HUNDRED-DOLLAR MISTAKE.

Unreasonable Resentment That Came Near Costing a Tasty Teller That Amount.

"The average bookkeeper does not like to be told that he has made a mistake in counting out cash," said one of the craft the other day, reports the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "and I have known of instances where quick resentment followed such an act. I recall one instance where the resentment was not only unreasonable, but it might have been unprofitable in a small way under different circumstances. I had occasion to go to the bank after some money, and the paying teller counted me out a wad of money. I kept up with the count pretty well, but, on counting the money again after reaching the office, I found that the teller had made a mistake of $100. I went back to the bank to inform him of the fact and to straighten the matter out. 'Say, old fellow,' I said, 'you made a mistake of $100 in that money you gave me.' 'Too late now,' he replied; 'you ought to have counted your money in the bank. I guess you lost it on the way to the office,' and kept on about his business.

"I walked out of the bank. Just as I was closing my office for the evening I noticed a gentleman hanging around the front door. 'Say, old man,' he said as I walked out to the door, 'I'm $100 shy at the bank.' 'Short in your accounts, eh?' I replied, indifferently.

"He was very much worried over the matter, and I knew exactly how he felt about it. After playing with him for awhile I walked back into the office, got the $100 and gave it to him, and he was the happiest fellow I ever saw for a few seconds."

By Unanimous Vote.
SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 8.—The convention having adjourned yesterday until tomorrow morning, nothing was done today by the convention as such. A number of the committees, however, held meetings. So far as I have been able to survey the field, my present opinion is that resolutions favoring a re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion law will pass the convention by an almost unanimous vote. There are some indications of trouble in getting resolutions through favoring an application of the same law to the Japanese and other Asiatics. How serious the difficulty will be in this latter direction cannot as yet be told. As to myself, I am standing firmly by my position that the law ought to be made to cover Japanese and other equally objectionable Asiatics, as well as Chinese.
