

WHOLESAOME WORDS.

The following extract from the Fourth of July oration of Hon. Robert Bell, at Hood River, makes good, wholesome reading for every day in the American year:

"I have little patience, on this day of all days, and in this favored Hood River of all places, with the habit of mind which on the Fourth of July causes some men to lament the pristine virtue of the republic, to prophesy its coming downfall, to be filled with gloomy forebodings at the joyous acclaim with which we meet this day. And I have no mind and no heart to speak to you now except about the liberty and the glory of my country. To the sturdy and vigorous American America is still the land of liberty, the refuge of the oppressed, the beacon of hope to the down-trodden, and a light to them that sit in darkness. These are old phrases, time-worn and trite, but like true gold they do not tarnish. I want to bespeak today a larger faith in our country, in its manhood and its womanhood, in its wealth of character, in its power of achievement. I want to declare today that after 125 years democracy has ceased to be on trial, that it is triumphant, and that its triumph was heralded and proclaimed in that old Declaration of Independence. I do not mean that other countries have adopted our form of government—we cannot expect that. Forms of government vary and must always vary, because of the different tradition and character of races. But the spirit of democracy has gone abroad; you will find it in the liberal constitution of the new German empire with its reichstag, you will find it in Austria, in Italy, in France. Not the two Americas alone, but the lands beyond the seas have felt the uplift of the great spirit of equality."

"Let no man forget that he lives in a people's government, where every man can still own his own home, where before the law all are equal, where his children can be educated and where his home is protected; where honor and good name wait on virtue and industry, where the flag which floats over him is his flag. Let us maintain honorably and firmly the state, for it is ours; let us conserve order and industry, let us foster education and religion. Let each man, woman and child take the lessons of the Fourth of July into their hearts, and let these lessons bear fruitage in use of a progressive, enlightened, orderly and happy citizenship."

In this mad chase for wealth and the vulgar ostentation and pinchback prominence that go with it, says the Washington Post, who stops to put a value on the patient prophet of morals, usefulness, high thought and noble aspiration? We see scholars teaching the young at wages an ordinary machinist would despise. We see clergymen wearing out their noble lives among the poor and the afflicted who count for less by the money standard than a hod carrier or boot black.

Question Answered. Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion and biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's prize almanac. Clarke & Falk's.

Their united shows receive the highest praise from the press of every city in which they exhibit. What the newspapers say must be true.

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE. Which Will be For Their Own Benefit if Heeded.

Before buying any tombstones or any cemetery work come and see Mr. Comini. Don't let any one bluff you with their slick talk. They know nothing about the business and run down the poor mechanic. They try to make you believe that their work is durable. Before you give your order let Mr. Comini take you out to the cemetery and show you what kind of work he puts up and give you his prices for similar work. Don't be in a hurry to give your order, but first give Mr. Comini a chance to figure on your work. You will find by asking any one who has had business dealings with Mr. Comini that all of his work is of first-class quality, just as he represents it to be, and that his prices for such work are very low. It is not necessary to send for stone from other places, there is stone here in The Dalles that will stand until the judgment day. Sandstone crumbles. jun12-dawtf

NOLAN'S Profit-Sharing Association still goes on. Weekly presents continue as last month, but before announcing presents to be given away August 3rd I desire to correct an error. The impression prevails that because I do not keep a poor brute standing at my door 16 hours a day to do 2 or 3 hours work that I do not deliver goods. The fact is I deliver goods in my line to more people every day than all other dealers in the same line combined, and any person who feels inclined to secure some of the bargains I offer can rest assured that the order will be attended to carefully and promptly delivered by some one of the numerous expressmen who pay a license for delivering goods in the city and deserve to be patronized. M. T. NOLAN.
