J. E. Fall, proprietor of The Owl, will receive returns from the Jeffries-Rublin prize fight tomorrow evening.

The best show of the season will be on tonight. "Hunting for Hawkins" is a rare comedy and one that will give value received to all who attend it. "Hunting for Hawkins" is conceded to be one of the greatest mirth-provokers on the American stage. Secure your tickets at Clarke & Falk's Postoffice Pharmacy.

A splendid show troupe arrived on the noon train today, and upon inquiry we learned that they were Hunting for Hawkins. They will find him at the Vogt opera house this evening. Word comes from Washington, D. C., that Geo. B. Campbell, civil engineer of The Dalles, has the option of executing the survey of the Quinalt Indian Reservation. The liability of this survey will aggregate over $10000.00.

The first entertainment of the series in the Star lecture course will be by W. L. Gaston on "Yosemite," next Saturday evening. Rev. Gaston is one of the strongest speakers in California and promises to give an intellectual treat in the address on the above date.

Yesterday Dr. H. E. Beers, of Wasco, and Dr. Geisendorfer operated on a lady patient which Dr. Beers sent to The Dalles Hospital, and successfully removed a tumor. The operation was a dangerous and difficult one, but the patient is reported as getting along nicely today.

Three drunk and disorderly characters were sobered up to the city's benefit yesterday by being allowed an opportunity of doing repair work on Fifth street. This is indeed a commendable way of treating such men, and if the marshal continues in this manner there would be better streets and less drunks.

Mrs. M. A. Williamson, mother of State Senator J. N. Williamson, died at her home at University Park, near Portland, at 8:45 last evening, after a lingering illness. The burial will take place at Salem tomorrow.

A report is current this afternoon that a collision occurred between the steamer Regulator of the D. P. & A. N. Line and the little steamer Winona this morning in the Willamette river, and that the Winona was sunk. Particulars could not be learned.

A few days since a son of Holland phoned from a point down the river for one of our local firms for some mill feed. The local dealer, not knowing to whom it was to be sent, asked "Who is it for?" The answer came quick as lightning: "For the horse, you blamed fool! Don't you fellows get gay up there!"

Dr. O. D. Doane returned today from Heppner, where he attended the ceremony of laying the corner-stone of the new temple for Willow Lodge, No. 66, I. O. O. F. When completed it will be a splendid building and a credit to Willow Lodge. It will be built entirely of stone and will cost over $15,000.

An able article was read by Mrs. Shannon at the W. C. T. U. meeting last evening at the Christian church. The subject matter was how to keep our boys interested in the home. This is the keynote of how to keep boys away from saloons. Keep them interested in the home and they would rather stay home than to go away for amusement.

The case of the State vs. Frank Reed is being tried this afternoon. Reed is the man who stabbed William Walker one night last summer, when the two were quarreling over some matter alongside of the scouring mill. It appeared that Reed intended going East and Walker refused to accompany him. This provoked a quarrel and Wallace was stabbed by Reed.

Just listen! That's the pumpkin cooking for the pies the M. E. church ladies will bake for you tomorrow. The program will be worth the price of admission, ten cents and two pairs of old rubbers, or if you cannot find the rubbers, 15 cents. You will be served to sandwiches, pie and coffee by several of our most popular young ladies. Don't fail to come and bring your friends with you.

Melvin McJannet, administrator of the estate of the late Wenceslaus Pashek, states that the personal property of Mr. Pashek was sold at a good figure yesterday. The horse brought as high as $115 per head, while the hogs and cattle went at fancy prices. While the farm machinery did not sell so well it all went at more than the appraised value. The sale was well attended, there being people from all over the country looking for bargains, and it is likely that Dad Butta's ability forgetting for an article all that it is worth blasted the hopes of some of the buyers.

Word was received today that Robert Leist, who formerly worked for H. Herbring in this city, had died in North Yakima yesterday morning. As near as could be learned his death was caused by an attack of typhoid fever. He was about 20 years of age and had the reputation of being an honest and industrious young man. His parents live at Collins Landing and the remains will be brought to this city for burial.

