

Now the Clearance Sales of July....

There's more than one good reason for phenomenally low prices in the month of July. It's the best clearing time for Summer Merchandise. It's easier to sell it just when you can make the most use of it. It's better to sell it, even at a sacrifice, than carry it over to another season—it's against our plan of merchandising to carry goods over. It means small profits for us, but more of them, and it means BETTER VALUES FOR YOU.

SALMAGUNDI.

The Suez canal is to be deepened to 31 feet and lighted by electricity. Large vessels are the most profitable, and it pays to provide them with deep channels.

Civil rule begins in the Philippines with a treasury surplus of $4,000,000 in gold. The present administration never forgets these little details.

A stovepipe hat made of straw has been introduced in London. Not even a temperature of 102 degrees in the shade suspends the inventiveness of the Anglo-Saxon mind.

Ex-Senators Pettigrew and Butler have selected public ownership as the populist rallying cry. Then they left for Alaska to institute a private monopoly.

Last year the Dingley tariff produced custom receipts of $238,000,000, and it didn't stifle foreign trade either, our exports amounting to more than $1,500,000,000, a record-breaking total.

During the intense heat in New York the ambulance calls averaged one per minute, and all were responded to. The organized work of humanity carried on in American cities deserves great credit.

An Irish member of parliament refers to an American capitalist, who is interested in London underground railways, as a man of "iron strength behind the ivory cheek." Ivory sounds better than brass, even though it is harder.

Ex-Governor Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, has made $16,000 out of his last lecture, with fiddle accompaniment. But Bryan has cleared $50,000 in the same time out of his hurdy gurdy, and is having as much fun out of politics as ever.

"I would give all my millions," said Mr. Carnegie to a caller, "if you could give me youth and health." Persons possessed of these treasures should make a note of their valuation by a man of varied experience.

George Fred Williams makes light of the reorganizers. "Mr. Bryan," he says, "will always be the moral leader in the party. The principles he stands for are eternal." These little democratic differences are beginning to warm up.

A winder in New York made this confession: "If the postoffice department would let me alone I would have to hire a cart to carry my money-laden mail. Let me promise 56 per cent on a fake and I can get rich." The many persons who are anxious to be soon parted from their money are under great obligations to Uncle Sam's protective postal rules.

Death of Mrs. C. C. Hobart.

This community was deeply grieved and shocked to learn of the sudden death, from heart failure, at 5:30 o'clock last evening of Mrs. C. C. Hobart of this city. The deceased had been in her usual health till about noon yesterday when without any warning she was seized with the trouble which carried her off a few hours later. She rallied for a while from the first attack but as her recovery began to be hoped for she passed away without a struggle.

Mrs. Hobart was a native of Maine where she was born February 22, 1828. Her maiden name was Mittie Tuck Wiggins. All her early life was spent in her native state and part of her married life. She was united in marriage to C. C. Hobart May 3, 1857 and after the marriage the young couple made their home in Newport, Maine, moving after a time to New Jersey and from thence to Kansas in 1870. After a residence of eleven years in Kansas they moved to The Dalles, where Mr. Hobart accepted the position of master mechanic in the car shops. This was in 1881 and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart have made their home in The Dalles ever since.

The deceased was a sincere Christian and a member of the Methodist church from early life. No one held a higher place than she did in the esteem and affection of all who knew her and the deep and heartfelt sympathy of the people of The Dalles goes out to the afflicted family. Mrs. Hobart leaves a husband, one daughter, Mrs. Nettie Booth, of this city, and one son, C. F. Hobart, of Spokane.

The fixing of the time of the funeral awaits the arrival of Mr. C. F. Hobart from Spokane.

Marshal's Notice.

This is to give notice to all owners of cows within the limits of Dalles City, that I have been instructed by the city council to enforce the ordinance against cattle running at large, and that the same will be strictly enforced by me on and after Monday, July 15, 1901.

CHARLES CHAMPLIN, City Marshal.

Among the Campers.

TROUT LAKE, Wash., KAMP KONENT, July 8, 1901.

