

Seeing's Believing...

If you know how really good these Pease & Mays' H. S. & M. Suits and overcoats are, the honesty of fabrics, the correctness of style, the thoroughness of tailoring, you'd never wear any other clothes.

Is the woman who comes down the street with a trim-fitting pair of street boots, made on a stylish last. Her tread is firm and solid, because the soles extend and are broad on the bottom. She is indeed a sensible woman. Her calf, via kid, all sizes and widths; some with extension soles and rope stitch, the typical mannish shoes, so stylish and sensible.

TREASURER'S NOTICE.

All Waco County warrants registered prior to December 3, 1898, will be paid on presentation at my office. Interest runs after September 13, 1891. JOHN F. HANFORD, County Treasurer.

Backward, turn backward on Time in thy flight. Bring us old scenes again, just for tonight. All right, you be at the booth of the Regulator Line tonight and I'll remind you of the "days of Auld Lang Syne."

WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

Go to the Umatilla House bar for the original, Amber Cocktail and the only original Carnival Lemonade. 1-4t

Free to everybody—A demonstration of shredded whole wheat biscuit, the balance of the week at Mays & Crowe's store. 2c-3t

Patrick Redigan, of Antelope, a native of the Emerald Isle, was today admitted to American citizenship before Judge Bradshaw.

The ladies of the M. E. church will have a sale of bread, pumpkin pie and all kinds of cakes at Cross' grocery store next Saturday. 1-4

Mrs. Janet Stewart, of Dutch Flat, has traded her ranch to J. W. Dillinger, taking in part payment the Dillinger residence and lots east of the old fair ground, where Mrs. Stewart will make her future home.

The weather bureau's forecast for today indicated gathering clouds, and for tomorrow occasional showers. Meanwhile the barometer, as if it hadn't a bit of respect for the weather bureau, is steadily rising.

The infant son of Rev. and Mrs. Robt. Warner died yesterday afternoon at their home on Tenth street. The little one, although almost a year old, has been an invalid since birth. The remains were taken to North Yakima today for burial.

One of the most remarkable and beautiful specimens of petrification you ever saw in your life is a lump of petrified wood that is on exhibition in the mineral booth of the state fair. It belongs to Mrs. Charles Corum, of this city, and was found in Northern California.

The attendance at the fair yesterday is nearly up to the high mark that was formed at the opening, although it is the general belief that the attendance will not reach its maximum until tomorrow. The fact that the majority get a large proportion of the gross receipts than they did last year makes it tolerably certain that the fair will be a success financially as it surely is in every other way.

In the future, till the end of the fair, free admission will be had daily until 7:30 each evening to the inclosure containing the merry-go-round from Federal street back of Mays & Crowe's tin shops. After that hour admission will only be had through the main entrance.

Three hundred head of cattle, last spring's yearlings, were driven to this city Wednesday morning from the French & Gilman stock farm. This bunch of cattle has been purchased by Montana buyers. This fine lot of cattle brought $22.50 per head.—Hepner Gazette.

The Estley Gaiety started this morning for Portland on her thrice-a-week run with a fair number of passengers. The Dallas City started at the same time with 1000 sacks of Diamond Mills flour and 1000 sacks of wheat, besides an unusual number of prairie schooner emigrants.

"Fagan's bats" is one of the attractions of the poultry show. The "boys" claim they were brought here from the "ould dert" last year by the honored citizen whose name they bear. They are kept constantly under cover as the light of day is said to be injurious to their eyes.

The executive committee of the fair decided this morning to divide the band during the hours of the races, half of the members going to the race track and the remainder staying here. As the full band has twenty-five members, there will be abundance of good music at both places. The full band will, of course, always be here nights.

Following the usual custom, the management of the fair association request the merchants of The Dallas to close their places of business from 12:30 to 3 p. m. on "Dallas Day," Thursday, Oct. 3rd. Accordingly a petition was circulated today to that end and very generally signed by our business men.

It appears an impression has most unaccountably got a hold in some quarters that admission to the carnival grounds costs 25 cents for each person. This is not true and never was true. The admission is 10 cents and no more, and will be no more during the fair. The admission to the race track and grounds is 50 cents for postmen, ladies going in free.

