Notice to Queen.

Miss Melvin Dawson was elected queen of the carnival Saturday night by the respectable vote of 8893 against 8728 for Miss Mary McIneray, 4082 for Miss Edie Fisher and 539 for Miss Landon. The real contest for this honor lasted only a little over half an hour. The voting closed at 9 o'clock, and it was close to 9:30 before the vote changed materially from that reported in The Chronicle for the contestants that stood out to the last; that is to say, Miss Landon 382, Melvin Dawson 355, Edie Fisher 823 and Mary McIneray 29. When the voting began it began in earnest. At one clatter 4000 votes were cast for Miss Fisher. This was followed by 4400 for Miss McIneray, and these were met by 5500 votes for Miss Dawson. The voting was, of course, done in the best of good nature and the result left no sore anywhere. Any one of the contestants would have made a charming queen, at whose throne the vicinants of the carnival would have been proud to bend the knee.

The victor in this good-natured contest is well worthy of the honor. She is a young lady of charming manner and presence, and one who will do honor to the position to which she has been called by the votes of her admirers.

The financial result of this contest is peculiarly gratifying to the queen committee. It figures up in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars, whereas at one time the ladies of the committee feared they would hardly realize enough to buy the queen her robes.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of The Dalles street carnival at the parlors of the commercial club at 8 o'clock this evening. The chairman of each committee is urgently requested to be present.

Dr. R. J. Pillsbury, late of Astoria, has opened an office at Astoria. The doctor is a worthy man and a skilled physician, and his Wasco county friends will always be glad to know of his proximity and nation.

John Peterson, an employe of Sanford

Bros., and a former resident of Astoria, was brought to The Dalles Hospital Saturday night, suffering from a fracture of the left leg below the knee, incurred by the breaking of an anchor line at one of the fishing stations.

The Christian Adventist camp meeting on the old fair grounds opened Saturday night with a fair attendance. Some four ministers are in attendance and the meetings will be continued all week at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with Bible readings at 3:30 p. m.

Lucas, of the committee of accommodation of the fair and carnival, desire that all persons who have rooms to rent during the carnival will please report same without delay to any member of the committee. e23-3t

The Astoria News tells of a fisherman who arrived there the other day with pockets filled with coin and abdominal cavity filled with "benzine." He wanted to send some money home, so "stopping with his companions in front of the Occident he pulled out a twenty dollar gold piece and dropped it in the box for the folks at home."

Mr. C. R. Doyle reports that he recently saw, at the bridge above his place on Eight Mile, a yearling steer with some kind of a can fastened to its lower jaw that would necessarily prevent it from eating. The animal was branded with a triangle. Mr. Doyle tried to catch it so as to relieve it of the can, but failed for want of a rope.

County Clerk Lake and Deputy Jim Bolton are everlastingly anxious to secure a couple who will agree to be publicly married on the closing day of the carnival. They promise that everything will be free—license, service of a preacher and all, besides enough furniture to set up housekeeping, and enough grub to last till the honeymoon is over.

J. H. Phirman, of this city, and Sam Hodges, of Prineville, arrived in town yesterday with 264 head of cattle, pairs of 638 head recently purchased by the Columbia Packing Company, of this city, from Grant Mays, Abe H. Ackleman, Jess Yancey and Alex Davenport, of Crook county. The cattle are a mixed lot of cows and steers and the price paid for them is said to be 3 1/2 cents a pound, gross.

Studebaker Bros., the well-known wagon manufacturers, have offered the Dalles carnival committee the use of the carriage and harness that was prepared for the use of President McKinley at the time of his proposed visit to Portland last summer. The carriage was used at the late Astoria regatta and was occupied in the parade by the queen and her immediate attendants. The offer will no doubt be accepted and the carriage placed at the disposal of Queen Melvin.

Richard & Fringle's famous Georgia Minstrels appeared at the new Grand opera house last night before a packed house and gave a meritorious and amusing performance. The specialties were good, and the troupe, as a whole, became quite popular before the curtain dropped on the last number of the really good program. The Alabama Quartet especially became a favorite, and was heartily cheered by the audience, as were the Housley brothers.—Salem Statesman. At the Vogt tomorrow night, Sept. 24th.

This morning between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock thieves forced the Union street door of the M. Curran saloon and smashing the money drawer, got away with its contents, which, fortunately, amounted to only two or three dollars in nickels and dimes. Besides the small change they abstracted four bottles of whiskey and consumed about two-thirds of a bottle of brandy on the spot, leaving the balance in the bottle. If anything more was taken it has not been missed. The thieves were evidently not thoroughbred, for in an open drawer back of the bar were two gold watches and a revolver, and in another place, known only to Mr. Curran, $90 in currency, which were left untouched. It is a safe bet that there will be no more currency nor gold watches left around loose in Curran's saloon in the future.

Rev. Walton Shipworth, the newly appointed pastor of the M. E. church, occupied his pulpit yesterday morning and evening. He was greeted by a good sized audience at both services. His morning sermon was upon the text "If any man serve me, let him follow me, and where I am there shall also my servant be. If any man serve me, him will my father honor. The text for the evening was, "And another also said, 'Lord, I will follow thee; but let me first go bid them farewell which are at home at my house.' And Jesus said unto him, 'No man having put his hand to the plough and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God.'" From these two texts he forcefully presented the need, the privilege, the glorious results of following Christ. His style is serious, positive, dignified; his arguments clear, convincing, conclusive; his diction refined, scholarly, expressive, copious; his manner attractive, earnest, intense, yet without rant. At the very commencement of his discourse he so fully impresses his hearers with the importance of his message as to command thoughtful attention and interest; nor do these flag until the concluding amen. Judging from yesterday this church may expect a pleasant and profitable year. The choir were all present and added much to the attractiveness of the occasion by their well selected and well rendered anthems.

Mrs. Wilson, of the Campbell & Wilson Millinery Parlors, has engaged the services of Miss Margaret Targler, a first-class trimmer, a former employe of Hailers, of Portland, and is themselves prepared to meet the demands of the hat trade, as well as the medium. Our styles are equal to the best, and our prices are as low as the lowest. 21c

A Plan for Clean Streets.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

I Notice in your issue Saturday a hint regarding the necessity for a general clean-up previous to our carnival. If there is one thing which should cause our citizens to feel ashamed of our little city as visitors roam about its streets, it is the utter disregard of cleanliness in this regard. This is due largely to individual carelessness. When it becomes a matter of individual pride with our business men and residents in general to keep the sidewalks, alleys and doorways about their premises clean and orderly, then will our city assume a better appearance.

Will you not urge your readers to see to it that the scraps of paper, old shoes, boxes, boards and what not, are removed from around their places of abode before our city is filled with visitors, who might justly go away remarking, "what a dirty little place The Dalles is!"

AN OBSERVER.

Mineral Exhibit at Carnival.

Headon not later than Saturday, Sept. 28th. All specimens or mineral curios will be well taken care of and returned at close of the carnival. By request of committee on mineral exhibit. e23-3t
