It is difficult to see what the steel strikers expect to gain by a prolonged an early day to resort to force. They have exhausted whatever power they ever possessed of making the strike a political issue which would force party managers to come to their agers, Collins, Wash. support, and low quotations for steel stocks seem not to worry the manufacturers at all. Unless they make terms they have nothing to do but see the mills start up with other labor at the convenience of the little one One Minute Cough Cure. Then from working. Already there have been a few trifling manifestations of disorder, and it is evident that the temper of the idle men is reaching a the management of the Amalgamated Mr. Shaffer has announced that this was not an ordinary strike, and that it was not going to be disgraced by boycotting, picketing and riots. So far he has kept his word reasonably well, but it is doubtful if he will be able much longer to control by the chance for settlement. He must see that a "fight to the finish" means violence. His men have been for the most part orderly in the hope of a settlement he promised and in would find it to their own interest to surrender. Now, when they know the last inch of concession that can be obtained by peaceful methods, they must either accept those concessions or adopt other than peaceful methods. They need be under no illusion about the meaning of their decision. Strikes are broken in one of two ways. The old men go back to work or new men take their places, and it is not to be expected that the old workers, however selfcontained they may have been in the face of a few "scabs" while expecting a settlement in the end of their terms. will see their places permanently taken and the mills running regularly without them and sit idle and in order at the request of a strike leader with no more diplomatic strings to pull in their behalf.

that the association was not seeking, as charged by the manufacturers, to Great Agricultural force non-union men to join it. All it wanted was freedom for all and a chance to organize those men in the present non-union mills who of their own free will desired membership in the association. He has clearly the association. He has clearly demonstrated that he already possesses BIG LIVE STOCK SHOW this power by withdrawing so many association men from non-union mills as to shut several of them down. If he can do that, the formal signing of the union scale for those mills is not important unless the official position Latest Attractions in New Auditorium John Pashek, The Tailor, of the union, intermediary between the employer and worker, operates to force all of the latter into the union Beautiful Camp Grounds Free. Special as the only way to have a voice in the conditions of their own labor. Mr. Shaffer will never arouse any public sympathy in behalf of a pro- SPECIAL RATES on all RAILROADS longed strike merely to put the association in that position of power.
