

Ice Cream and Soda At Andrew Keller's.

TREASURER'S NOTICE.

All Wasco County warrants registered prior to October 17, 1898, will be paid on presentation at this office.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

If you are interested in the street fair be at the club rooms tonight.

John Thomas, who was adjudged insane, was taken to the asylum this morning.

Forecast—Tonight and Saturday, decidedly cooler; killing frosts with heavy fall of snow toward morning.

Travel to Cloud Cap Inn never was better. So far this season the Mt. Hood Stage Co. has taken over 250 people to Mt. Hood.

The family of O. Kinersly has moved into the Episcopal parsonage, recently occupied by F. T. Sampson and family.

E. E. Lytle, president of the Columbia Southern, has procured a couple of lots in Shaniko, and, we understand, will begin the erection of a residence thereon in the near future.

Frank Reed was examined before Justice Brownhill yesterday on the charge of assault with intent to kill. After hearing the testimony the justice held Reed to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

J. D. Estes, of this city, has purchased the ranch of J. J. Snyder at Lyle. Mr. Estes has charge of the fish hatcheries on the Little White Salmon, but his family make their home here during the winter months.

W. N. Sayre & Co., commission merchants of Portland, have rented the McCormick property south of the Columbia Hotel and put in a branch house here. They will be ready to begin their work of packing tomorrow.

Our Eight-Mile, Dufur, Kingsley and Tygh neighbors are going to receive the weather forecast each day commencing Monday, Mr. Brooks having made arrangements with the Seufert & Condon Telephone Company to send them out, which no doubt will be greatly appreciated by residents there.

Wallace Wilson, of the Baldwin restaurant, received word yesterday of the death of his brother's wife, Mary Wilson, wife of Walter R. Wilson, at their home in Portland. Mr. Wilson was desirous of attending the funeral today, but found it impossible to obtain anyone who could look after his business here.

Good summer apples are in demand just now, but Hood River has none this year. The majority of the summer apples here are of the Gravenstein variety, and as the trees were permitted to over-bear last summer, they are bearing no fruit at all this year. Hood River shipped about 5,000 boxes of summer apples last year.—Glacier.

W. Lord, F. T. Hurlburt, D. J. Harris and A. E. Hammond have filed articles incorporating the Cline Falls Power Co. Several weeks ago these gentlemen, through A. E. Hammond, purchased these superb falls, and since that time have had men at work surveying irrigation ditches, which when completed will irrigate a vast territory that will be made to blossom like a rose, which is practically unproductive today.

From George Ferguson, who arrived last night from Collins Landing, we learn that resort is well populated with campers, there being about 35 different camps. Mr. Ferguson says that Engineer Kutherford, of the Diamond Mills, who went down the first of the week badly crippled with rheumatism, already shows signs of improvement, and yesterday was able to lace his shoes, which he was not able to do when he left home.

Smoke obscures the face of nature in this locality, and the Klickitat mountains and surrounding hills are veiled from the optics of the ordinary citizen. Nature seems to be in an angry mood and "gathers her brows like gathering storm, nursing her wrath to keep it warm;" but a shower will cool nature's excited temper, and our atmosphere will soon emphasize the fact that Eastern Oregon has the most delightful climate in the world.

C. M. Cartwright, of Hay Creek, was a passenger on Thursday's train for Ohio, where he goes to receive 100 ewes and 20 bucks of the Rambouillet breed that were purchased for the Baldwin Sheep & Land Co. in France. These bucks will arrive shortly in Shaniko and will be immediately taken to the company's ranch. Mr. Cartwright was accompanied by Mr. Van Houten, and both will visit the Pan-American exposition before returning home.—Shaniko Leader.

Quail may now be shot, for the open season for these birds and prairie chickens began on August 1st. The species of quail known as "Bob White" has protection at all seasons of the year. Grouse can use all their constitutional rights and caw all they please until October 1st; but we have been informed that some hunters, without the fear of punishment before their eyes, have been slaughtering these birds with impunity. Our game warden should see that this law is enforced, for it is a very satisfactory measure.

