County Treasurer.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Joe Martin and Bertha Johnson, both of this city.

The Wasco Southern Telephone Company has decided to extend its line by connecting Mitchell and Antelope.

James Ball, of Kingsley, who is a native of Denmark, was admitted to full citizenship yesterday by Judge Blakeley.

Wanted—To rent a small house or rooms, furnished or unfurnished, for light housekeeping. Address P. P., box 737.

Judge Bennett recently purchased the Rogers stock ranch of 4800 acres near Antelope. The consideration has not been definitely learned.

THE CHRONICLE has about a score of premium lists of the Oregon state fair that it will be pleased to hand to anyone who may call for them.

On account of the Hebrew New Year the Great Northern furniture store will be closed from next Friday evening at 6 o'clock to Saturday evening at the same hour.

Simeon Bolton and Attorney Fritz Wilson have jointly invested in a Hood River fruit ranch and today, like the man in the parable who bought the yoke of oxen, they went down to see what the place was like.

Don't forget the banquet to be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church, at their wheel social next Saturday evening in the basement of the church. Don't forget to come and bring a lead pencil.

In one of the windows of Donnell's drug store is a photograph in natural colors of a sample peach of a new variety named Weber's Prizes from the Weber nurseries of this place. The picture is life size and shows a sample of this delicious fruit, as magnificent as its shadow is as a work of art. The picture is by Gifford.

The Hebrew new year will begin next Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The date was first fixed by Jehovah shortly before the departure of Israel from the land of Egypt, and the account of its appointment is related in the opening verses of the twelfth chapter of Genesis. Ten days later follows the Day of Atonement, the account of which may be found in the sixteenth chapter of Leviticus.

R. B. Wilson, representative of the Burlington Company, stated in Pendleton recently that, if they can be found, 50,000 horses will be bought in Eastern Oregon for the English cavalry service. "Already," said Mr. Wilson, "our people have shipped out more than seventy-five cars, and the number will have reached 100 cars within a very short space of time."

A New York dispatch says that in the course of his sermon at Ocean Grove, N. J., yesterday Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, of Washington, said: "I wish that policeman in Buffalo who seized the pistol of the scoundrel who shot our adored president had taken the butt of the weapon and dashed the man's brains out on the spot." And the 10,000 people in the auditorium applauded the sentiment. The doctor's theology may be a little askew, but his politics are all right.

Some time ago the cat of the St. Paul postoffice made a record by slaying a hundred and twenty-five rats and mice in one month. In recognition of her abilities the postmaster wrote to Washington asking an increase in her salary, and she now receives $10.40 a year. Soon after she showed her gratitude by presenting the government with five kittens, each of which entered the United States service as soon as it was old enough to tackle a rat.—September Ladies' Home Journal.

Mrs. Helen D. Harford, state president of the W. C. T. U., has arrived in the city and will speak tonight at the Methodist church and tomorrow night at the Calvary Baptist church. This evening her subject will be "Our Mission;" Thursday, "Mrs. Nation and Her Hatchet; Past, Present and Future." Those who have heard Mrs. Harford say she is a splendid speaker, and as all are invited to be present, "without money and without price," there will surely be a large crowd in attendance.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 of the clock Mr. Ernst Jacobson and Mrs. Maie Hays were united in marriage at the Christian church of this city, Elder Jenkins of Hood River officiating. The bride and bridegroom are both well and favorably known in this city, and THE CHRONICLE joins their many friends in wishing them many happy days. Soon after the wedding ceremony the happy couple left on a wedding trip to Portland. The time of their return has not been announced, but they have rented a house on Union street and will make their future home here.

Rev. U. F. Hawk returned this morning from attendance at the annual conference held at Walla Walla. He was accompanied by Rev. C. D. Nickelsen, of Goldendale. From Mr. Nickelsen, who is secretary of the conference, we learn of the following appointments for this vicinity: The Dalles, W. Skipworth, of Lewiston, Idaho; Dufur, Geo. Moorhead; Hood River, Frank Spaulding, returned; Moro, Sherman county, W. C. Smith, of Dufur; Wasco, George Archer of Fossil; Antelope, to be supplied; Cascade Locks, F. H. Walker, of Olex; Arlington, Ed Baker, returned; Prineville, W. C. Clark, of Lone Rock; Goldendale, C. D. Nickelsen, returned; Centerville, W. J. Baldwin, returned.

The fact that Rev. U. F. Hawk has not been returned to The Dalles by the annual conference, after a two years' service in this city, is beyond question a very great disappointment to the majority of his own people and to the people of The Dalles. Mr. Hawk has made many warm friends during his residence here. He is naturally a man of most amiable and lovable disposition, who ought not to have, and probably has not, an enemy in the world, except it be, as a member of The Dalles church said today in the hearing of THE CHRONICLE, among the ranks of a few cranks who would not be satisfied with the preaching of the Apostle Paul, and as a matter of fact are never satisfied with anybody.