The presentation to the queen of the carnival of the beautiful diamond ring that has been on exhibition for the past week in Jewelers Van Norden's window, is one of the attractions on the board tonight. The hour of the presentation could not be definitely named, but it is said to be at all the same time below the wedding, which is set for 9 o'clock.

In the report of the carnival funds, which our writer and printer made up two columns of it—12 less than two hours succeeding the event, Tex Orthonota omitted to mention the presence of The Dallas band. The omission was purely an oversight, and all the more provoking to the reporter because the band did remarkably good service and is fully entitled to honorable mention.

Uncle Amos Underwood, of White Salmon, who came to the city last evening informed us that the little daughter of Mr. Park, who is employed at Mr. Underwood's mine on McCoy creek, died of diphtheria a few days ago and was buried yesterday forenoon. On account of the heavy rains and snow in the mountain word could not be sent to the father about the child's sickness, and although the little one has been laid away, the father is still under the impression that she is alive and well. A messenger was sent yesterday to convey to him the sad news.

One of the great attractions of the fair tonight will be the wedding of a young couple at 9 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. J. M. Alexander, of The Dallas Christian church, on the band stand, where everybody can see it. Sherman county furnishes the bride and groom, and a lady who is no mean judge of beauty informs us that they are a very handsome young couple. A special committee of two spent a good part of the day securing wedding presents for them, the outfit now on exhibition in the grounds being reserved for the couple that are to get married Friday night.

One of the jockies named Clarence Miller, while exercising a horse on the track this morning, met with a serious and almost fatal accident. He was going at full speed when the horse stumbled and fell, throwing him heavily. He landed on his head and shoulders and it is remarkable that his neck was not broken. He was removed to a tent on the grounds and a physician summoned, who upon investigation found that no bones were broken and that he was suffering only from serious bruises and a bad shaking up, which will probably prevent him from doing any work during the present meetings.

The remains of the late George Moskus arrived here from Missoula, Mont., last night and the funeral took place from the undertaking rooms of Crandall & Bergant this morning at 10:30. From his brother, John, who accompanied the remains here, it is learned that the deceased came to his death by a locomotive coming into a car on which Mr. Moskus was making some temporary repairs about the trunk beam. The engine started of its own accord because of a defective throttle, notwithstanding that Mr. Moskus had taken the precaution, before he went under the car, to attach it to the engine and run the latter forty feet away from the car.

The attractions of the Midway this year are so much better than those of last year that it is hardly fair to compare them. In point of fact there isn't one of them that doesn't give its patrons the full worth of their money, and more.

The sight of Professor Rose diving from a pole 75 feet high, turning a complete somersault in the descent and diving into a tank of water three feet deep, is not only worth ten times the price of admission, it is the sight of a lifetime.

The same remarks will apply to Dandy, the high-diving dog. Two years ago in the salt palace in Salt Lake City, for three consecutive weeks, this beautiful animal every day dived afternoon and evening from a ladder 75 feet in height into a net. This sight itself is worth a dollar, let alone ten cents.

Then there is Luenette, the Mysterious Flying Lady, who flies through the air and performs most wonderful feats without any assistance. Another splendid attraction is the Old Plantation, consisting of fun on the Levee, Buck and Wing dancing and quaint Southern Melodies. Another is the Vaudeville show with La Belle Rose, the Premier Oriental Dancing Girl; Professor Schmidt, the hypnotist, and Professor Post, the anatomical wonder; a freak of nature; the most wonderfully developed human being in the world.

Besides these the Midway has the Bioscope, imported direct from London, England, showing the world-famous Passion Play, Sappho, Dixon-Palmer fights and other scenes intensely interesting.

Bosco, the Abyssinian snake-eater, eats 'em alive. Don't fail to see Bosco. Beautiful Ione, in poses plastique. A startling, beautiful effect. Illustrated songs.

The Indian Mummy, a remarkable freak of nature, and last, but not least, the celebrated Dr. M. H. Walker, professional palmist, associated with the celebrated Gypsy palmist.

All these attractions are open every afternoon and evening of the fair.

Information Wanted.

Information is wanted of Fred Mackie, who left his home in Portland for The Dallas on Sunday, 8th ult. Mackie is a boy of about 15 years, has red hair and prominent ears; wore a grey suit when he left home. The boy's relatives are anxious to know of his whereabouts and any information on the subject will be thankfully received at the Chronicle's office. So-10a-v