Most of those who have subscribed to the carnival and street fair have been advised personally of the meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the club rooms. It is especially essential that there be a large attendance so that it may be talked over and definite arrangements made. If you have anything to say in the matter, or any kick to register, now is your opportunity. Be on hand and you will have as much right to suggest as anyone; but if you absent yourself then forever hold your peace, even if the arrangements don't suit you.

This morning, after a night spent in tossing about in a vain attempt to gain a little sleep, everybody accosted his neighbor with "Well, did you sleep any last night?" and in very few instances was the answer in the affirmative, for a hotter night has not been experienced in The Dalles for many a year, the thermometer refusing to go below 70.

At 10 o'clock it registered 94, with a breeze blowing which no doubt came from — well down south some place. As a general thing our nights are cool enough to assure rest after depression from the heat of the day, but last night, oh no! Today a cooler breeze has favored us, but not so you could notice it to any great extent, the temperature being 95.

The body of a man supposed to be that of Victor Peterson, who either jumped or fell from the steamer Regulator Monday morning near Vancouver, was found in the Columbia river near the Vancouver ferry on the Oregon side, last night. The body was dressed in under-clothing and as no papers or letters were found, identification was at first difficult, but from the appearance of the body it is practically certain that it is that of Peterson. There is a big bruise on the head. An inquest was to have been held this afternoon. Foul play had been suggested to District Attorney Chamberlain, as in searching the missing man's clothing one of the pockets of the overalls was found to be out. He, however, gave as his opinion that Peterson had accidentally fallen overboard.

Would-Be Cattle Thieves.

Last Sunday night about midnight an attempt was made to steal seven steers belonging to W. J. Harriman, of Enderby, which were pastured on his Dry Hollow farm, now rented by J. H. Harris, and it was only due to the sleeplessness of Mr. Harris that they were not stolen and three young men, who are well known in that neighborhood, sent to the pen. It was a foolish move, as Mr. Harriman had been warned that the attempt would be made. Further, every cattleman and butcher would have been informed by 9 o'clock that morning and the thieves could not have escaped. Mr. Harris was ill that night; had it not been so, he claims he would have given one of them the contents of his shotgun. Not with the idea of killing him, but to mark him as such would-be thieves deserve.

The first alarm was given by his dog, which began to bark. A neighbor's dog being there that night taking part in the chorus, giving the young men a genuine surprise, as one of them remarked "Why, he has another dog." Neither had they reckoned on their voices being familiar and recognized and the corral close to the house. When the cattle were driven out of the corral they commenced bellowing and Mr. Harris went out immediately and called them. As they had been raised pets they answered and were soon in the corral again. The boys went away cursing their luck but probably learned a lesson, and are aware they will be closely watched in the future.

Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. Clarke & Falk's P. O. Pharmacy.

Mrs. M. F. Goss, a niece of Deputy Sheriff Sexton, is in the city from Denver, Colo., the guest of her uncle.

Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, of Dufur, is among the teachers taking the examination for certificates at the court house.

C. R. Smead, of the Blalock fruit farm, is about our streets today looking up the prospect for obtaining fruit this season.

Gilbert Palmer arrived in the city last night from Beatrice, Neb., to take charge of some of the crews on the road below the city.

Miss May Washburne, a sister of Mrs. L. L. Lane, arrived in the city Wednesday and will remain a short time visiting her sister.

Messrs L. E. Crowe and Ed M. Williams were passengers on the Gatzert yesterday afternoon bound for the Elks carnival at Tacoma.

Geo. W. Simmons, of the Pacific Bridge Company, reached the city last evening and left this morning for the scene of activity at White River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Z. Donnell and Mrs. J. M. Marden have returned from their camping trip to Cloud Cap Inn and Trout Lake, reporting a most enjoyable time.