Again we are camped beneath the singing pines, besides the brook with the song in its throat—in the sounding silence. I have never seen so much water in Trout creek at this time of year, and it is clear and cold. Fisher-folk say the trout are more numerous than ever before, and that they are as willing to be lured by the fly-hook or bait as of yore. At least we have enjoyed the delicious trout on the table both days since our arrival.

We are near Mr. Guler's mountain home and find these charming Swiss people as accommodating and kind as they always were, and trying to make their guests and campers as comfortable as possible. It is indeed a pleasure to be here, in the shadow of old Mt. Adams, with the matchless scenic beauty around us. The "Sleeping Beauty" rests as calmly indifferent to the good or evil of the universe as though neither existed. Her arms are peacefully resting on her breast awaiting the day when, the Indian legends say, she will awake.

Prof. Birgfeld and family are pleasantly located in camp here, as also are Belden Grant and family and Ex-State Printer Baker and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Mills of Portland are here, and two young ladies from Portland whose names we have not learned. Campers and boarders are beginning to arrive since July consented to bring a few warm days.

This cave country is improving rapidly, and where a year since heavy timber stood are clearings with their cabin homes. The country around the famous ice caves being on the reserve, has fine grazing grounds. Sheep men have leased it from the government and have their flocks here. Notices are placed conspicuously warning all visitors to "keep hands off the ice," which is a good thing, as the ice columns are thus preserved, making the caves a thing of beauty. The ladder in the "Forty-Foot Cave" has not been replaced as yet, but will soon be so that visitors may explore the subterranean caverns.

Arni's cheese factory is doing a fine business and the quality of swiss cheese made is delicious.

Backberries in their toothsome wildness are ripening, and will soon be all gone. There are wild strawberries ripening all around our camp, and enough for shortcake can be gathered in a short time.

"This is an ideal place to which to come for a summer outing," has been told us many times since our arrival, by visitors here, and we said "I told you so!" INEZ FILLGON.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Shirt sale at A. M. Williams & Co.'s this week. See windows.

Wanted—To purchase a dwelling house, in the city; inside water limit. Call at this office. jy10-13.

T. A. Hudson left today on a business trip to Sherman county that will occupy him three or four days.

Yesterday James W. Brownell, a native of Canada, declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States.

Lost—Yesterday on Fourth street, a pair of spectacles which the finder will please leave at this office for the owner.

The shooting gallery has put up a $1000 new Winchester rifle which will be given to the winner of the highest score out of 200. jy11-12

Our $1.50 shirts for 95 cents, and $1 ones at 65 cents—that's the shirt story is told by A. M. Williams & Co. today. This week only.

At the shooting gallery last night a five days contest closed for a 25-20 Winchester rifle which was won by Henry Green by a score of 58 out of a possible 60.

Don't forget the entertainment tonight at the Vogt opera house for the benefit of one of The Dalles churches. No effort was spared by its promoters to make it a success.

It is never too late to publish an item like the following: A bouncing 12-pound girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kruger, of this city, on the 6th instant.

Very suitable for outing, or about-the-house wear. We refer to those ladies' shoes A. M. Williams & Co. are advertising today. The price is $2, instead of $3 and $3.50. See their window.

The Shaniko Leader says that some of the people of Prineville think the pistol by which M. A. Moore, of that city, lost his life Tuesday was accidental and that others are inclined to the suicide theory.

It is estimated that the wheat crop of Grant county will suffer a loss of one-third in consequence of the late frost or long continued cold winds, and that much of the remaining two thirds will be second class.

An advertisement in the Shaniko Leader announces that Moore Brothers, of Moro, have bought out the interests of the stockholders of the Shaniko Townsite Company.

The White Collar line, Bailey Gatzert, will sell through round-trip tickets to Seaside and return $6.50. Baggage checked direct to either North Beach, Seaview, Long Beach, Breakers, Ocean Park and Nabcoots. Tickets good until Sept. 15th, J. M. Filloon, agent.

