PORTLAND FOR AN OPEN RIVER.

If the citizens of Portland were ever justly chargeable with indifference to the improvement of the Up per Columbia that time has surely passed, let us hope, forever. Any accusation of present indifference, as was recently made at Boise, must have been made in ignorance of all that the Portland business men, through their chamber of commerce, have recently attempted on behalf of an open river. THE CHRONICLE recently received from that body a neat booklet containing an elaborate account of its Past and Future Work, addressed to the "Business Men, Manufacturers and Property Owners of Portland," and containing one of the strongest pleas we have ever read for "the opening of the Upper Columbia and Snake rivers to the farthest point inland to which boats may ascend." This object is mentioned as one of the "foremost among the subjects that must have the constant attention" of the association.

It is declared that "the material welfare of every resident of 245,000 square miles of territory drained by the Columbia demands an open river to the interior in order that the products of the Inland Empire may be hauled from the food-producing fields to tide water at the lowest possible cost of transport," and that to bring about this desired object the business men of Portland must unite in their own behalf and join hands Gifford. with the producers and merchants of the Inland Empiere." As enforcing the importance of this demand, attention is called to the fact that since the opening of the Columbia river to The Dalles railroad rates between this city and Portland have been reduced in some classes 50 per cent, and in one class over 70 per cent, while the river tariffs, as compared, with previous rail tariffs, have been prices. Call and see them. reduced still more.

Accompanying this booklet was a circular letter signed by the president, vice-president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as full line of fresh Velox papers and developers, the same as used by Mr. Lovick houses of Portland. Among other questions relating to Portland, to Oregon, to the lower river and to the mouth of the Columbia, THE CHRON-ICLE is asked: Are you in favor of opening the Upper Columbia and Snake rivers to free navigation so as to give the products of the Inland January. Empire an outlet through the natural gateway at the mouth of the Colum bia?" And following this question is the statement: "The Chamber of Commerce is, and is urging the government, to take prompt action."

In the light of these facts, and of the further fact that Portland's great paper is doing yeoman service along the same lines, let no man henceforth accuse Portland of indifference on the question of an open river.

THE CHRONICLE only adds on its own behalf that it is in full and hearty sympathy with every line and syllable in both the booklet and the circular letter.

The Oregonian laments the reluctance of leading republicans and business men of the country "to inaugurate any radical policy of reformation in our tariff laws so long as times are good, business booming and wages high," and issues the mation. The children's favorite Cough Cure. Clarke & Falk's P. O. Pharmacy. industry shall come, as come it will; when business shall cease to boom, druggiet, writes: "Your One Minute as sease it will, let the worshipers of Cough Cure gives perfect satisfaction. the protection fetich look out! The for coughe, colds, throat and lung like has been seen before. There troubles." Clarke & Falk's P. O. Pharare those who still remember 1892." Av. there's the rub. There are, inceeding years followed as the direct we have fitted eyes where co-called professional opticians have failed. We can save yes from 50 to 100 per cent on save the came old gang of political south. the same old gang of political sooth-sayers who are now warning us that the time has again come when we should "inaugurate a radical policy of reformation in our tariff laws." Nor do they forget that after the cataclysm of 1892 the country never had a moment's prosperity till it had swept the "radical reformers" from power and re established the same tariff policy it had previously destroved. The tariff question cannot be opened at a single point. It might be well if it were otherwise, but it isn't otherwise. A proposed change in one schedule means a corresponding attack on many others, and a tariff contest in congress induces, for the time being, business stagnation. At a period when times are confessedly "good, business booming and wages high" it is not unreasonable to ask our "radical reformers' to give us a rest. Under existing conditions Mark Hanna's philosophy, "let well enough alone," is not answered with a sneer.