Wheat is coming in at quite a lively rate and the southern half of the Wasco warehouse is full from basement to roof. The price today for No. 1 is 52 cents as compared with 54 cents for the same grade at Portland, a difference of only two cents a bushel. The normal difference, counting freight and other necessary expenses, is about six cents a bushel, but here for nearly three weeks at a stretch the difference was only one cent a bushel. For these peculiarly favorable conditions the wheat raiser has to thank the new Wasco warehouse flouring mill, which is laying in a supply of wheat against the time when it will begin to grind out 500 barrels of flour a day. This time is still fixed, in spite of delays in receiving machinery caused by the great strike in the East, at some time during the month of October.

Messrs. Schanno, Sanders, Kurtz, Evans, Middlewart and Weber, of the carnival fruit committee, will this week mail a circular to every fruit-grower in the Second Oregon fruit district urging them to co-operate with the committee in "making such a fruit and vegetable display as has never before been made in the Northwest." The circular calls attention to the fact that the business men of The Dalles and vicinity are putting up $10,000 for the purpose of making a creditable exhibit of the various industries of Eastern Oregon, and that the state has also set apart $15,000 for this district, to be distributed among the producers as premiums, to be given to those who make the finest exhibit. The object of this effort, the committee adds, is not so much for personal aggrandizement as to show to the outside world that we have some of the choicest fruit and vegetable lands for the growing of varieties adapted to this climate. The value of our lands are not known to the people outside the state, only to a limited extent. The committee announces that all fruit placed on exhibition shall have the grower's name on it, with the name of the locality from which it came. Each sample will be placed to the credit of the exhibitor. It will be kept in good condition while here, and be at the disposal of the owner (at the close of the fair, who may donate it to the society, have it returned to him, or order it sold for his benefit.

It is not always a safe thing to count on beating the county assessor out of the dollar poll tax. A tonsorial artist of this city tried to do it the other day and the assessor, in order to avoid the trouble of a law suit, quietly hunted up the fellow's assessment blank and raised the assessment on the improvements on his homestead so as to compel him to pay the amount in the form of an ordinary tax and the poll tax besides. If the "artist" does not pay the tax to the sheriff that officer will take it out of his improvements and take it without saying "By your leave." Last year this same fellow abused Constable Jackson as if he were a dog when that officer asked him for his poll tax. Jackson brought suit, but the barber went before the recorder and pleaded poverty and was excused. It is time that some one should come to the defence of those whose unpleasant duty it is to collect this tax. The assessor or tax collector should not be made the butt of ridicule and abuse because he attempts to perform a duty that the law imposes upon him and one, moreover, he has sworn to perform. The protection of the law costs the government as much for a Dalles barber as it does for a Dalles millionaire, and the man who refuses to pay a paltry poll tax is either an unworthy citizen or he has a low and unworthy conception of the duty and dignity of American citizenship.

Building Operations.

There is considerable building going on at present in this city of a class of dwellings of which there has long been a scarcity; that is to say buildings renting from $15 to $18 or $20 a month. Dr. Siddall has four handsome cottages of this class in course of erection on the southeast corner of Fourth and Federal streets. These buildings will be fitted up with all modern improvements. F. H. Wakefield has nearing completion another handsome eight-room building of a similar class on Fulton street, east of the Joles residence. Work has commenced on the foundation of a one and a half story, eight-room dwelling for Sam Wilkinson on Fourth street. Mat Randall has nearing completion, on the site of his old home on the bluff, a fine two-story, seven-room residence, with modern appointments.

A handsome five-room cottage has just been finished for A. C. Rice near the head of the brewery grade. Work on the foundation of a handsome cottage for W. A. Johnston has commenced at the southwest corner of Fourth and Laughlin. Fred Welan has had his residence on the bluff, near the Hans Hansen place, entirely remodeled and added to so as to make it, practically, a new building.

In addition to these and others that might be mentioned, builders inform us that they are figuring on quite a number of other new residences that will be built before the snow flies. And yet, as real estate men tell us, there is hardly a vacant residence in the city, and when there is one there are twenty applicants for it.

Still Improving Rapidly.

A dispatch forwarded at 9 o'clock, Buffalo time, this morning says:

The president rested comfortably all night. He received decided benefit from the dressing of the wound last evening. His stomach tolerates beef juice well and it is taken with great satisfaction. His condition this morning is excellent. Pulse, 116; temperature, 100.2.

Another dispatch forwarded at 3:30, Buffalo time, says: The president continues to gain, the wound becoming more healthy. The nourishment taken into the stomach is being gradually increased. Pulse, 120; temperature, 100.2.
