Found By Fossil Hunters.

The Silver Lake correspondent of the Chewaucan Post, published at Paisley, Lake county, sends the following report on the movements of the University of California fossil hunters, who recently made extensive explorations in Southern Oregon:

The fossil hunters from Berkeley, University of California, finished their work and explorations on the fossil beds of the Oregon desert, and left Silver Lake on the 15th inst. for Crater Lake, thence home. They were highly pleased with their trip so far completed. The writer accompanied the party during their stay on the desert and enjoyed being with them. We camped five days at Fossil Lake and collected about 300 pounds of fossils, and then moved to Sand and Mound springs, where we camped three days and examined the old fossil beds and sand dunes. We found a great change in the sand, the old landmarks were nearly all covered up. The sand dunes have traveled one half mile east since '75.

We next went to the Ross cabin to explore the Black buttes for the red sandstone formation that Herb Aldridge discovered less than two years ago, which contains the vertebrae and teeth of the ganoid, a species of fish that have a vertebrae tail, and many other animals of a low order belonging to the primordial of a low order of life. We remained there four days. The exploration was complete, but as far as examined was very interesting.

The Telegram says: "United States District Attorney Hale is taking steps to have the decree of Judge Bellinger in the case of the United States vs. Jesse D. Carr, carried out. He will have the fence around the government lands inclosed by Carr, torn down. As there are 15 or 20 miles of rock fence in the lot, about five feet in width and four feet in height, the United States marshal or United States troops, or whoever may be sent to tear it down, is likely to have an all summer job on hand, especially as Mr. Hall says the rock fence is to be destroyed as was the Tower of Babel, or the Temple of Babylon, or perhaps it was the Temple of Jerusalem (Mr. Hall is not well posted in biblical matters), of which not one stone was left upon another. The miles of barbed wire fencing will be rolled up like a scroll, but the rim rock cliffs which form a part of the fence will not be molested. Mr. Carr, however, is still in possession of the lands, with the exception of a calf pasture of some 5000 acres, and the end of the trouble is not yet."

At noon today Alfred Prinz, who underwent an operation at the Dalles Hospital yesterday for appendicitis, was getting along most encouragingly and everything indicated a successful operation and a speedy recovery.

Contractors on the railway improvements between The Dalles and tunnel

No. 3 are fitting up camps and getting ready to commence work at an early date. These improvements will employ a force of about a thousand men for the next nine months.

Three fruitmen of Mosier, Louis Davenport, Lee Evans and Pete Hannigan, recently shipped to Minneapolis a carload of 1200 cases of peach plums for which they got 40 cents a case spot cash at the railroad station.

A Pendleton paper is responsible for the following improbable, we had almost said impossible story: "A lumber camp tender near Pendleton saw an elk but would not shoot it on account of close season. The elk treed him, gun and all and kept him there for the night. In the morning his dog came looking for him, attracted the elk's attention and led it off, so he was enabled to escape." The American Tin Plate Company has completed and will start in a few days at Wheeling, W. Va., the second largest tin plate works in the United States, and in point of modern improvements and appliances the best in the world. It will employ over 6000 men. It has been but a few years since the entire democratic press of the country was predicting that the tin plate industry never could be established in the United States.

The Dalles has something it can neither let go of nor make it go. It is the district fair, which the last legislature located permanently at that place.—Shaniko Leader. On the contrary, Mr. Leader, the Dalles has something that it does not want to let go, and something that it is going to make go in a style that will be a credit to the town as well as the district. This much is now certain. The people have, in the main, subscribed liberally for this fair and a street fair and carnival to boot, and the fair's success is no longer a matter of doubt.

The cattlemen of Crook county have decided to run the sheepmen out of certain parts of the county, and a conflict is liable to arise between the two interests at any time. The stockmen have issued the following notice, which is given by order of the executive committee of the Stockmen's Association of Maury Mountain: "To whom it may concern: The stockmen of Maury Mountain, Crook county, Or., do hereby claim as their range, will not allow any sheep upon the same to-wit: Camp creek on the east; Crooked river on the north; west fork of Pine Creek on the west, and the summit of Maury Mountain on the south."

The preliminary examination of Andy Lytle for the killing of Emmett Egan, on July 21, was held at Prineville Monday before County Judge Wills. The evidence introduced by the state established the fact that the killing was premeditated. The defense introduced the testimony of Mrs. Lytle, who alleges that on the Thursday prior to the killing, Egan came to her home and forcibly assaulted her. She told her husband of the affair upon his return from Antelope. He killed Egan, came to Prineville and gave himself up to the officers. After listening to the testimony the judge held him, without bonds, to appear at the next term of circuit court.

"Folks are kicking about the dry weather here in Eastern Oregon," said a former Kansan the other day; "why it ain't a patching to what they used to have in Kansas where I came from. There have been times so dry in the western part of that state that you would have to soak a hog over night before he would hold swill. There are places out there where water is wet only on one side. I know one place where the owner of a ferryboat hauls water most of the time to keep his boat running. Water is so scarce in some parts that men won't drink it. Why, they used to have to run a well through a wringer to get enough water for coffee."

Orville Wingfield has just finished threshing a 74-acre field of wheat on his ranch, near Enderbery, that was reported to THE CHRONICLE about a month ago as completely ruined by late frosts. The field yielded 1800 bushels of good No. 1 little Club wheat, or an average of about 24 1/2 bushels to the acre. It was fall grain and was injured in some way not clearly accounted for, or perhaps understood, so that this variety that is the best known for resisting the shattering effects of heat and wind after it has ripened, shattered to an extent of three or four bushels to the acre. Still if all the damaged grain out about Enderbery will do as well as Orville Wingfield's, the farmers of that neighborhood won't have much of a kick coming.

Notice.

Mrs. Nellie L. Gustin, state organizer of the Knights and Ladies of Security, assisted by her brother Charles Marshall, is in this city for the purpose of organizing a council of this order, which is a fraternal insurance society admitting both sexes. It pays partial and total disability benefits and does not increase with advancing years. It will be well for all who wish to interest themselves in this matter to call on Mrs. Gustin or Mr. Marshall at the Farmers Hotel for further information. aug1-3t
