The Dalles Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY - - - NOV. 2, 1901

The Idaho Wool Growers' association has determined to test the validity of the law prohibiting the taking of sheep within two miles of a farmhouse or residence. Members of the association believe it is unconstitutional and they will have the matter finally determined,

The politicians of Multnomah or Marion county, either, are ready to ing sections. It will probably, theresupply a man for every state office fore, happen that the Mitchell vote, aland then some. Now, boys, be though divided, will when centered liberal. If you can't be liberal out upon one man-a consummation not of your own hearts, then it will be necessary for Eastern Oregon to give you a few examples of selfishness .- Pendleton Tribune.

The Times-Mountaineer advocates the election of the editor-in chief of the Oregonian for United States senator, to succeed Joe Simon. That settles it. We did have some hope that Simon's toga might make a thumbstall for Mr. Scott. Now, alas, the hope is dashed for ever. Our contemporary has the fatuity of always being on the losing side.

The Everett Herald says facetiously: "Senator John A. Jones, of Nevada, has forsaken free silver and formally returned to the republican dead, the enormous output of gold card and employing union barbers. baving solved the problem. And Mr. Bryan is thus called upon to draw his blue pencil through another name on the 16 to 1 roll of honor. realize the feeling of the school-book boy hero who stood on the burning deck."

The Official Gazette denies that King Edward is troubled with cancer or that specialists were in consultation about him while he was in Denmark. The Medical Press says papillomateus growths have been removed from his majesty's vocal cords on three occasions, and that another operation of another nature has been necessary. A word from the king would settle all this discussion about his health, but somehow or other it is not kingly to give out such information.

Uncertain Tendencies in Politics,

A prominent La Grande politician, who recently returned from Western Uregon, was heard today to make a few ing the governorship in particular.

The thing most easily discovered at present in Oregon politics, said he, is that none of the politicians understand the tendencies, or if they do they are not sufficiently sure of their footing to be pushing vigorously forward. As it concerns the governorship the situation is particularly complicated, and one of the fountain heads of Oregon politics 18 fragrant, cheap, there's no ealve on giving off nothing to simplify matters. Senator Mitchell has absolutely nothing Only 25c at G. C. Blakeley's drug store. 4 to say. He will, he says, remain in the state about three weeks longer and in that time will have done nothing to advance the interests of any gubernatorial candidate. He is out of it.

Phil Metschan, according to our informant, is out of it in another sense. The cases now in the courts against him will make it impossible for him to become a candidate. But in his stead Judge Cake, of Portland, looms upon the horizon. If he stands for the nomination he will, it is believed, carry the Multnomah delegation in his vest pocket. He is what is known as a Mitchell candidate. There are three others, which may account for the senator's willingness to view the fight from afar. Of Booth, of Southern Oregon, the La Grande man had little to say. But Furnish and Lowell are right in the forefront as far as the discussion has gone. Lowell had a strong following among both grand divisions until it began to be known that Geer was the Simon candidate, and the Dolph incident was dragged in at Lowell's expense. He still has good support in both factions, but must look for his main assistance from the Mitchell men. His chances are yet posing faction. He now frankly asks for the support of the Mitchell men. This he will receive to a large extent, and without any opposition, indeed with some assistance from the Simon forces. He will be a strong factor in the convention if he takes with him the support of the Umatilia delegation.

Furnish will draw from both Simon and Mitchell men, as the factions are known, without the handlesp under which Lowell runs. Furnish has always been a personal friend of Mr. Cos-bett without having antegon'sed the op-Falk's P. O. Pharmacy.

From this resume it would seem that the Mitchell force are divided, while the Simon forces are centered upon Geer, which would appear to give Geer the advantage. This advantage, the La Grande politician thinks, is only apparent. The Geer forces are united, but lukewarm. The lukewarmness may easily develope into opposition in outlyhard to attain in the convention-easily elect him .- La Grande Chronicle.
