A GOOD OPPORTUNITY.

Lewis and Clark centennial in 1905 she had no right to be. the turning point in Oregon's history Conditions are ripe for the development of the state's resources. I'p to this time they have been merely prospected.

Oregon is a terra incognita to eastern people, excepting a few market rates venturesome souls who have taken to the far west to explore the terrors. Some of these have returned to the Falk, agents. Clark & east to relate trutuful stories of the delights of chimate and the marvels cough at any time, and will cure the of productiveness to be found in worst cold in twelve hours, or money re-Oregon. A greater number have gone back to their homes to tell exaggerated stories of their imaginary encounters with wild beasts and desperadoes and to throw romantic crispy. Now we have two of the very cast over what is in many regards best preparations for cleansing the the easy and inconspicuous life of the Oregonians.

If the surplusage of population in barber chop, The Dulles, the east is to be induced to come to Oregon something must be done to Seaside and return. Tickets good going encourage them to explore this region from Fortland over the White Collar Doubtless there are many who would line, O. R. & N. Co., V. T. Co. or the A. feel less timid about venturing to & C. F. R., and return over same lines. come here if they were assured that countless thousands of others are Ocean Park or Naticotta, Limit of coming and that they would share in these September 15th. J. M. Fincen. the safety of numbers, safety from the dangers arising from the presence here of scalping Indians, desperate, & Faig. shooting men and vast stretches of country where no one lives.

The preliminary work of the Lewis and Clark commission in very large part will be to advertise this state in the east. They must make known the pleasures to be enjoyed in viewing beautiful and grand sceneries, thrifty towns and majestic rivers; the immunity from dangers of all kinds excepting those incident to ordinary travel; and the opportunities awaiting the man who comes here determined to carve out a prosperity for himself.

Oregon is in the situation of a merchant who has desirable goods and who needs only to make his wares known to command patronage.

"Oregon needs more people" was the pertinent remark of Governor Geer recently, and if the Lewis and Clark commissioners properly advertise the centennial many of the needed people will be induced to come to this state.

The opportunity presents itself. It Sold by Clarke & Falk, The Dalles, Or. remains with the commission to grasp it. A great duty rests upon them. Their action will determine the degree of activity in Oregon that will follow the great exposition .- E. O.

MRS. NATION IS SLAPPED.

Mrs. Carrie Nation the other day boarded a steamhoat. She invaded the sacred precincts of the men, and her nostrils were regailed with the aroma of more or less fine cigars, She went around among the smokers, snatching cigars from the men's mouths, until she arrived in front of a man who refused to be coerced into breaking the tobacco habit. When Mrs. Nation attempted to wrench his cigar from between his teeth, he slapped her none too gently on the BIG side of the head. Aunt Carrie then subsided and sought the woman's cabin.

The press of the country has been discussing the propriety of this man's actions ever since. By some editors he is looked upon as a brute because he slapped a woman, says the Omaha News; by others he is praised of re- Beautiful Camp Grounds Free. Special pulsing in the only possible manner an attack on his freedom of action.

The truth of the matter seems to be that two irresponsible and ill-bred SPECIAL RATES on all RAILROADS persons seem to have come together, and as usual, created a scene.

Mrs. Nation may perhaps be excused to a certain extent by the fact that she is a crank, and cranks are always more or less mentally unsound.

The man, however, had no excuse for acting as he did. No manly man will strike a woman under any circumstances. He could have walked Incertion and execution of suf- away, or he could have called the ficiently comprehensive plans will officer of the boat and had Mrs. enable the commissioners to make the Nation ejected from a place where
