WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Vote for queen tonight.
Don't forget Professor Sandvig's dance tonight at the Baldwin.
Ready-to-wear suit hats, just the thing for carnival at The Leader. 21-25
Millinery opening Sept. 26th, 27th and 28th at The Leader millinery store. 25
Miss Ida Ward was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, this afternoon.
The yellow journals have changed their hue a little during the last two weeks.
Don't forget the excursion to the Portland carnival on Bailey Gatzert Tuesday, Sept. 24th. 21-25
Wanted—To rent unfurnished house of seven or eight rooms, by October 1st. Address box 430. 21-24
Leave orders for piano tuning at Nickerson's store. A first-class tuner will be here all of next week. 21-23
The Calvinistic doctrine of total depravity will never be an exploded theory as long as there is an anarchist alive.
The new pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. W. Skipworth, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow morning and evening.
Excursion! Excursion to Portland on Bailey Gatzert, Tuesday, Sept. 24th. Don't forget the date. Tickets good for six days. 21-25
Next Monday is the anniversary of the Jewish feast of atonement and the Great Northern furniture store of this city will, in consequence, be closed all day.
Judge Mays, who has suffered for the past week from a severe attack of neuralgia, was somewhat better at noon today, and it is hoped is on the road to recovery.
Miss Hayes, of The Leader millinery store, announces her fall opening of French patterns and home-made hats Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26th, 27th and 28th. 21-25
The Hood River Glacier says: "The next Jensen has a plan to make the Hood River display of such attractions as The Dalles carnival. Frail people who intend to exhibit fruit should see him. Mr. Jensen is an artist in the line of decorating, and in this instance he will give his services gratis."

F. C. Fiedler and Mary Strouse, both from Utah, were united in marriage yesterday by Rev. W. B. Clifton. After their marriage the couple continued their journey to Portland.
Pease & Mays received this morning the material from which the queen's dress is to be made. The gown will be handsome, and its worth one's time to go and see the material before its turned over to the dressmaker.
Voting for queen of the carnival will close promptly at 9 o'clock tonight. All votes will be cast at Blakeley's drug store. Each half hour from 7 o'clock until 9 the result of the vote will be placed on a blackboard in the window.
Mrs. Wilson, of the Campbell & Wilson Millinery Parlors, has engaged the services of Miss Margaret Torgler, a first-class trimmer, a former employe of Hellers, of Portland, and is therefore prepared to meet the demands of the best trade, as well as the medium. Our styles are equal to the best, and our prices are as low as the lowest. 21a
Nine days more and the fair and carnival will be on us and everything indicates that the attendance will be the largest that ever met in The Dalles for any similar purpose. There is no mistaking the indications that the attractions will also exceed anything ever attempted here. This reminds us that it wouldn't hurt if we spread up a little, and try to have our surroundings as neat and clean as possible—have the town comb its hair and brush the dust off itself, as it were, so as to look our prettiest when the visitors arrive.
A Five-Mile rancher, who was today complaining that the coyotes had got away with from 100 to 200 of his chickens this year, was asked by Tux Oronozova if the operation of the scalp bounty law was having no effect on the vermin. The farmer's answer was: "There is not one coyote now where there was fifty before the bounty was paid. The good result of the scalp bounty law is very marked, and I am quite certain if the law is continued, as it ought to be, that in the course of a very few years more coyotes will be practically exterminated."
The farmers of Center Ridge have been visited by something like an epidemic among their young boys, says the Dalles Dispatch. South Hayes has lost about eighty head, and others of his neighbors have suffered losses in a lesser degree. The disease, or whatever it is, attacks only the younger animals, those of about six months of age and under, but does not seem to affect the older ones. The animal's first symptoms are a violent coughing, followed by a swelling of the throat, loss of flesh and finally death. The same seems to be unknown. Mr. J. H. Johnson, of Dalles, attributes it to dust inhaled by the animals when kept in droves or large numbers upon the dry uplands where water is scarce. He says that in 1894 he suffered similar losses among his hogs, and their symptoms were the same as those of the animals on Center Ridge this year.

