SENTENCED TO DEATH

Czolgosz Will Be Executed Week Beginning October 28th—Assassin Hears His Doom Without Show of Emotion.

BUFFALO, Sept. 26.—Czolgosz was sentenced to be electrocuted in the week beginning October 28, 1901. According to the law of this state, October 28th is the earliest date that could be fixed for the execution.

BUFFALO, Sept. 26.—The police arrangements at the city hall, where Leon F. Czolgosz was to receive his sentence this afternoon for the murder of President McKinley, were even more stringent than during the trial of the assassin. Half an hour before the time announced for the opening of the court the court-room was filled and the doors locked. After 1:30 no one but officials connected with the court or newspaper men were allowed to enter. About twenty-five of the 150 spectators were women.

At 2:05 o'clock the prisoner was brought into court shackled to Detectives Geary and Solomon, accompanied by Assistant Superintendent Owsick and Jailer Mitchell. Czolgosz was perspiring and seemed nervous, though he did not tremble and his gait was steady. Czolgosz took his seat and mopped his brow with his handkerchief. When he settled back in his chair and his wonted listless attitude was absent. He kept his eyes wide open and looked about him occasionally, but presently he dropped his eyes to the table ahead of him and assumed his former listless air. The strain on him was intense, evidently, as was attested by the few sighs and heaving of the chest.

At 2:12 Justice White took his seat on the bench and the orator announced the opening of the court.

"Czolgosz, stand up," demanded District Attorney Penney of the prisoner. The assassin rose.

"What is your name?" asked Mr. Penney.

"Leon F. Czolgosz."

"How old are you?"

"Twenty-eight years."

"Where were you born?"

"Detroit."

"Where were you living when arrested?"

"Cleveland."

"What is your occupation?"

"Ironworker."

"Are you married or single?"

"Single."

"What degree of education have you received?"

No reply.

"What schools have you attended?"

"Public and church schools."

"Are you temperate or intemperate?"

"Temperate."

"Have you ever before been convicted of any crime?"

"No."

"Are your father and mother alive?"

"My father is alive. My mother is dead."

Czolgosz' replies were so low that he could not be heard five feet away.

"Have you any legal excuse why sentence should not be pronounced against you?"

Czolgosz could not or pretended he could not hear the question put by the clerk. It was repeated to him twice, and then he said something in an inaudible tone.

The judge intervened and explained what was meant by the question. "First, you may claim you are insane. Do you next is, have you good cause to offer against sentence being pronounced against you?" The judge also stated legal reasons the prisoner might have against sentence being pronounced.

"I have nothing to say about that," was the reply.

Judge Titus asked that the prisoner be allowed to say something in explanation of his crime.

The prisoner began to speak. His voice was so low he could scarcely be heard. Judge Titus was obliged to stop it. Sentence by the court, so that the court might hear.

"I have nothing to say," whispered

Czolgosz to his counsel.

Judge Titus—I think he ought to be permitted to make a statement in explanation of his family.

Turning to his prisoner again Judge Titus held a brief conference.

Turning to the court, counsel for the defendant said: "He says no other person had anything to do with it; that no other person knew of his commission but himself. His father or mother or no one else knew anything about it."

The prisoner closed his lips, stared straight ahead of him, and awaited the court's pronouncement of his doom. The sentence was brief.

"Czolgosz," said the court, "you have committed a grave crime against the state and our Union in the assassination of our beloved president. After learning all the facts and circumstances in the case, twelve good men have pronounced you guilty of murder in the first degree. You say that no other person abetted you in the commission of this terrible act. The penalty is fixed by statute, and it becomes my duty to impose sentence upon you. The sentence of this court is that in the week beginning October 28th, at the place designated, and in the manner prescribed by law, you suffer the punishment of death."

Czolgosz stood erect, looking straight at the judge. He did not tremble; not a muscle quivered. As soon as the death sentence was finished he took his seat in the same indifferent manner that has characterized him throughout the trial. He was brought to his feet quickly by the officers at 2:30. They shackled him and led him away to the jail, while the crowd surged after him, and the officers had to force a passage for the assassin from the courtroom.

Though emotion and satisfaction was written on every face in court, there was no applause and no demonstration of any kind on the part of the spectators.

Tunnel Under the Sea.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Earl of Rosebery recently delivered a speech at Stranraer, Wigtonshire, Scotland, at the presentation to him of the freedom of the town. Commenting on the possibility of a tunnel between Ireland and the mainland of the United Kingdom, with a terminus at Stranraer, Lord Rosebery quoted Beaconsfield's saying that the cure of Ireland was that it possessed a damp climate and was surrounded by a melancholy ocean. The speaker said he was inclined to think that there might one day be a government bold enough to face the problem and consider whether $3,000,000 might not be well used in the construction of such a tunnel. Anyhow, the amount spent in this way, would not equal the cost in two months of the melancholy war still dragging on in South Africa.

Murdered Their Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Mail from the Philippines received at the war department recites the trial of four natives on a charge of murdering American prisoners. They were a part of the insurgent guard of two American prisoners, George E. Sullivan and Private James L. Husket, Twenty-ninth Volunteer Infantry. Their commanding officer, a lieutenant of insurgents, issued an order that when the corporal of the guard, who was marching in front of the prisoners, should lift his hat, the insurgents behind the Americans should take it as a signal for the bayoneting of the prisoners. The brutal programme was carried out to the letter. General Chaffee set aside their sentences of death and set them at liberty, on the ground that they were compelled to obey orders. The insurgent lieutenant who ordered the Americans put to death is now awaiting the execution of the sentence of death.

Roosevelt Has Changed.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—"President Roosevelt is a different man than he was a few weeks ago," said Senator Hanna to a reporter. "He has always been honest in purpose, strong in action and true to his own and to republican principles. The new and great responsibilities that have been so suddenly thrust upon his shoulders have given him equanimity and conservatism. These responsibilities have rounded out his character. I believe that he will live up to the expectations of his dearest friends."
