The Protest of a Fruit Grower.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:— I see by your paper that the committee has given up, or is about to give up, the fair and carnival. The reason they resign is that so great a proportion of the business men refuse to contribute, so that the necessary means can not be raised to make it a success. This is poor encouragement for the more enterprising citizens who have succeeded in getting the $1,500 of state premiums back to The Dalles, and in naming this city as the permanent place for the fair. It is also poor encouragement for the Gentlemen's Driving Association for the generous offer of their grounds and track, upon which the various field sports and races and stock exhibits can be held; this, too, free of charge to the District Fair Association, thus leaving all gate receipts to the said fair association. It is also well to remember that among the most liberal donors to the fair and carnival fund we find members of the Gentlemen's Driving Club.

It may be asked, why do certain business men refuse to contribute? Is it a matter of economy? This would savor of narrowness, for under the patronage of the people of this community in the past some of these men have accumulated considerable wealth, and they now have an opportunity to return part favors by aiding a district fair in which the various agricultural interests of this section may compete for the $1500 in premiums, which has been provided by the state.

Can it be that any set of business men will willingly deal a blow to the best interests of our section? The farmers and stock element have largely made these men and their present business. Or do these men object upon purely moral grounds? The greatest statesmen, philosophers and divines of the world have declared that the so-called "horse race" is one of the most dignified and elevating sports known to man. We believe this to be true. Then the evil must come from its abuses by the baser elements in society.

Now, sir, to preserve the dignity of this and other sports, let the better element of society predominate and make them what they ought to be. Pilate washed his hands as a token of non-responsibility, but was guilty just the same of betraying innocent blood. We want fewer Pilates, more men, broad-minded men, up-to-date men that can see the necessities of the hour and guide the trend of society in a channel that will make better communities. To see the evil and to refuse to remedy it is to be guilty of the sin of omission and proves oneself to be a traitor to the best interests of society. Society is what we make it.

We demand that in the interest of and fairness to those who have donated so liberally that the names of those who wish to black this enterprise be made known to the farmers of this community. I am asked by a cattle man to make this last request.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The congressional party including the rivers and harbors committee left Seattle last night on a special train bound for Lewiston, Idaho.

Harvesting will commence in good earnest on Tygh Ridge next Monday, and every report from there intimates a large yield and an immense crop.

Wesley Harris and Will Floyd shipped on this morning's boat 40 head of horses which they brought here yesterday overland from Pasco. The animals were booked for Washougal.

The special train carrying the Portland delegation to join the rivers and harbors committee arrived here at 10 o'clock last night and was boarded by Messrs M. A. Moody, J. S. Schenck and E. O. McCoy.

The Minnesota Times of the 19th says that 6,000,000 bushels of corn have been shipped from Duluth to Kansas during the past few weeks in return for six millions that were shipped out of there to Duluth last year.

J. T. Harper has abandoned the idea of moving to North Yakima and instead will move to Tygh Valley where he has the contract for carrying the mails between that town and Wamic, and where he will open a store with a stock of general merchandise.

John Euton, while over here today from his ranch ten miles east of Wasco, reported that harvest has commenced over his way and that the yield is excellent. Volunteer wheat is yielding from fifteen to twenty bushels to the acre.

Mr. Fillion, the agent of the White Collar line, complains that time cards he has nailed up three or four times during the past month have been invariably torn down as soon as they were nailed up. This is surely too small a business for any respectable person to be designedly guilty of.

It is said that two Denver newspaper men, Messrs. Cooper & Thompson, submitted a proposition to the democratic state central committee recently, for the establishment of a democratic daily newspaper in Portland with the Hearst telegraphic service. The proposition will be considered by the committee and if found upon investigation to be feasible will be accepted. The Portland newspaper boneyard is yawning for just such a victim.

A Lewiston girl named Jessie was sent to a famous eastern school and after a year's time wrote to her dad signing "Jessica." In reply the old man wrote: "Dear Jessica: Your welcome letter received. Mamma and papa are well. Aunt Maryica and Georgeica started for California yesterday. I have bought a new horseica. It is a beautica. Its name is Monoica. Your brother Tomica is doing finely, and the hired girlica is a peachica."

