

THE OREGONIAN SLANDERED.

The Oregonian has been most unjustly branded as a "yellow" journal. That paper has its faults but the "yellows" is in no sense one of them.

"The nameless wretch who committed the act that cost this nation the life of the foremost man of his time is a mere incident, a virulent pustule in that loathsome skin disease called anarchy, which afflicts our body politic, and that disease demands and will receive vigorous constitutional treatment."

Medical statistics show that a large proportion of gunshot wounds of the stomach are fatal. In the International Encyclopedia of Surgery is cited as noting only one case of recovery in 3,000 gunshot wounds of the stomach.

Among the friends of President Roosevelt there is a feeling that he has started well. He has reassured the country. He has given notice to the world that there are to be no disturbances of the friendly relations which exist between our government and other nations.

The name of the assassin of President McKinley is said to be derived from a Polish verb which, used as a noun, means a crawling thing such as a snake in the grass. The name certainly seems to fit.

The government now has about $380,000 of the funds embezzled by former Captain Oberlin M. Carter, and the chances are that more may be recovered before the captain has ceased to insist that he is not guilty.
