

SERIOUS WRECK NEAR CELILO.

Engineer Maurice Cavanaugh Killed—Frank Chase Badly Injured.

The East-bound Chicago-Portland special, known as passenger train No. 2, was wrecked this afternoon between Celilo and the Deschutes bridge, and as a result of the accident Engineer Maurice Cavanaugh is dead, and his fireman, Frank Chase, is seriously and probably fatally injured. The train left The Dalles at the usual time, about 12:30, so the wreck must have occurred at about 1 o'clock.

From the meagre particulars learned it is supposed that the train was rounding the curve when the engine turned over, probably on account of the spreading of the track, while it is also likely that some rock might have fallen on the track from the overhanging bluff.

Maurice Cavanaugh has been in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co. for a number of years and was considered one of the most careful and reliable men in the company's service. He was about 65 years of age and leaves a wife, two daughters and one son to mourn his loss. His family resides in Albina and it is most likely his remains will be shipped to that place for interment.

Mr. Chase has a large family of young children and it is to be hoped his injuries will not prove fatal.

There is also a report current that some of the passengers were injured but this has not as yet been confirmed.

A Brilliant Success.

One of the greatest musical events in the history of The Dalles was the recital last night by Mamie Helen Flynn, Oregon's brilliant young pianiste and elocutionist, assisted by Rose Bloch-Bauer, the famous soprano, and Reginald L. Hidden, the renowned violinist. The audience was fashionable and select, and evinced marked appreciation. A general welcome greeted the young artist as she made her entrance, and until the fall of the curtain the applause was as spontaneous and hearty as Miss Flynn could wish; and it was not actuated by sentiment either, but was meritoriously won by the brilliant talents of the performer. As a pianiste, Miss Flynn is truly wonderful. Her execution and interpretation astonishes, while at the same time it charms. One might essay in vain to express the marvelous facility with which she makes the instrument vibrate; one can hardly follow her hands in their rapid course. In the program last night she played Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," Liszt's "Rigoletto," Schubert-Tausig's "Marche Militaire" and selections from Chopin and Paderewski, without the aid of notes. The charm and grace with which she rendered "The Butterfly" delighted the audience, and she was recalled again and again. In elocution Miss Flynn also stands high—the course scene from "Leah, the Forsaken," given in costume and with a special stage setting, demonstrating her dramatic ability.

Of Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer, we cannot speak too highly. She has a magnificent voice, cultivated to the highest point of perfection. Her "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," "Violets" and "May Morning" were especially pleasing to the audience, and she was forced to respond to an encore.

Reginald L. Hidden proved himself a master on the violin, and captivated the audience by his exquisite playing. The "Andante from Mendelssohn's 'Concert'" was played with so much taste and expression that no one could help but be pleased. His rendition of the Hungarian Dances took the house by storm.

James J. Flynn, the baritone-tenor, has a voice of magnificent quality, and in his rendition of "Tis Not True" won encomiums.

Irene Flynn surely made a hit. She has a charming voice and extraordinary articulation. She gave "Looks and Eyes" and "Mud Pie Days" in a manner that speaks much for her as a singer of promise.

Miss Beatrice Hidden acquitted herself most creditably as accompanist.

The Dalles has every reason to feel a just pride in the success achieved last night by Mamie Helen Flynn, for her recital from beginning to end was one grand success.

The Antelope Stockmen's Union.

On last Friday the Stockmen's Union met at Antelope, a large number of people being present. The question of leasing range was taken up and discussed and the union decided by a large majority that they were unalterably opposed to the leasing proposition of the public domain. H. C. Rooper was appointed as a committee of one to telegraph the sentiments of the union to Hon. J. N. Williamson, who is now in Chicago as a delegate in attendance upon the National Livestock Association.

The question of herding stock upon the government reserve was next taken up, and the plan as set forth by the secretary of the interior as the use of the reserves were unanimously endorsed.

The union by a vote declared that in its opinion the stock inspector should be from this section, and it was unanimously voted to be the wish of the union that H. W. Cook be appointed to that position and a petition will be presented to the county court of Wasco county setting forth their views together with their endorsement of Mr. Cook.

At the National Livestock Association held at Salt Lake it was decided that there should be a $70,000 fund raised to be used by the association whenever their interests were endangered. The delegates from Oregon pledged $500 from the state and of that amount $50 was designated as the Antelope Stockmen's Union's share, which money is now in the hands of their treasurer ready to be turned over to the proper officers on demand.—Antelope Herald.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE MONEY?

Sheriff Kelly Shows the Purposes to Which the State and County Taxes are Devoted.

During the three years ending July, 1901, I have collected and turned over to Wasco county $336,004.83. I have frequently been asked what becomes of all the money. By way of explanation I will take the taxes collected for the year 1900, amounting to $100,946.47, showing the different channels into which it is distributed.

At a glance it will clearly be seen that $31,568.86, or almost one-third of the whole amount collected goes for educational purposes. The "general fund" is that fund out of which all county expenses are paid. We pay in "state tax" $17,840.03, and our portion of the scap bounty tax is $3,129.85, making a total of $20,969.88 paid to the state. Take this amount from the total of "general fund" and it leaves but $41,861.02 to pay the running expenses of the county, the actual amount of which, according to the county clerk's last report, was $39,634.04 beside the accrued interest in warrants, which must be reckoned before the treasurer can make a call to reduce the indebtedness of the county.