J. N. Gulliford, of Ontario, Oregon, sold his clip of 90,000 pounds of wool this morning at 11 1/2 cents a pound. This wool was shipped here from Huntington, Mr. Gulliford believing he could pay the additional freight and still make money by selling in The Dalles market.

THE CHRONICLE learns through a Dalles gentleman, who returned last night from Portland, that Mr. Percy Levin, who is well known to the playgoers of this city, was married the other day in Portland to Miss Myrtle Buff, late an employe of Miss Haven, of this city.

Just received at Gilbreth & Son's lumber yard, a few carloads of No. 1 cedar posts and *A* shingles. They are agents for Heath & Milligan's celebrated shingle paint. Call on them; their prices are all right. Wood not flamed is better by 50c a cord than wood that is. jy10

THE CHRONICLE has been requested to announce that a meeting will be held in the Baldwin opera house next Friday night at 8:30 o'clock to organize a band and that all musicians who are in sympathy with the project are cordially invited to attend. Musicians will please bring their instruments with them. jy11-12

Some one without the fear of God before his eyes, last night broke into the lunch room of James White near the passenger depot and carried off about $20 worth of cigars and canned goods. Mr. White thinks the work was done by a domestic artist as a person not acquainted with the place would have had great difficulty in making his way inside.

At the Moody warehouse yesterday 200,000 pounds of wool changed hands at prices ranging from 11 to 11 1/2 cents a pound. The largest clip of this lot was that of Fortner & Gulliford, late of Prineville, now of Ontario. This clip was shipped here all the way from Huntington. It brought 11 1/2 cents. This morning 100,000 pounds was sold at practically the same figures.

The Irish seem to be doing well in Moro, if the following from the Shaniko Leader is to be credited: "The Fitzmaurice family seem to have done very well on the Fourth. Harry Fitzmaurice won the boys' race, Charley Fitzmaurice another race, Elsie Fitzmaurice had command of the fire brigade on the horse cart, and Mrs. Fitzmaurice made the star-spangled breeches worn by Uncle Sam."

Ended and Dismissed.

The preliminary examination of Chas. Green, A. J. Bardness and Cliff Gorton, of Wyeth, which occupied the attention of Justice Brownhill's court all day Tuesday and Wednesday, ended in dismissal. The attorneys or the defendants, Messrs. Moore & Gavin, had the case fully tried out, and the result is, in all probability, the same as would have happened had the defendants been bound over and the county been put to additional expense. The evidence showed that some six or seven shots had been fired, but the testimony was so conflicting that it was impossible to say, beyond a reasonable doubt, who fired the first one. The dispute arose over the ownership of a quantity of drift wood that the defendants claimed. The complaining witness, J. Jackman, resisted the taking away of the wood on the ground that it was on land owned by the O. R. & N. Co. No testimony was presented, however, that proved the ownership of the land, while it was proved that it had been the custom, for years, for people to take wood from the same place. Jackman was accustomed to carry a gun most of the time and the testimony tended to show that he was of a quarrelsome disposition. It has since developed that there was a race between the defendants and the complaining witness to see which could first obtain warrants of arrest for the other. Jackman has been arrested on a warrant issued out of the justice court at the Cascade Locks. Attorney's Menefee and Brownhill went down to the Locks this morning to conduct the examination of Jackman, but as the testimony to be submitted has, to a great extent, been gone over before the probabilities are that Mr. Menefee will move that the case be dismissed.

Big Circus Coming.

Sells & Gray's United Shows, traveling on its own special train and carrying a big managerie, car loads of superb horses, and over 100 performers, will appear in The Dalles for an afternoon and evening performance on the 20th. The show comes to The Dalles resplendent in the glittering glory of new costumes, gorgeous trappings and beautiful band wagons. Its parade and performers are described by the papers as exceptionally bright, clean, refined, interesting and entertaining. To the conventional features necessary to every tent show are added entertaining innovations, many of a startling nature, which makes the performance unique and memorable.

Why pay $1.75 per gallon for inferior paints when you can buy James E. Patton's sun proof paints for $1.50 per gallon, guaranteed for 5 years. Clark & Falk, agents.
