WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Herr Schott
 At the Vogt tonight.
 Program commences at 8:30.

Wanted—Ironers at The Dalles steam laundry.

Professor Sandvig will give a social dance at the Baldwin Saturday night. 3t
 Captain Ferrer, who formerly had charge of the Salvation Army work here, is in the city, and will conduct the meeting at the barracks tonight.

J. M. Benson, of Five Mile, has purchased the Fred Fisher residence on Alford avenue for $2,500. He and Mrs. Benson will move into it some time this fall.

L. A. Porter has purchased the grounds that his livery stable that was recently burned down occupied, and will erect a new stable as soon as it is possible to have the work done.

There is a vague rumor that outside parties are negotiating through a Portland real estate firm for the purchase of a desirable location near the center of the business part of the city on which to erect a first-class trixa hotel.

The wife of Mr. John Gibson, of this city, died this morning at the family residence after an illness of about a year of consumption. The deceased was in her 24th year. She leaves a husband and one child, a boy of 5 years. The remains were taken this afternoon to Portland for interment.

The assessment roll of Multnomah county for this year shows taxable property to the value of $46,500,000, as compared with $32,000,000 last year, or an increase of $14,500,000. It is probably unkind to remark that Portlanders have discovered that there is no state bond of equalization this year.

According to a Washington Dispatch the president, yesterday, settled the long controversy over the membership of the Oregon City land office by appointing George W. Biles, of Sheridan, as recommendation of Senator Mitchell. Senator Simon recommended and urged the appointment of Gen. A. Reed, of Clackamas county. Representative Tongue recommended J. B. Irvine, of Yamhill county. The appointee is at present postmaster at Sheridan.

Colonel W. F. Helm has on exhibition at N. Wheelton's office some remarkably beautiful fossils of a kind of shell fish that Professor Condon, who saw them, says existed some trifle of a million and a half years ago. The colonel found them near Sappes, close to the boundary line between Grant and Crook counties.

The Portland papers say that D. P. Thompson, ex-minister to Turkey and a well-known Oregon pioneer, is critically ill at his home in Portland. Two weeks ago Mr. Thompson started on a journey around the world but on account of delicate health was forced to abandon the trip and return home after he had reached Iowa on the overland trip to New York.

Budson, Brownhill & Butts yesterday sold Fred Fisher the J. P. McInerney lot on Washington street across the alley south of the William Mitchell residence. The consideration is said to be $1000. Mr. Fisher will, as soon as possible, commence the erection on his new acquisition of a two-story residence to cost in the neighborhood of $5000.

In the report of the premiums awarded for the poultry exhibits, published in the semi-weekly CHRONICLE of the 5th, the types read us that the first premium for Bronze Turkeys was awarded to C. A. Gibson and the second to Chas. J. Nicholson. The order ought to have been reversed, Mr. Nicholson having carried off the blue ribbon.

P. J. Stadlerman has let the contract to a Portland firm for the machinery for an ice plant to be established here this fall. It will have a capacity sufficient to meet all the demands of the city for years to come. The fact that the bulk of all the ice used in The Dalles for the past five years has had to be imported a great distance by rail has made the establishment of the plant a practical necessity.

Tonight will be your last opportunity to hear one whom such papers as the New York Sun and the World speak of as "the great Wagnerian tenor." The Vogt should hardly be able to contain the audience on this occasion. Not only for the pleasure which will be derived therefrom, but for the sake of the reputation of The Dalles as a city where the "best" is appreciated, do we hope to see the largest crowd gathered upon a similar occasion in the Vogt.

There is more activity at this time in the real estate market of The Dalles than there has been for the past six or eight years. Dad Butts, who has been in the real estate business for six years, says he has sold more property in and out of The Dalles during the past six months than he sold in all the rest of the time. He says there isn't a dwelling for rent that he knows of in town, and he could rent fifty houses within the next few weeks if he had them. It goes without saying that the price of real estate has palpably stiffened in correspondence with the increased demand.

Will wonders never cease? Cabbages weighing twenty pounds, potatoes three pounds, onions nearly as large, cauliflower five pounds, turnips, radishes, lettuce and peas that would put Mill Creek on the back seat. These are included in the Klondike exhibit and all raised around Dawson City. Alaska will be a garden spot yet. On October 15th the O. R. & N. will sell round trip tickets to the Portland exposition for $3.10, including two admissions to the exposition and good for return within six days.

The semi-annual report of the county clerk, which will be published in THE CHRONICLE by the end of the week, will probably be a surprise to a good many people. It will show that the amount of outstanding warrants and estimated accrued interest aggregates the sum of $119,568.62, while the resources, which comprise the amount due the county from tax sales for the years 1898, 1899 and 1900, is estimated at $2,000, leaving a net indebtedness of $117,568.62. Mr. Lake remarks that his statement shows a large excess of indebtedness over former reports by county clerks, but he feels certain, nevertheless, that it gives as correct a statement of the financial condition of the county as it is possible to make.

Orrin M. Sanford, of Pittsburg, has started a movement in favor of planting trees in memory of the late President McKinley next Arbor Day, and has written to a number of governors of states in regard to the matter. Governor Nash, of Ohio, replies that he will probably make such a recommendation in his Arbor Day proclamation. Governor McLean, of Connecticut, has referred the matter to the local press, and he is likely to also take action. Favorable replies have also been received from other governors, including New York, Kansas and North Dakota, and others are soon expected. A letter just received from George E. Cortelyou indicates that the matter has been laid before the president for his consideration, which is likely to be favorable, in view of his attitude in reforestation.

Henry E. Doeh, who has charge of the Oregon exhibits at the Pan-American exposition, writes to the Oregonian explaining the circumstances which led up to his obtaining for the Oregon exhibit of world's highest award and a gold medal to The Dalles Scouring Mills for the finest exhibit of graded covered woods on exhibition. Mr. Doeh had tried since his arrival in Buffalo to get Oregon wool men interested in a wool exhibit, but without success. In his extremity he used the exhibit lot over from the World's Fair, which was, happily, available. Added to the exhibit were three bales of second wool from The Dalles mills. "Alongside of us," says Mr. Doeh, "was Chile, with some fifty bales, most of which were ured six to seven feet long; the Argentine Republic, with its immense wool exhibit; Missouri, New York, and many other fine exhibits, and Oregon with only a handful, so to speak. But here again quality and not quantity won the day. The judges repeatedly came back to our exhibit to re-examine it, and finally said to me: 'Notwithstanding you have no fleeces according to the rules, your wools are so fine and of such superior quality that we have decided to give you the highest award for a collective exhibit.' This certainly was a generous thing to do, and was decidedly gratifying to us. The judges also said: 'We shall recommend a gold medal for your scoured wool, which is the cleanest, whitest and finest we ever saw.' "
