A Play that Pleases Old and Young.

Of all the dramatic productions playing here this season "Maloney's Wedding," which will be the attraction at the Vogt tonight is said to be by far the most entertaining. It is a comedy drama constructed to please the young, as well as the old, and fairly teems with the most novel and humorous ideas of everyday life.

Dan Maloney, the good-natured victim of a matrimonial venture, is a type of character as true as life. He possesses all the native wit and Hibernian mischief known to his race, and bubbles over with refreshing fun. The Widow Clancy, the jolly partner of his humorously complicated courtship, and subsequent bride, furnishes a fund of sparkling wit and joviality that keeps an audience in the best of good nature.

During the performance pretty little surprises pop up in the shape of singing and dancing specialties, and the company, headed by James L. McCabe, comes with the highest of press praise.