Dr. Geisendorfer was called yesterday to attend John Elton, who was injured by a fall. It appears that he was handling baled hay, when his hold slipped and he fell backwards, striking his back on a wooden plank and severely injuring his spine. When Dr. Geisendorfer arrived he was paralyzed in the lower limbs. Although badly injured the doctor hopes that he may recover in time. In such a case it is difficult to guess what the result of the injuries may be.

The splendid home of W. R. Fowler, of Rufus, burned to the ground at about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. At the time of the fire the men were away from home and Mrs. Fowler and her daughters became so excited that they could do but little or nothing in the way of saving the household goods, so that practically everything was lost. Mr. Fowler has spent years in building up and furnishing this home, and as there is no insurance his loss is extremely heavy.

The local agent of the White Collar Line wishes to make a correction in the locale that appeared in Yesterday's CHRONICLE in regard to the steamers of the White Collar Line running on the middle Columbia. The Tahows, while as swift a boat as the Gatzert, will exchange runs with the Gatzert only until the river raises sufficiently to make all danger of striking the submerged rock below the locks out of question. Powder and other means were brought to the locks on Thursday last for the purpose of blowing the rocks out of this place, but the work has been delayed.

The temperance meeting at the Christian church last evening was quite a success. A good audience was present and gave most respectful attention to the address and papers. The singing was good and spirited. Prof. Landers was in good voice and sang with much feeling "Where Is My Wandering Boy" and also favored the audience with the reply to that touching song, "Down in the Licensed Saloon." The address was clear, logical, practical. The paper by Mrs. Shannon, "How Shall We Save the Boys," was exceptionally good, full of real practical suggestions. The W. C. T. U. is now holding another meeting in a week.

This morning Fred Van Norden was asked to do a bit of summing up a match that would have maintained anyone but a Russian torn pale at the thought. It was a present from some of the citizens of Klickitat county to a favorite minister as an expression of esteem, and in order that our readers may see for themselves what a highly respected and beloved spiritual adviser the gentleman is, we print the inscription, which was "Johan Perale, Lahj, Klickitat Unsrailta. It is not likely that any of our Dalles young ladies will inscribe the above on a birthday gift to their best fellow.

The case of the State of Oregon vs. Jack Bartmeier, for assault with a dangerous weapon was finished in the circuit court yesterday and a verdict of simple assault brought in. The case of State vs. Gus Erickson and George Weber came up yesterday evening and went to the jury this morning. This was the case in which two men entered the Cosmopolitan sample room and stole several overcoats and other clothing. They were captured by the Portland police and brought back to The Dalles. The stolen articles were in evidence and there was no trouble in establishing the guilt of the men.

A Righteous Protest.

THE DALLES, Nov. 14th.

TO THE EDITOR,
I want, as a father, to make a public protest against a practice that I have just learned of that is nothing less than a school for teaching gambling to boys of tender years. The shooting gallery in the Schanno building on Court street has a nickel-in-the-slot machine, and to my knowledge two boys aged 12 and 13 years one of them my own, have been allowed by the proprietor to play the machine from time to time, stealing money from their parents to do so, in hope of winning and thus making good what they had stolen. Boys of their age are forbidden to enter a saloon, and no self-respecting cigar dealer would allow minors of these ages to play. It remained for the proprietor of the shooting gallery, who is certainly old enough to know better, to stoop so low as to commit an offense that should, if justice had her way, land him in jail. How long is this to last? We try to raise our boys as well as we can and here the authorities allow this infernal place to keep open as a school to make them gamblers and indirectly thieves. I prefer, Mr. Editor, not to subscribe my name but you are at liberty to tell who I am to anyone who may ask you.

INDIGNANT.

Attention, Hazzards!

Treat opens at 2 o'clock sharp tonight, as matters of consequence will be considered. All members are requested to be present. By order of G. L. SCHMIDT, Commodore.

Miss Grace Hill has opened dress-making parlors in the Vogt block, rooms 11 and 12, where she is prepared to give perfect satisfaction in the latest styles to dressmaking. n11 1v
