SUICIDE OF WM. VANBIBBER.

Hung Himself in the Cow Shed This Morning

The startling, but meager, report is brought to the city by Mr. Anderson just as we go to press that Wm. Vanbibber had committed suicide by hanging himself in the cow shed adjoining his home on Chenoweth creek, three miles below the city, about 11 o'clock this morning. He was found by Tom Laurensen at 1 o'clock.

Word was at once brought to the city, and Coroner Butts has just left for the Vanbibber place.

The news has given the entire city a terrible shock, Mr. Vanbibber being one of our oldest and most highly respected citizens. It is thought by all that it must have been a temporary fit of insanity that caused the terrible deed, for so far as known, other than that he has been very despondent since he sold out the dairy business and had nothing to occupy his mind, (habit having had a strong hold on him) there was not the slightest cause for the act.

Further particulars will be given in tomorrow's issue, it being impossible to obtain details at so late an hour.

ROCKY CHENOWETH SUICIDES.

Cut His Throat Last Night at St. Martin's Springs.

This morning a telephone message was received by Charles Michelbach from Sheriff Totten, of Skamania county, to the effect that Harold L. Chenoweth, better known as "Rocky Chenoweth," had committed suicide by cutting his throat last night at St. Martin's springs. No further particulars have as yet been received, and Undertaker Burget will leave this afternoon to bring the body to this city.

For at least two years past Mr. Chenoweth has been a sufferer from tuberculosis and at intervals has gone down to St. Martin's in the hope of receiving benefit, but in vain. No doubt despondency regarding his condition, coupled with the fact that he has always dreaded being a burden to his friends and often declared he would not be, led to the fatal act.

Harold Chenoweth was born in Beverley, Randolph county, West Virginia, forty-two years ago, and came to The Dalles fifteen years ago. During the past few years he has been in the employ of Chas. Michelbach, and, with his other employers, Mr. Michelbach found him honest and industrious. Before coming to this place he was wheat buyer for a Minneapolis flouring mill, and also followed other mercantile pursuits.

He was a man of exceptionally fine education, and of him it may be said he was most honest and kind to everyone but himself. Were his friends ill or in trouble "Rocky" could not do enough for them and his unselfishness no doubt led to his tragic death.

He came from a fine family, his father formerly being a leading contractor in Beverley. It is not known positively, but presumed, that his father is dead, while his mother and sister are still living in that city.

Japs Shot at Rowena.

About 8 o'clock last night two men entered the Japanese headquarters of the railroad camp at Rowena station, and began shooting at the three Japs who were sleeping therein, with what intent it was difficult to decipher, as, if robbing had been their only object, it was a strange way to proceed. Two of the Japs were shot, one seriously, and before they could reach the section house the villains had succeeded in getting away.

One of the men reached the section and gave the alarm, but the other could not at first be found. Later Mrs. Forwood, of this city, who had gone down to visit her son, who is employed on the road work, in company with the wife of the section boss, heard moans and upon going to a shed near by, found one of the Japs seemingly badly injured and blood flowing from his wounds. He was taken to the section house and, with the other injured man, brought up to this city on the 9:15 train, where Drs. Logan and Geisendorfer dressed their wounds. One received gun shot wounds in the back, but to what extent he was injured we have not learned. The other was shot in the face. They were both taken to St. Vincent's hospital on this morning's train.

It is supposed the shooting was done by tramps; but as it was difficult to get the straight of the story from the Japs, little is known of the culprits.

Babe Mays has bought of Frank E. Miller, half of his undivided one-half interest in the Keystone, Prosperity, Badger and White Jacket mining claims in the Trout Creek district. These claims are located up near the Red Jacket property, and are considered good prospects. Here's hoping Babe that you'll strike it rich.—Antelope Herald.

Any of our orchardists who may have fruit, which they are desirous of exhibiting at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, may leave it at the Pacific express office or at Maier & Benton's, where E. Schanno will see that it is shipped to Mr. Dorsch, paying the express charges himself, with the assurance that the state committee will refund in the course of a few months.

The case of J. W. Ryan and C. R. Starkey, who were arrested for assault and battery, came up in Justice Brownhill's court last evening, Ned Gates appearing for the defense and F. W. Wilson for the state. At 9 o'clock the pugilists were fined $10 each. Starkey paid his fine and went on his way rejoicing, while Ryan, in default of payment will languish in jail for the next five days.

C. L. Phillips, the well-known grocerman of The Dalles, and O. T. Sheppard are at work practically developing their mining interests in which they have solid money investment, says the Whitney Record. They have three ledges, two of which are fine, beyond a doubt. "We have," said Mr. Phillips, "a seven-foot vein on the Ground Hog in the Greenhorn mountains. We have four other claims in the vicinity, two of which show rich values. Two of them are free milling ore, running very high in values." Mr. Phillips had with him an exhibit of four ounces of pure gold taken out just by pounding the rock and washing it.

We had hoped to be able to give a list today of the young ladies who would be in the contest for queen of the carnival, but upon asking for a report from the committee we found them somewhat handicapped. In deference to the young ladies who objected to the mode of voting last year, and to prevent any names appearing which might be objectionable, the ladies decided to make the nominations themselves, after consulting those who were suggested at their first meeting. Now, it appears, many who would otherwise be willing to serve, are backward for fear of defeat, and but a very few have consented to enter. Our young ladies should not look at it from that standpoint. It is not a contest for the most popular young lady, but that we should have some one whom the people consider fitted for the position and who will grace the carnival. All cannot be queen, but they can at least assist in making this important feature of the affair a success. Beside, in a financial way it means much to the carnival. The most prominent young ladies in our neighboring cities have allowed their names to be used, and surely we have as many fitted for a like position as they. We hope to have a favorable report from the committee in the course of a few days.

City Council Notice.

On account of circumstances which unavoidably prevent, and that the meeting may prove of the most benefit to the largest number, the council meeting to have been held tonight has been postponed until tomorrow (Wednesday) night.

G. J. FARLEY, Mayor.

Teachers' Institute.

Tomorrow morning promptly at 9 o'clock the teachers' institute for Wasco county will commence a four-days session including the school officers' meeting Saturday. There is no doubt but that there will be a large attendance, and every citizen should co-operate with School Superintendent Gilbert and his assistants in making their visit in our city a pleasant as well as profitable one. The attendance of interested visitors will also be appreciated.

Tomorrow Professor French will discuss the subject of reading and Professor Hawley will lecture on history. Supt. Landers, of our city schools, will also talk on the course of studies for state high schools.

Professor Landers also has charge of the musical program, arranging not only for the day sessions, but for evening as well. Some of our best music talent have consented to appear.

Before receiving certificates of attendance teachers must be present at least sixteen hours previous, and credits on attendance will count only on presence at day sessions. Suffice to say the teachers, as far as possible will be there.

State Superintendent Ackerman will be present Thursday, and after attending the institute at Albany will return to The Dalles on the late train Friday, being here for the school officers' meeting Saturday.

Superintendent Gilbert's idea for calling this meeting, which is something new, is the hope of bringing about a more mutual relation between school officers, teachers and patrons. Invitations have been issued for school officers and patrons in general to attend. There are 272 officers in the county, and many from Hood River, Mosier and this city will be on hand. It is hoped that the more isolated districts will send at least one representative.

At this meeting State Superintendent Ackerman will lecture on the recent changes in school books, and upon the course of study and school records. President Campbell will tell of the new text books and will lecture on the relations between the director and teacher.