The Corvallis Gazette says: "President Gatch has appointed Professors Fulton, McElfresh and Phillips, of O A C, a committee to investigate the fossil beds in Eastern Oregon. With the driver there will be four in the party and it is quite probable that in going and coming they will traverse both the Santiam and McKenzie route across the Cascade mountains. It is thought that from four to six weeks will be required to make as thorough an investigation as is desired. The party desire to start tomorrow."

It may be of interest to citizens who justly dislike the gambling features that so often disgrace an otherwise noble sport, horseracing, to know that before Archbishop Christie would consent to a lease of part of the Catholic mission grounds to The Dalles Driving Association the association had to consent to a stipulation in the lease that the permission of any kind of gambling or sale of liquor on the grounds would work a forfeiture of the lease. This stipulation forever bars out the only really objectionable feature of an otherwise well-conducted horse race.

The Portland papers relate a pathetic incident that happened there last Monday: While being conveyed to the Good Samaritan Hospital, there to undergo treatment, 12-year-old Effie J. Allen died in her father's arms at the Union station. Effie was ill with consumption and accompanied by her father, had left home near The Dalles for the hospital. Just after stepping from the train she was taken with a fainting spell. She sank into her father's arms and at the suggestion of Mrs. Niles, matron at the depot, the girl was placed on a couch in the women's retiring room where she soon passed away quietly and peacefully while her father was whispering words of hope and consolation to her.

Mrs. J. Hardy, of this city, today received a letter from Mrs. William Floyd, of Seattle, announcing the death at Cape Nome on the 10th of June, of Ad Edgar, an old-time well-known resident of The Dalles. The news came to Mrs. Floyd in a letter from her son Ed. Mr. Edgar had been sick for a couple of months before the end came. "He seemed to just waste away," writes Mrs. Floyd. The court wanted to appoint Ed Floyd as administrator of Mr. Edgar's estate, but he refused on account of the pressure of private business and Coke Hill, son of W. Lair Hill was appointed in his stead. Ad Edgar was well known in The Dalles, Eastern Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Mrs. Floyd most truly says: "He was a most genial, kindly man and a great many people in The Dalles will be sorry to hear of his death."

The Astoria News of the 22d says: The heaviest run of salmon since 1896 entered the river Saturday, since which time the canneries and cold storages have been offered as much fish as they could handle. The big run found the fishermen unprepared, and for a time the canneries and cold storages were blocked. By dint of hustling, however, more men were engaged, and all the fish offered at the cold storages was received. The gill-nets made fine catches, bringing in from 500 to 1800 pounds of salmon, while the traps and seines likewise sent in large quantities of fish. The salmon which came into the river were quite large, the average weight being 25 pounds. Yesterday every launch on the lower river was busy carrying fish. Receipts today were equally as heavy, and the fishermen are reaping a harvest. Should the present run continue for a few weeks, this year's pack, which gave promise for a time of being a poor one, will surpass that of last year.

David A. McKelvey, of Antelope, was arrested yesterday at Damascus, Clackacounty, by Constable Jackson and brought here to answer the charge of stealing a mare, the property of C. W. Haight. In the absence of Justice T. Brownhill, who issued the warrant of arrest, McKelvey was arraigned this morning before Recorder Doherty, and as there was neither evidence nor room for suspicion that he was guilty of the crime charged he was promptly discharged. At the time of McKelvey's arrest he had all the horses in his possession that he was known to take with him from Wasco county, 31 head all told, including three colts, but none in the lot had Mr. Haight's brand, nor answered to the description of the one Mr. Haight claims to have lost. Constable Jackson took with him to Damascus from Oregon City Constable Moody, of the latter town, and the two men made a thorough examination of the brand on every animal with the following result: The three colts not having brands; one horse branded AH connected; 1 HR connected; 1 D; 2 A D; 1 Y D; 1 A inverted; 1 T; 1 77; 20 D M.
