CHANGE IN THE OFFICIAL DRAFT

Cubans Make Concession to Their Own Sense of Pride—Final Article of the Platt Amendment Altered.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The war department has received an official copy of the Constitution of the Republic of Cuba, says a Washington dispatch to the Tribune, duly authorized by General Wood and the proper authorities and the document is now being carefully translated into English by the expert linguists of the insular division. Chief interest naturally centers in the manner in which the Cuban convention has incorporated the so-called Platt amendment in the document.

It appears from the official draft that the convention has formally conformed to all the requirements, taking care, however, to do so with least possible injury to a condition of self respect. The eight articles of the Platt resolution which were enacted by congress as an amendment to the last Army appropriation bill are not made a "part" of the constitution in the sense of entering bodily into its composition, but they appear as "an ordinance appended thereto," following the voluminous articles of the fundamental law of the land, without comment or explanation other than the simple title: "Appendix." As a further concession to the public pride manifested by the Cubans, the last article of the Platt resolution is changed somewhat. As congress adopted it, this article read: "VIII—That by way of further assurance, the government of Cuba will embody the foregoing provisions in a permanent treaty with the United States."

The Cuban convention has stricken out the words, "That by way of further assurance," and the article is left to assert with simple directness: "The government of Cuba will," etc.

Cooked By Live Wire.

CAMERON, Colo., July 10.—Ed. Nelson, of Chicago, was killed by a live electric wire running into the barn of W. G. Wagner, town recorder, at whose house he was a guest. Not knowing that he was entangled in the wire, Nelson turned on the current to light up the barn. The odor of burning flesh attracted Wagner, who realized at once that his friend had been shocked. He attempted to disentangle him from the wire, and was himself knocked over and rendered unconscious. Several others attracted to the scene, had a similar experience. The current was finally cut off, but not before Nelson had been literally cooked by the electric current. Mr. Nelson has a brother and several sisters in Evanston, Ill.

The Cape Town Invasion.

LONDON, July 10.—The official gazette publishes a dispatch from General Kitchener dealing with happenings between March 8 and May 8. He gives the details of General Dewet's invasion of Cape Colony, and says that the Boer raiders undoubtedly received recruits, food supplies and timely information from the Colonial Dutch, but he believes that the raiders are losing heart.

Sultan Pays Up.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The state department has received the amount of the American indemnity for the claims against Turkey, $95,000, through the American legation at Constantinople. The money was paid by the Turkish government to Mr. Leishman, our minister at Constantinople, and was by him placed in the Ottoman Imperial bank and drafts remitted for the amount. These drafts have just reached Washington. As is always the case, the claims in the aggregate considerably exceed the amount of the indemnity actually paid, but our government has expressed itself satisfied with the payment. It assumes full responsibility for distribution, the Turkish government paying down a lump sum of $95,000 and leaving it to the state department to distribute among the claimants at its discretion and after its own fashion. It is stated that as soon as the department officials can prepare their list they will communicate directly with the claimants.

Carnegie Has More Money to Give Away.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Herald says: Andrew Carnegie still has $56,000,000 ($280,000,000) to give away in public benefactions. Mr. Carnegie himself is authority for this statement, which he made recently at Skibo Castle to a member of the New York chamber of commerce committee, who is now in this city, but wishes his name kept secret. Several members of the New York chamber of commerce delegation which went to England recently, visited Mr. Carnegie at Skibo Castle, and with them he discussed his gifts to the public. He remarked that in the future he meant to make other donations, more extensive even than heretofore, to public institutions. According to Mr. Carnegie he is still undecided in what manner to dispose of his wealth for the public good. He wishes the public to obtain the best results from his future benefactions and for that reason has not yet formulated any philanthropic statements. Mr. Carnegie admitted that free libraries and other educational institutions would undoubtedly obtain a portion of the millions in question, in order that the plans he had previously adopted should be fully developed. His hearers judged from what he said that he was considering the advisability of directing his wealth toward ending and supporting art galleries, scientific museums and similar institutions.

Two Most Famous Oregonians.

SALEM, July 19.—Governor Geer today received a letter from people in St. Louis, asking him to name the two Oregonians who rendered the country and the world the most distinguished services. The question was asked in the interest of statues to be placed in the hall of fame as a feature of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, if such hall be arranged. It is proposed to have two statues from each state embraced in the Louisiana territory. The names to be considered are to be historical personages no longer living. Governor Geer has not answered. He considers Dr. John McLoughlin as the one entitled to first place, but is undecided as to the second. The question has been raised whether Oregon was part of the Louisiana purchase.
