WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Wanted—Ironers at The Dalles steam laundry.
The county board of equalization is in session this week at the assessor's office.
The Artisans are requested to meet at their hall tomorrow night promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be a regular meeting of the board of fire delegates tonight at 8 o'clock in the council chamber.

Thirty-nine deeds of right of way for the power line of the Wasco Warehouse Milling Company were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office.

G. W. Phelps, of Heppner, has been appointed by Judge Blakeley guardian of the estate of John H. Dunham and Cora Dunham, minor heirs of the estate of the late Chas. E. Dunham of this city.

The attention of those who dignified their desire to attend Herr Schott's recital by signing the paper presented a short time since, is called to the fact that seats are now on sale and in order to procure the best it will be necessary to attend to the matter at once.

As was expected by the people of Fossil, Dewey, the black horse formerly owned by Cos Barnard, won the quarter dash at The Dalles fair this week. This horse, which used to win all the scrub races in this part of the country, is now owned by Wm. Bullington, of Diamond Valley, son of P. C. Bullington, of Fossil.

While our people consider themselves fortunate in having an opportunity of hearing Herr Schott tomorrow evening, not the least among the pleasing features of the program to them will be the number of persons who had visited the Portland fair voluntarily testified that it was better than that of Portland. A well-known Portland commission man told one of us that the exhibit was the best he ever saw in his life. A well-known railroad official told another of us that he had seen all the fairs from Spokane to Portland, and at none of them was the exhibit at all equal to that of The Dalles. The testimony of a well-known drummer for an implement house was the same, and a gentleman who had just returned from Buffalo said the quality of the display would have done credit to the Pan-American exposition. And so it was with every body the committee came in contact with.

How as to quality, let us say that the editor of the Times-Montclair simply didn't know what he was talking about. While it is true that the committee made preparations for a large exhibit that there was, after all, the space occupied was larger than that of last year, which was probably larger than that of any previous year. Last year the space covered by the fruit and vegetable exhibit was about 320 square feet, while this year we made provision for 1100 square feet, and actually occupied 700 square feet. As there are apples enough in a four-layer box to cover six square feet of space, one who was not here can easily judge of the quantity of the exhibits.

We maintain that the exhibit was the greatest effort in its line ever put forth in The Dalles, that it was equal in quality to any former effort, with possibly one or two exceptions; while in quantity it was superior to anything ever made in this district.

Committee.

d) Die Thräne...
E. Schott.

Accompanist: Louise Sells and Ollie Schnecking.