There is a refreshing absence of anything offensive and an abundance of wholesome fun in the performance of Richards & Pringle's mammoth minstrel organization that is to be at the Vogt opera house Sept. 24th. This big attraction caters to the most refined patronage and furnishes hours of solid enjoyment without a suggestive utterance during the whole performance. Its fifty performers are selected from the best in the colored minstrel line, and every act presented is bright, brisk and original and sure to please the most critical. Be sure and see the magnificent street parade at 2:30 p. m.
Mrs. A. J. Brookhouse, of Ten Mile, who is 70 years of age, had the misfortune yesterday to fall from a plank walk at her residence and break her left leg about three inches below the knee. The accident is all the more unfortunate as following another accident five years ago when the old lady broke her right leg and hip and has ever since been unable to get around the house without the use of crutches. Dr. E. E. Ferguson, who is in attendance, reports that the afflicted lady is doing as well as could be expected, but for a long time she will be practically helpless.
A gentleman of this city makes the following complaint to Justice Brownhill: "This morning I found, back of the O. D. Taylor church, three boys who had a pigeon tied by a string to a rock. The boys were standing at a distance of ten yards or so and firing stones at the poor bird to see who could hit it. Failing to hit it two dogs were 'sicked' on it and one of them caught it in his mouth. I remonstrated with the boys and threatened to have them arrested. The boys 'assed' back and dared me to do as I pleased. I had no sooner taken the poor bird from the mouth of the dog than the boys started for the shed near by and got another, which they proceeded to treat in a manner similar to the first. Some ladies who saw the outrage remonstrated with the boys but to no effect. I want these young anarchists punished and I am willing to swear to a complaint." The matter was referred to the district attorney.
We understand that Hudson & Brownhill and W. H. (better known as Dad) Bette, of this city, have formed a partnership in the real estate business. Since Mr. Hudson's absence Mr. Brownhill has found that he could not do the real estate business justice, his time being wholly taken up with the double work in the office. Dad Bette's business has materially increased in the last few months, and he was very much in need of some one to do his office work, and willing in the attempt to secure a well-qualified widow, who had been making "go no ops" at him, he very wisely concluded to join forces with Hudson & Brownhill. We are glad to see such a business made. Dad Bette is well and favorable known, is a realtor and has helped to build up The Dalles in no inconsiderable way, while the firm of Hudson & Brownhill, in existence only a little over a year past, have done more business than is usually given to one firm. Success to them.

A kindly Christian farmer of the Eight Mile neighborhood has been experimenting with The Dalles traps with results that, up to date, are not so satisfactory as they might be. Two weeks ago, or thereabouts, he took one of them out to the ranch and filled him up with good, honest country grub. At bed time the rancher showed the tramp to a nice, comfortable room, but the tramp asked, as a special favor, that as the nights were warm he be given a pair of blankets and permitted to sleep in the barn. The request was granted, of course, and that was the last seen of either the tramp or the blankets. Not discouraged, the same rancher took out with him last Saturday another tramp, filled him up with grub and put him in his little bed; took him with him in the family carriage to church Sunday and treated him altogether as a man and brother. Everything went lovely till Monday morning, after breakfast, mind you, when the tramp suddenly complained of a violent headache and excused himself from work while he visited The Dalles and consulted a physician. The tramp is still consulting the physician, so far as our philanthropic farmer is concerned.

The morning subject will be "An Anarchistic Statement, or Should One Die for the Many?" Evening, "A Word Touching the Matter of Personal Liberty." At the morning service the annual collection will be taken up for the Church Building Society.
An Extensive Sheep Deal.
James T. Cooper returned last Saturday from The Dalles, where he, in partnership with D. M. French & Co., Benfer Bros. and J. B. Fish, organized a joint stock company for investment in the sheep business. Each of the parties concerned will have a fourth interest in the company, which expects to have a $30,000 or $40,000 sheep business. Mr. Cooper will have entire charge of the sheep. This is quite an extensive deal, and from the returns secured at present from sheep, the projectors should realize a handsome profit on their investment.
During the summer Mr. Cooper has been in the mountains northeast of Mt. Hood with his band of 1360 young sheep. He will return later in the season to Sherman county, where he will put his flock on the winter range. Mr. Cooper says with good management there is money in sheep. A ewe, with her crop of wool, produces an income of $5.50 a year.—Hood River Glacier.
