

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

MADAME CURIE'S RADIUM WOULD KILL THIEF

By Henry Wood

(United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS. (By mail.)—Just how Madame Curie is going to bring back to France the gramme of radium that American women will present to her and to the French Faculty of Sciences presents a ticklish little problem.

If Madame Curie, for example, merely put the gramme of radium in her pocket for the return trip, several things might happen. First, she might lose it. Secondly, some international but unscientific pickpocket might be tempted by the fact that it is worth about two million francs. Thirdly and worst of all, if Madame Curie were to bring the gramme of radium home in her pocket, the things that would happen to her would mean a greater loss to the scientific world than if some clever thief stole the gramme.

While Madame Curie probably wouldn't die on the spot, nevertheless the radio-activity of radium is so great and its effect upon the tissues so startling that were Madame Curie to show her appreciation of America's gift by never parting with the precious gramme certain death would ensue.

The burning and destruction of the tissues that come from exposure to radium do not manifest themselves at once. The action of the radium is not on the skin itself, but on the tissues underneath. The sores engendered by exposure to radium begin to show themselves some two weeks afterwards.

However, Madame Curie is entirely too wise to the eccentricities of radium to allow herself to be trapped into any too close familiarity or even to endanger the sub-epidermis of other passengers on the boat who will accompany her and the gramme back from New York.

In fact it has already been decided that the mischievous little gramme of radium will be split up into 12 or 15 smaller and less mischievous parts.

Each one of these parts will be enclosed in a glass bulb and each bulb enclosed in a nice little lead case of about two inches in thickness—lead and platinum being non-conductors of radio-activity.

The 12 or 15 little lead cases will then be stowed away in the ship's safe and if any enterprising thief wants to monkey with the combination in order to get his fingers on that two million francs worth of radium—why Madame Curie says he will just have to take all the risks himself, both legally and scientifically.

And she has a very firm conviction that the scientific radio-activity effects on the thief will render it quite unnecessary for the law to intervene in the case.

ORCHESTRA OF ARTISTS PUTS PICTURE ACROSS

Seldom if ever have theater patrons of The Dalles had the opportunity of listening to a musical score such as accompanies "Way Down East." It is not an exaggeration to say that without the music "Way Down East" would lose immeasurably in its impressive power. In fact many of its scenes would be so greatly impaired as to become commonplace, were it not for the inspiring influence of the orchestra.

Too much praise cannot be given these artists. Each part is played so perfectly and with such feeling that one questions which is the greater—the picture or the music.

It again illustrates the effective understanding of D. W. Griffith of photodrama perfection. May The Dalles again and oftener have the pleasure of listening to real artists, who feel the part they play and sublimely interpret their feeling through music.

—The Best Big Sister— SAVES AGED LADY FROM DEATH; GETS FORTUNE

By United Press TOULON, Ill., April 11—A fairy godmother in the form of a little old lady whom he only saw once has made George Fogelson happy with a gift of $16,000.

Fogelson has been informed recently that Mrs. Marie Lee of Chicago has died and left him a legacy of $16,000.

While in the nearby town of Galva, about three years ago, Fogelson rushed into the middle of a street and carried Mrs. Lee to safety when she became confused at the approach of an automobile. In saving the aged woman from possible death, Fogelson barely escaped injury himself.

Mrs. Lee had stopped in Galva on her way home to Chicago to change trains. She fainted from the excitement of the narrow escape and Fogelson assisted her to her train. Just as the train started, she asked his name but did not get his address.

Administrators of Mrs. Lee's will searched for Fogelson around Galva. He was finally found through an advertisement in a Chicago paper. He had almost forgotten the incident when he learned he was to receive the $16,000 bequest for his bravery.

The three children of Mrs. Lee were to share the estate equally with Fogelson under the terms of the will. They offered him $16,000 for his claim and he has decided to accept it.

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich, red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood. They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form.

It is made up of Blood root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Cherry Bark, without alcohol. Send 10c. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets.

OLYMPIA, WASH.—"My husband always uses Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a stomach medicine and tonic, and declares that it is the best medicine in the world."—Mrs. J. E. FOSTER, Cor. Fear and Spring Streets.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

The beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Intelligent Buying for the Home

The cost-of-living problem has been studied by some able people. One of them said: "What every American home needs most is intelligent buying."

Wise buying saves money. A well-spent dollar always brings more than if carelessly spent.

The one great help to intelligent buying is information. This is best obtained by reading Chronicle advertisements. Reading advertisements gives you knowledge of what is new and good. It keeps you posted as to values. It enables you to plan your expenditures wisely and make your purchases to best advantage.

There are two great reasons for this. Advertised goods are almost invariably dependable. They are good value or it would not pay to advertise them.

Merchants and manufacturers who put these advertisements in The Chronicle are progressive and want to give good values. They know that advertising, by increasing the number of sales, will lower prices and give you more for your money.

Whether your buying is large or small, buy intelligently. Read the advertisements in this newspaper for the necessary information.
