the past month on a visit to her mother and step-father, and for the past week has been visiting at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Remi Rondeau, of Kingsley. Mr. McLeod telephoned the distressing news to Mrs. Herbert who will, in all probability, leave on an early train for Port Huron.

Will Moody's big St. Bernard dog yesterday discovered that a railroad train is a mighty hard thing to buck against. The dog was notoriously imperious in his manner and seemed to take a pride in never giving the right of way to any person or thing. Having occasion to walk on the railroad in the neighborhood of the freight depot he seemed to have made up his mind that no one-horse train in the universe was going to get him off the track till he was good and ready. While in this spirit a locomotive engine came along and without so much as saying, by your leave, cut the brute into two pieces.

The unusually large number of Indians in the city yesterday was a subject of general remark. A distinguished looking stranger, whose head was adorned with a plug hat, noticed the presence of the siwash and inquired of a citizen what was the name of this reservation. The citizen promptly answered that it was called The Dalles reservation. The stranger then wanted to know the name and residence of the Indian agent and he was politely referred to the proprietor of a prominent saddler's shop in the East End.

Judge G. C. and Mrs. Blakeley arrived home last night by way of the Canadian Pacific from a visit to the Pan-American exposition. The judge says the Oregon horticulture and agricultural exhibit is a credit to the state, and a credit more especially when the small amount of money appropriated for it is taken into consideration. He is decidedly of the opinion that Mr. Dosch, who has charge of the exhibit, is the right man in the right place and he speaks in warmest terms of the courtesies extended to everyone from the far West by Mr. Dosch's assistants, Messrs. Henry Blackman and Frank Motter.

From The Dalles to Portland in 4 hours and 35 minutes is the new record of the steamer Bailey Gatzert, of the White Collar line, made yesterday afternoon. These are the figures given out by Capt. F. H. Sherman and Chief Engineer Reuben Smith. No stops were made except the necessary delay in getting through the Cascade Locks. The time from The Dalles to the Cascade locks was 1 hour and 53 minutes and from the locks to Portland 2 hours and 42 minutes, making the running time from The Dalles to Portland 4 hours and 35 minutes. The previous best time was 4 hours and 55 minutes, exclusive of stops.
