The Weston Leader remarks that the engaging unanimity with which Eastern Oregon newspapers are urging that this part of the state be given the governorship will be less marked, perhaps, when it comes to a question of the man. Each county will likely have a favorite candidate whom it thinks will dignify the gubernatorial chair. Since a republican nomination is equivalent to an election in Oregon, it behooves that party's delegates from Eastern Ore- > gon to enter the convention determined to unite upon some particular candidate whose strength and fitness are beyond question. The impression prevails that because I do not keep a poor brute standing at my door 16 hours a day to do 2 or 3 hours work that I do not deliver goods. The fact is I deliver goods in my line to more people every day than all other dealers in the same line combined, and any person who feels inclined to secure some of the bargains I offer can rest assured that the order will be attended to carefully and promptly delivered by some one of the numerous expressmen who pay a license for delivering goods in the city and deserve to be patronized.