Miss Carrie Butler went to Portland last Friday afternoon. She expects to return this week, and will leave shortly for an extended trip East, taking in the Buffalo exposition before returning—Glacier.

Miss Susie Gambell, who has been teaching vocal culture in The Dalles since last fall, left on the boat yesterday afternoon for her home in Portland. Miss Gambell has been very successful as a teacher here, and we learn will return here in the fall.

Misses Martha and Constance Wheelton, who left here about a month ago to attend the Epworth League convention at San Francisco, returned home last night. On their way home they visited relatives in the Willamette valley, and report a splendid trip throughout.

In this city Wednesday, August 14, by Rev. Frank Spaulding, Miss Minnie Pease to Albert Laue.

Thursday, Aug. 15, 1901, at the Catholic church in this city, by Rev. A. Brongeeest, Miss Alice Dashney to Frank B. Moe.

BORN.

This morning, August 16th, to Mr. and Mrs. L. Comini, a 12-pound son.

In the past Comini has been mourning the loss of his eye, which hinders him greatly in his work. Today he is a happy man, claiming he has a new natural born stone-cutter.

Not Dead, Nor Sleeping.

Who would have thought at this stage of the game of anyone accusing Senator Mitchell of being dead, and yet the Pittsburg Post in an illustrated supplement, furnishes a photograph of the "late John H. Mitchell, senator from Oregon," together with the news of his demise and a biography of the distinguished gentleman.

Wouldn't that jar you? Senator Mitchell dead. No doubt this would be good news to politicians who are desirous of trying on his shoes, but just at present he is a pretty lively corpse. As old Chambers, a former Dalles expressman said, "The corpse aint dead yet," and Oregonians hope will not be for many years to come.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

You tell my ma that I'm a long way from home. You see left The Dalles Monday on 12 p. m. train. Had breakfast with "Grandma" at Meacham at 9 a. m. next morning and reached La Grande at 10:30. It seemed a live town in the edge of Grand Ronde valley, where one looks for miles over a grand stretch of grain and meadow, with here and there willows marking the course of streams from surrounding mountains.

The railroad follows the south side until she pulls out through low hills to Powder river (creek) up which it follows for some distance where she opens out in a broad valley with great stretches of meadow all the way to Baker City which is on the bank of the Powder, where we take the Sumpter road following the Sumpter valley through one continuous meadow about a farm wide, in the head of which is Sumpter, where we change cars for Whitney, crossing by very steep grade over into the head of Burnt river.

Whitney is in a beautiful location and has a future. Already it has two hotels, three saloons and a paper five weeks old, with 700 subscribers at 50 cents a year. Am looking after Siddall and think I will pull him through.

Forty-Two Years in Transit.

A tombstone 42 years in transit has just been claimed, and will be put in position at Louisville. The stone was found in the cellar of a business house at 170 Fourth avenue. It has been claimed by Mrs. Fannie Meeks, of 2016 West Walnut street. Years ago the cellar was used as a warehouse by Dodge & Force, steamboat agents. In tearing down the building for the erection of a new one the stone was found erated and just as it was shipped in 1859. The stone was intended for Catherine, wife of Barney Blayney Leyland. She died May 6, 1859. The stone was made in Philadelphia, and was shipped by sea to New Orleans, and thence by river to Louisville. It was believed to have been lost in transit. Barney Leyland died 18 years ago. He and his first wife are buried in Cave Hill cemetery. Mrs. Meeks is a daughter by a second marriage. Chicago Record-Herald.

Had Proof of It.

Jimson (proudly) I never deceive my wife—no, sir; I tell her everything. Bilson—Yes, I knew that long ago. "Wha'—how?" "She tells it all to my wife, and my wife tells it to me."—Stray Stories.

Old Joke Over Again.—"Did you ever hear that George Washington had an impediment in his speech?" "Why, no. Did he?" "Well, they say he couldn't tell a lie."—Philadelphia Bulletin.
