Wasco County Teachers' Institute.

The Wasco county teacher's annual institute for 1901 will be held at The Dalles, September 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th, under the direction of Superintendent C. L. Gilbert. The first three days work will be devoted to teachers' institute work, while Saturday, the 7th, will be given up to a meeting of the district school officers of the county.

The lecturers and instructors for the institute are J. H. Ackerman, state superintendent of public instruction; P. L. Campbell, president Monmouth normal school; W. C. Hawley, president Willamette university; J. S. Landers, city superintendent of The Dalles public schools; Robert C. French, principal of the training department Monmouth normal school. Thursday evening, President W. C. Hawley will lecture on the Declaration of Independence, and on Friday evening, Professor Robert C. French, who spent last year touring Europe, will give an illustrated lecture on the interesting incidents of his trip.

The district school officers' meeting, to be held in the court house Saturday, is a new feature of institute work, but is one deserving the attention and time of the school directors of Wasco county. This is in fact something new for the state, the only similar meeting having been a convention of directors only, at Corvallis last winter. The success of The Dalles' meeting will be watched with interest throughout the state. The forenoon of the meeting will be taken up with a lecture by Superintendent Ackerman on "The Recent Changes of the School Laws," and a lecture by President Campbell on "The New Text Books." President Campbell was a member of the recent state text book commission.

Superintendent Gilbert addresses the Wasco county school directors as follows: "This meeting has been called in the hope of bringing about a more mutual relation between school officers, teachers and patrons. The county superintendent's annual report for the year ending March 4, 1901, shows the number of children between four and twenty years of age to be 4761. The financial statement of the public school fund shows the total receipts derived from all sources to have been $48,574.02, while the total disbursements were $43,941.87. In 67 of the 72 organized districts in Wasco county an average of 6.7 months' school was held during the past year. There are 272 school officers in the county and the law gives them full control of their schools. The welfare of so great a number of children and the judicious expenditure of so large a sum of money attach to your office a responsibility second to none. It therefore is earnestly requested that you be present at this meeting, and that you extend the invitation to school patrons generally."

Does This Mean No Carnival?

The executive committee of the street fair and carnival, after working hard all day yesterday and this morning to secure subscriptions, gave up in despair and concluded to tender their resignation to the powers that appointed them. Their reason for this step is that some half dozen business men of the city absolutely refused to contribute a cent to the enterprise. In point of fact after obtaining subscriptions yesterday to the amount of about $1,300 from less than half a score of persons the rest, as if by preconcerted agreement, refused to subscribe a dollar and the committee felt there was nothing for it to do but to resign.

It is hard to write this humiliating confession, but it has to be written. It means that we shall not alone have no street fair but we shall have no district fair and no distribution of $1,500 appropriated by the state for premiums. It means that after working hard to get the district fair back here again we are too ill-fittedly mean and niggardly to put up the funds necessary for its entertainment. A little circus comes to town and the streets are crowded with thousands of people, many of whom are strangers, from other counties and it must now be said that The Dalles refuses to contribute to an enterprise that would bring many thousand more here and keep them here, or coming and going, not merely for a day, but for a week.

The Dufur Dispatch announces the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Butler, widow of the late Jonathan Butler of Nansene. The remains were interred in the Dufur cemetery yesterday.

From a postal card received by a friend of Dr. J. A. Geisendorfer this morning it is learned that Dr. and Mrs. Geisendorfer left Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on the 19th, bound for home.

The CHRONICLE erred yesterday as to the time when T. A. Hudson will leave here to open a branch real estate and insurance office in Portland. He will not leave till the first of September.

The sale of the George Gardner property at the Cascade Locks, by the sheriff, on a judgment and execution in favor of W. Lair Hill, was postponed today, for want of bidders, to next Saturday at the same hour.

J. W. Dixon, of Pleasant Ridge, lost a valuable dog the other day through the bite of a rattlesnake that the dog eventually killed. The poor beast showed the effect of the poison in a few minutes after he was bitten and died in a very short time.

The dining saloon of the Dalles City, which left here this morning, was magnificently decorated with cut flowers and evergreens in honor of a party of 36 Eastern tourists who met the boat at the Cascade Locks and proceeded to Portland. The party was served with a splendid banquet shortly after leaving the Locks.

