The sofa cushion which has been on display in Blakeley's window, will be raffled off at that place this evening at 8 o'clock.
Lost—A small tablet containing accounts for the month of October. Finder will please return to Mat Schoren's blacksmith shop.
At a meeting held yesterday by the pastors of the Methodist, Christian, Congregational and Baptist churches it was decided to hold union Thanksgiving services at the Baptist church. Further announcements will be made at a later date.
For the second time in seventeen years the position filled by Tom Kelly in the Umatilla House was filled by another person. Mr. Kelly was taken sick yesterday and was forced to lay off during the afternoon; but [was well enough this morning to resume work.
Justice Brownhill returned from a business trip to Sherman county yesterday, and states that he is agreeably surprised to note the rapid growth of the Sherman county towns. Since the construction of the railroad, buildings for the dozens have been erected and are in course of erection, and business is rushing in from Wasco and Grass Valley.
A telephone message was received in the city this morning that G. D. Hire, of Five Mile, was taken suddenly ill and Dr. Doane was summoned to attend to him. Instructions were also sent to send him on home immediately as hopes of his recovery were not entertained.

Dr. Doane returned about noon-time and reported that Mr. Hire was not dangerously ill and would pull through all right.
The members of Wasco Lodge, No. 15, A. F. & A. M., and visiting brethren will go to Hood River on Monday evening to take part in the dedication of the new Masonic hall in that place. They will leave the Regulator dock at 6 o'clock that evening on the steamer Reliance and will return home after the dedication services. All members are requested by Secretary Doane to beat the dock shortly before the appointed hour for leaving.
On account of the report that has got circulated in Goldendale in some way, to the effect that there were seventy-five cases of diphtheria in the Dalles, the players in the Goldendale academy team were not in favor of The Dalles high school players going to their town and the game has been called off. It is likely that it may be arranged at a later date when the Goldendale people get over the uncalculated-for diphtheria scare.
John Davin, who runs 10,000 head of sheep in the great Ochoco country, is in Portland leasing land from Colonel R. W. Mitchell, of the Willamette Valley & Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Company. Mr. Davin says that the wool industry in eastern Crook county has grown wonderfully and is still growing. He favors the leasing of the public ranges by the government and thinks that such a system would be of great advantage to the stockmen.
The wheat market is reported somewhat stronger today than for the past two weeks and more anxiety is shown by the buyers to secure grain than was a week ago. The warehouses are offering 51 cents for club, while 52 cents is being paid for wheat delivered at the Galtzer dock. Nearly all the wheat crop has already been sold, and it is not likely that the producers have lost much by selling at 50 cents, as the prospects for a considerable raise is poor.
"Hunting for Hawkins," the new farce comedy, which will be seen at the Vogt opera house Thursday, Nov. 14th, seems to have much to commend it to playgoers. It has been very favorably criticized by the press, and is said to be a cleverly-written play with an interesting plot, brimful of bright, humorous dialogues, breezy action, laughable situations and an abundance of new music, popular songs, clever dances and various other pleasing vaudeville features.
A meeting of the Forest Reserve Association was held at Dufur yesterday and was largely attended by stockmen from all over the country. W. H. H. Dufur addressed the meeting and dwelt at length on the proposed bill to sell to individuals not holding over 100 acres of government land a quarter section of reserve land without reasonable taxation, and in his speech strongly opposed the measure, stating that it would only give an opportunity for wealthy speculators and capitalists to monopolize the forest reserve as has heretofore been done with government lands. A. J. Dufur and others also made speeches before the meeting. A grand ball was held in the evening under the auspices of the association.

Since Manager Patterson has refused to assume the management of The Dalles football team, much talk is indulged in in football circles as to who will assume the responsibility. John Cooper is spoken of for captain, while Belden H. Grant seems to be the choice of the boys for manager. With a little substantial assistance on the part of the business men and with such men at the head of the organization, our Dalles team will take a front place in the Oregon league.
A woman by the name of Pauline Dinsmore was arrested by Nightwatchman Paulsen last night for being drunk and disorderly and today is lodged in the city jail in order that she may have a chance to recover from her indisposition, when she will be given an opportunity to move out of town. She is evidently a bad actor and there are several others of the same stamp who the officials have their eyes on at present, who will be given like treatment on the slightest provocation. It would be well for them to take warning and leave before they get into the hands of the law.
Some time next week a meeting of The Dalles Commercial Club will be called by President Wheelton to consider the proposition of establishing a monthly sale fair in this city on the first Monday of each month. This has already been established in Pendleton by Industrial Agent Judson, of the O. R. & N., and has proven a great success, and it should be equally successful in The Dalles, which is backed up by an enormous agricultural district. The sale fair gives those who have any surplus articles or produce of any kind the best opportunity to dispose of the same at the highest figures, and also gives buyers a chance to secure what they need in an easy and convenient manner. The old Saltmarsh stock yards and the Columbia feed yard are spoken of as a suitable market place, and it is to be hoped the members of the commercial club will do their duty in encouraging the sale fair.

Charley, the faithful old horse which for the past twenty-two years has been the property of Dr. Shackelford, of this city, has taken passage for horse heaven, and the saddest thing about his departure is that his end was so untimely, since his master found it necessary to shoot him to prevent him from further suffering. About two months ago he stopped on a rocky hill, and since that time he has navigated on three legs. Everything that could be thought of was done to relieve the injured member, but recovery was doubtful, and a few days ago he injured one of his forelegs so that it was impossible for him to stand up, so as a last resort his old master performed the painful duty of entering the poor beast from further suffering. Charley was close to the thirty mark and only last summer made forty miles in a day, which shows what an animal which is taken proper care of during life can do at that advanced age.
A plate loaded with green figs adorns the show window of the state board of horticulture, says yesterday's Oregonian, and attracts considerable attention. The fruit was raised on the farm of E. M. Bohannon, near The Dalles, and has all the sweetness and flavor of the Southern California article. Mr. Schannig says he raises three crops a year from his fig trees, as some of the fruit is ripening while blossoms are appearing for the later offerings. A number of fig leaves accompany the fruit, to show the kind of garments Adam wore when he was turned out of Paradise to rustle for himself. The leaves are shaped something like those of the white oak of the Pacific coast, but present a much larger surface. Secretary Lamberson says figs have been raised successfully for several years on the farm of J. W. Megson, near Gravelly hill, in Multnomah county, and these specimens from Eastern Oregon prove that each of the great sections of the state is adapted to their cultivation.
PERSONAL MENTION.
T. A. Hudson left last night on a business trip to Pendleton.
Mrs. G. M. Nolan, of Dufur, was in the city today en route to Hood River, where she goes to visit friends for a few weeks.
Mrs. Grace Dexter, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crocker, for the past two months, left for her home in Vallejo this morning.
Miss Ella Donaldson, who is studying in St. Vincent's training school in Portland, and Miss Josephine Bruce, of the Good Samaritan hospital, who have been visiting relatives in this vicinity, left for Portland yesterday on the afternoon train.
Jack Gibson, Chas. Frank, Sr., and Chas. Giberweil returned yesterday from Blalock station, on the O. R. & N., where they have been hunting geese. They report that there are thousands of the big birds in that vicinity and the number of geese brought in by the hunters, as they had about twenty-eight and one rabbit.
