POSTPONEMENT OF JUSTICE

Nordstrom, the King county murderer, yesterday paid the penalty of since the crime was committed. Although he was convicted on circumstantial evidence, says the Review, there has never been any doubt as to his guilt, and he should have been funded. 25 cts. and 50 cts, Blakeley, hanged long ago.

Through the customary delays that have become so common in criminal have to keep your scalp clean. Soap practice in many parts of this state Nordstrom was held a prisoner while his case was passed back and forth between the lower and higher courts. will The cost of his trials and maintenance barber shop, The Dalles. through all this time has ran into the cause year after year his counsel has been able to raise new technical the execution in order that legal straw might be threshed over.

Filloon, deterred from wrongdoing, and in the end many citizens feel that there is some justification for taking matters into their own hands.

Indecency in marriage is one of those offensive things of frequent occurrence which mark the decline of virtue in luxurious times. Roman annals are full of them. Our own times furnish many of these instances of the prostitution of marriage. Here, for example, is an old fool, Flagler, one of the Standard Oil magnates, past seventy years of age, who has married a young fool, Kenan, to whom Flagler's wealth is attractive. The grievance of the public is that the news reports take notice of it. Flagier owns all the east coast of Florida, from St. Augustine to Miama, some 300 or 400 miles. He owns lands and timber and railroads, and great hotels at every station. The legislature of Florida, his obse. Sold by Clarke & Falk, The Dalles, Or. quious servant, passed a law at his dictation or purchase to enable him to get rid of his old wife, who had become insane. Now he marries a young wife, and the country must be told of it. Youth wedded for money to palsied old is not an inspiring spectacle, even if the old man's special train, in care of youth and vigor, did make sixty miles in fiftyfive minutes .- Oregonian.

As a rule it is a pretty good time to buy when an owner is extremely anxious to sell, and if the United States is to acquire the Danish West Indies perhaps now is as favorable an occasion as any other to make the purchase, considering that Denmark believes that it is absolutely necescary for her to let go of her holdings in this hemisphere.
