

GOING AFTER THE PEDDLERS.

According to the Pendleton Tribune the county court of Umatilla county is going after peddlers with blood in its eye. The steel range men and buggy travelers have been required to pay the peddlers' license required by law, and taxes on the goods they shipped into the county, wherever possible. These companies as in this county, were traveling the county from north to south and east to west, and selling their goods at big prices on long time without interest. Three carloads of steel ranges were sold at $70 each to farmers and stockmen, and a large number of buggies were disposed of. This was considered an injustice to local dealers throughout the county who pay taxes and contribute to the good of the community. The local dealers spend their earnings at home and assist in the upbuilding of the county's industries. The outsiders come in with goods and smooth-tongued salesmen, and by making easy terms they make heavy sales. They then discount the notes they take, and leave the county without contributing a dollar to its wealth or encouraging its growth and development. Both concerns complained at the tax and license and threatened to fight them in the courts. But they finally paid the assessments and went their way rejoicing. One company employs nine men and eight teams and wagons. Their horses were fed in the open air or in an old barn rented temporarily, and as little money was spent as possible among the people of the county. The last carload of steel ranges that reached Pendleton was found by the assessor before the ranges were distributed. A similar prescription for use in Wasco county would be just the thing that has been needed for a long time.

The Hartford Courant says the railroad combines are driving the country toward government ownership. The Springfield Republican concurs in the same belief. The Oregonian thinks "there is a slow drift to government ownership as an ultimate." The Goldendale Sentinel precipitates matters by urging the immediate condemnation and purchase by the government of a transcontinental line to be run so as to ruin all the rest. Meanwhile there are not a few non-hysterical Americans left who have got it into their ignorant heads that railroad consolidations, from those of the elder Vanderbilt many years ago down to the present time, have enabled their owners to run their roads more cheaply and in the long run have resulted in lower rates to their patrons.

It is said that Senator Wellington's presence in the senate is not recognized by the members of that body. Every one from the pages to the presiding officer ignores him. No man can insult the memory of a nation's hero as he did that of President McKinley and maintain his standing among men of honor and decency. There seems to be no place where Wellington would be tolerated unless it be among anarchists and those depraved and degenerated souls who, like him, rejoiced at the death of the president.

A Pendleton woman who desires to cast off marital lines makes some peculiar allegations against the partner whom she seeks to get rid of. He complained that her grammar is bad, and she also alleges that he made derogatory remarks about her cooking in the presence of company.

After the third trial of the monthly market sought to be established at Pendleton, similar to the one talked of for this place, the Pendleton East Oregonian writes of the one attempted to be held there last Tuesday: "Market day was a failure yesterday. The Commercial Association have been trying to establish a regular monthly market day to aid the farmers in disposing of anything they may have that is not needed or wanted on the farm, and to this end the association started in to have a market day every month. Yesterday was the date for the third one, the two former days having been partial successes. Those who had the thing in charge expressed themselves as being well pleased with the good accomplished. They say that the failure yesterday does not mean that the idea will be abandoned entirely, but owing to the rush preparing for the holiday trade and the extra work that those of arrangements had on hand, the market day was neglected and allowed to pass yesterday with little attention. But it is not the intention of the association to let the matter go by default. They will let the matter rest for a month or two, and then in the spring take it up again, with a better organized system and carry the idea to a complete success."

Attractive Women.
All women sensibly desire to be attractive. Beauty is the stamp of health because it is the outward manifestation of inner purity. A healthy woman is always attractive, bright and happy. When every drop of blood in the veins is pure a beautiful flush is on the cheek. But when the blood is impure, moroseness, bad temper and a sallow complexion tell the tale of sickness all to plainly. And women today know there is no beauty without health. Wine of Cardui cures women with beauty and attractiveness by making strong and healthy those organs which make her a woman. Try Wine of Cardui, and in a month your friends will hardly know you.

If you want to retain your hair you have to keep your scalp clean. Soap will make your hair harsh, dry and crisp. Now we have two of the very best preparations for cleansing the scalp—Egg and Pine Tar Shampoo. It will leave your hair soft and glossy. Price, 25 and 50 cents a bottle, at Fraser's barber shop, The Dalles.

You saw those fine portrait frames at the carnival? They are going very fast; the supply is limited, and your picture in one of them is just the thing for Christmas. Gifford. n19

Health and Beauty.
A poor complexion is usually the result of a torpid liver or irregular action of the bowels. Unless nature's refuse is carried off it will surely cause impure blood. Pimples, boils and other eruptions follow. This is nature's method of throwing off the poisons which the bowels failed to remove. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are world famous for remedying this condition. They stimulate the liver and promote regular and healthy action of the bowels but never cause griping, cramps or distress. Safe pills. Clarke & Falk's P. O. Pharmacy.