The Glacier says a marriage in high life in the noble red family took place recently at White Salmon. Slim Jim's boy married Mrs. Joshua's girl. Slim Jim, following a custom of his tribe, gave costly presents to the members of the bride's family. The presents consisted of eleven horses, several trunks, blankets, lace, calico, shoes, overalls, three dogs, two cats, an army musket, buffalo-hide trunk, etc.

A Chinaman named Wong Foh was arrested last night by Officer Paulsen charged with having carved another Chinaman on the back and arm with a butcher knife. Foh's wounds are serious. The trouble between the celestial culminated in one calling the other a son of a certain well-known domestic animal of the female persuasion and then came the carving aforesaid. Foh's examination has been set for next Monday.

At the close of the parade this morning a horse attached to one of the chariots took a fit of kicking through one of the lines getting under his tail and the team getting beyond the lady driver's control, made a dash through a jostling crowd of boys leveling three of them to the ground and inflicting three or four deep scalp wounds on the head of little Jim Lake, son of the county clerk, besides injuring him slightly in the back. The other boys got off easy. The circus people immediately conveyed young Lake to Dr. Doane's office where his wounds were dressed. They also bought the boy a handsome new shirt and necktie to replace his own that were stained with blood, and wound up by paying the doctor's bill. The circus employees did all in their power to stop the runaway team, which was soon accomplished and they paid particular and kindly attention to the boys that were hurt.

A special meeting of the city council convened last night, at the call of Mayor Farley, to talk over the matter of sewers and advise what is best and wisest to be done in the premises. The meeting developed a very wide diversity of opinion, the only point upon which all were agreed being that each property owner wanted a sewer system in case the other fellow could be made to pay for it. A resolution was passed condemning the Court street sewer, but whether this action of the council will make the rotten old thing tumble in some more remains to be seen. Finally the following-named gentlemen were appointed as a special committee to confer with the citizens and, as far as possible, ascertain the wishes of the majority regarding the establishment of a new sewer system or the continued repairing of the old one: Mayor Farley and Councilmen J. L. Kelly, F. H. Wakefield and J. M. Toomey.

A GOOD CIRCUS.

Sells & Gray One of the Best Tent Attractions—Specialties All New, Clean and Original.

Sells & Gray's circus arrived early this morning from Walla Walla and pitched its tents north of the Wasco warehouse. Every body turned out to see the big parade which passed through the streets shortly after 10:30 o'clock. The streets along the whole course of the parade were filled with people from the country and from adjoining counties, on both sides of the Columbia. The parade made a good impression on the spectators and the afternoon's audience at the circus filled the tents almost to their fullest capacity. Everybody seemed to be pleased. All the acts are clean and up-to-date, while the majority of the performers are far above the average. One noticeable feature is the number and cleverness of the female performers, who do remarkable work. Sells & Gray has not been content in following out the old beaten paths of circuses, but have introduced innovations that are strictly Sells & Gray.

Honors were accorded the famous Eddy family, who have appeared here on various occasions. Clad in dress suits and regulation dresses, these six wonderful gymnasts furnished delightful entertainment with their speciality. A recent addition to the family is a youngster who looks to be about six years of age and is a wonder. It is safe to say that every small boy who saw the show will keep his shins and head sore for the next month trying to imitate the little fellow's acrobatic feats.

Miss Edna, the bareback rider thrilled the vast crowd by turning a backward somersault on the back of a galloping horse. Other interesting features were the Earl Sisters on the swinging ladder, the Tybelle sisters in flying trapeze performances, Mr. and Mrs. Tybelle in a balancing ladder act, Misses Maretta and Cecil Melrose, trapeze performers, and Miss Thompson on the slack wire.

The Reno family of three came in for a full share of applause by their thrilling work on the flying trapeze. Between the special features were sandwiched laughable skits by numerous clowns of all varieties. There is not a tedious moment in the entire performance and many of the big crowd remained for the after concert and side shows, which were in keeping with the circus performance.

The doors of the big show will open at 7 o'clock tonight and the regular performance will commence promptly at 8. There will be a band concert of one hour duration preceding the show, under the direction of Professor Carl Neel, who has a national reputation as a bandmaster.

The patrons of Sells & Gray's leave their canvases feeling that they have received more than the worth of their money. It is a great show—clean and up-to-date and well worth the patronage of The Dalles people.
