

A YELLOW KID DEFENDER.

The eminently generous, broad-minded and wholly non-partisan Times-Mountaineer is tearing passion to tatters these days because THE CHRONICLE, in company with a host of other narrow-minded partisan sheets, has most wickedly denounced such pure and truthful religious journals as the San Francisco Examiner, the New York Journal and the Chicago American, because of alleged bitter and unjustifiable attacks on the dead president.

THE CHRONICLE has no desire to adopt this style of rhetoric, and only refers to it in order to ask the editor of the Times-Mountaineer what he thinks of the following extracts from former editions of the New York Journal as given on the authority of the New York Sun:

McKinley's fat, white hand has tossed to the starving American peasant the answer out of the White House window, "A trust can do no wrong."

Has assassination ever changed the world's history? We invite our readers to think over the question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The bullet that pierced Gobel's chest cannot be found in all the West; good reason. It is speeding here to stretch McKinley on his bier.

And when the editor of the Times-Mountaineer has written a defense of these extracts and proved they are wise and proper and justifiable, and entirely warranted in the premises, then we shall be pleased to have him answer the following questions which the San Francisco Examiner recently put to the San Francisco Examiner, but which, for obvious reasons, the Examiner is unable to answer satisfactorily to itself.

"Did you not lie," asks the Call, "when you said the president was 'an obedient jellyfish'—'an abject, weak, futile, incompetent poltroon' Did you not lie when you said 'McKinley and the Wall-street cabinet are ready to surrender every particle of national honor and dignity' Was it not a lie when you said of the Philippines and Porto Rico: 'William McKinley is ruling them with an arbitrary disregard of law that George III never dared to exhibit in America' Did you not lie when you said: 'And McKinley—bar one girthy Princeton person, who came to be no more, no less, than a living crime in breeches—is, therefore, the most despised and hated creature in the hemisphere. His name is hooted; his figure burned in effigy?'"

These are samples of the kind of journalism—not legitimate criticism of the acts of our public servants which when timely done is a public duty—that the "pulpit orators and crank politicians" condemn as "degrading journalism to the slums, and for liberty substituting the prostituted license of slander, malice, vice and crime;" and "may God have mercy on the miserable creature that thinks otherwise!"

The Albany Democrat is mistaken when it says that Eastern Oregon "papers" are pressing the claims of Judge Stephen A. Lowell and W. J. Fornish for the republican nomination for governor. One republican paper in the home of these gentlemen favors one of the candidates. The majority of the rest of the Eastern Oregon papers that have anything to say on the question are not dead streak on either of the candidates and have small hope, and very little desire, that either of them shall win the nomination. Pendleton had only three candidates for governor at last accounts.

The Yellow Kids.
