WAYSIDE CLEANINGS.

The ladies of the Good Intent Society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Parkins Wednesday afternoon.

All persons having bills against the carnival or district fair will please present them to C. J. Crandall at his office before next Thursday.

Rev. Paul Kruger is quite ill at his home in this city of nervous prostration. He was taken ill on the road about a week ago while traveling for The Dallas nurseries, and had to be brought home.

The two bands of Wasco and Yakima Indians that formed a leading attraction at The Dallas carnival went to Portland Sunday, on the Bailey Gatzert, to repeat their war dances during the week for the amusement of the patrons of the Portland exposition.

The following story is not vouched for and is only given for what it is worth: While Ned Gates one day last week was down at the Regulator landing and was pointing out to a friend the good qualities of his dog, Willie, he threw a 50-cent piece into the river. Obediently Willie dove for the coin and brought up a two-pound sucker and 35 cents in change.

James Wynn, a farmer of the Mosier neighborhood, died at The Dallas Hospital last night of typhoid fever. The deceased was brought to the hospital a couple of weeks ago from Sherman county, where he had been working in the harvest field. He was a widower, aged 54, and leaves one child of tender years. The remains were taken to Mosier today for interment.

The Moss correspondent of the Wasco News says he is told that "Mr. James Stewart intends to throw his crop with a tread power thrasher. This machine will probably be as much of a certainty to the majority of Sherman county people as a harvest moon is in the clear sky. Frank Smith is to be general manager, and we expect that a special rearing agent would not be a bad investment with the rest of the class."

Mr. E. J. Collins received a telegram this morning from his old home in Rantoul, Illinois, announcing the sudden death at 4:30 o'clock of his sister, Mrs. Theodore B. Thompson. Mrs. Thompson had been dangerously ill a year ago and had undergone a critical surgical operation, from which, however, she had recovered, so that her death comes to her relatives at home as a great surprise and shock.

Ned Gates, the handsome assistant secretary of the carnival, has left at this office two odd kid gloves of the female persuasion, which he found on the table of the secretary's office, and which he thinks the owners must have forgotten in the bewilderment that naturally resulted from their coming into the presence of so much masculine beauty as Ned carries around with him at all times. One is of slate color and for the right hand; the other is cream colored and for the left hand.

Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu, of Boston, who now has episcopal supervision of the Methodist Episcopal conferences in the Pacific Northwest, and who will preach in the M. E. church tomorrow evening, is a striking personality, a commanding presence on the platform, a traveler of wide experience, a ripe scholar and an orator of great zeal and power. His Christian character and reputation are known in many lands. A rare opportunity is offered to the people of The Dallas in his visit to our city.

As there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the closed season for prairie chickens, we publish below the law on the subject, passed at the last session of the legislature: "It shall be unlawful in the county of Wasco, at any time between the fifteenth day of October of each year and the first day of August of the following year, or at any time when the ground is covered with snow sufficient for tracking, to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession, except for scientific breeding purposes, or to sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any prairie chickens."

A writer in a scientific periodical states that it is not generally known that fruit acids are germicidal. "The juice," he says, "of lemons and lemons is as deadly to cholera germs as corrosive sublimate or sulphur fumes or formaldehyde, or any other disinfectant. It is so powerful a germicide that if the juice of one lime or lemon be squeezed into a glass of water that has been standing for ten or fifteen minutes the water will be disinfectant. It makes little difference where the water has been obtained, or whether it has been boiled or filtered." As pure water is not always obtainable, this is worth remembering.

From a telephone message received here last night from District Attorney Dumb of Goldendale, it is learned that the holding of the superior court at Elkhart county in the case of George Jantz, who was found guilty of the murder of A. J. Warrick, has been adjourned by the Washington supreme court. The murder occurred over a year ago and was generally considered a very brutal and cold-blooded affair. Ferris has had the benefit of able counsel, who would have saved his neck if there had been any possible chance to do so. His only hope now lies in the clemency of Governor Rogers, and the governor's record contains little that will give the murderer or his friends any encouragement.

Next on the program of amusements in The Dallas will be the musical recital by Herr Schott at the Vogt Wednesday night. Comment is unnecessary; but upon his appearance in a musical in Portland recently, the Oregonian speaks of Herr Schott in the following manner: "A more splendid exhibition of vocal dramatic power has probably never before been heard in Portland. The audience—a highly cultured and critical one—was even more completely carried by storm than at his first recital of the series a week ago. The program was a most difficult one, making unusual demands upon the vocal powers and emotional energies of the singer, yet in such superb voice was he that he not only went through the heavy program with easy triumph, but actually doubled it with encores."

Public School Patriotic Society.

The pupils of the Goldendale public schools have organized a "Public School Patriotic Society," the objects of which will be inferred from the following resolutions which are published in the Goldendale papers and signed by a committee of five, consisting of two boys and three girls. These youngsters have the right idea and their example might be copied by others with great profit.

Whereas, We believe that the lack of proper discipline during the period when character is forming produces a low standard of morality; and

Whereas, We believe that the assassination of our late president, as well as all other high-handed lawlessness, is the result of a misconception of the principles of a free government; therefore, be it

Resolved, First, that we, the members of the Public School Patriotic Society, district No. 7, discontinue any and all disobeisance to the teachers and assistants; and second, that any unpardonably or any unkind-like act, by any member of our society, at school or elsewhere, will be sufficient grounds for expulsion from our order.

Andy Mac Giruch is Nick.

Andrew Keller is as proud as a peacock. After presenting Queen Melvia with the magnificent fruit cake that he had on exhibition at the fair, he received the following letter, which explains itself:

MR. ANDREW KELLER:
I am directed by her majesty, Queen Melvia, to extend to you her majesty's thanks for your most generous gift, and as a slight token of appreciation I beg to advise you that you have been appointed "A Royal Officer" to Her Majesty's court. By order
MELVIA REGINA,
Prime Minister.
AMES: Geo. C. BRADLEY,
Prime Minister.

Carnival a Great Success.

The carnival of 1901 is now only a fact in the history of The Dallas, but it is one that its promoters can look back upon with considerable gratification. The financial results cannot be known till all the bills are in and that will take several days' time, but in every other respect the carnival was a great success. The attendance was gratifyingly large, especially on Wednesday and Saturday, and the people from adjoining counties were as generous in their attendance, all things considered, as those near home. The booths of the merchants were greatly admired and the exhibits, especially those of fruits and vegetables, were a genuine surprise to persons from a distance. The writer talked with many who visited the present Portland exposition and they were unanimous in affirming that our fruit and vegetable exhibit was far ahead of Portland. In all matters that were designed to cater to those who sought lighter enjoyments the carnival executive committee were unparing in their expense. The first arrangements for Indian war dances fell through, but the dances had been announced and the committee never ceased their efforts till other satisfactory arrangements were made. The Midway attractions were much superior to those of last year and they had this negative excellence, at least; they were clean and decent. The music of the band was greatly admired and was alone worth all that it cost to see and hear everything to be seen and heard. As a result of these efforts of the committee the visitors went back to their homes feeling that they had had a good time and had gotten the full worth of their money. As one of them shouted to the writer yesterday as he boarded the train with fifty others from Sherman county: "Good bye, Mr. Editor. Say to your people that your fair was better than that at Portland and that we are all glad we came."
